DiSalle Calls For 9 Separate Tax Boosts In Proposed Record $2 Billion Budget

Ike Believes Soviet Lifts Rigid Policy

Says Latest Note On Germany Leads To Optimistic View

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower said today Russia's latest note on Germany indicates a lessening of rigidity of the Soviet position.

The President told a news conference the U.S. government is taking as optimistic a view as possible of the outlook in the light of the Soviet note.

In that note, delivered to the Western Allies earlier this week, Russia reluctantly agreed to a foreign ministers conference on the Berlin problem. But the Kremlin specified its own terms regarding what is to be included in the discussions.

Eisenhower last week expressed pessimism about chances for a foreign ministers conference.

After commenting today that there seems to be a lessening of rigidity in the Soviet position, the President went on to say that the Western Allies will do everything possible to come up with a constructive reply to Moscow's note.

Eisenhower said, as he has before, that this country always is willing to negotiate when there is evidence the other side is ready to bargain in good faith.

As for Soviet propaganda, Eisenhower cautioned Americans against being taken in whenever the Kremlin cries wolf. We must not allow ourselves to get frightened when the Russian leaders make propaganda threats, he added.

Ike Cautions Against General Mobilization

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower said today it would not only be futile but disastrous for the free world to have general mobilization against possible attack.

Ike And Macmillan Plan Mid-March Talks

WASHINGTON (AP) — A mid-March meeting between President Eisenhower and British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan was being arranged today to discuss new negotiations with the Soviet Union on the German situation.

The Soviet government has agreed conditionally to a foreign ministers conference but has stated terms which U.S. officials call unacceptable.

Diplomatic authorities indicated the United States, Britain and France probably would send counter proposals to the Soviet Union, German issues must be wide open as to the problems which can be discussed.

The Soviet note called for a conference which would deal only with the future of West Berlin and the Soviet proposal for a peace treaty to be signed by both East and West Germany.

The Soviet government also proposed including Poland and Czechoslovakia in a conference whereas the Western powers have taken the position that German problems should be discussed and if possible settled primarily by the Soviet Union, the United States, Britain and France.

Officials doubt that the Polish-Czech issue would prove a major obstacle to agreement on holding a meeting, but indicated the question of what should be discussed could prove an important obstacle.

White House press secretary James C. Hagerty announced Tuesday that Eisenhower had

Khrushchev Raps West

Soviet Head Hints Of Separate Pact For Red Germany

LEIPZIG, East Germany (AP)—Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev said today the Soviet Union will sign a separate peace treaty with East Germany if the West fails to come to terms on an all-German settlement.

Khrushchev accused the West of refusing his proposals on Germany without proposing any alternatives "that a normal human intelligence can agree to."

The Western Allies have refused to recognize Premier Otto Grotewohl's Red East German regime, which never has faced a free election, as a legal government. The West insisted they would not deal with it on Berlin controls that the Russians propose to give up this spring.

The Soviet leader insisted in a 20-minute speech that his government wants only peace—and needs peace to carry out its seven-year economic expansion program.

Khrushchev had just arrived for consultation with his East German Communist allies and a visit to Leipzig's trade fair.

Speaking before a big crowd in a rain, he insisted all the Soviet Union wants is peace.

"However much these people rage," he said of Western leaders, "nothing will come of it."

A crowd which the East German Communist radio estimated at "tens of thousand" heard the brief speech without marked enthusiasm. They did cheer and applaud, though, when he spoke of peace.

"In the name of the Soviet Union," he said, "I declare that those people could be reasonable who are responsible for signing a peace treaty. The United States, England, France and all nations want peace. Now the governments should listen to the voice of their people, and the peoples say we want peace, peace, peace."

Khrushchev declared that "only lunatics can seek solutions by war."

He made that statement at an airport near East Berlin after arriving from Moscow, where he and Britain's Prime Minister Har-

Red Premier Seen Earnest On Germany

West Thinks He Has Reached Point Of No Return On Policy

MOSCOW (AP)—Western diplomats in Moscow consider that Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev has reached a point of no return in his German policy.

British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan, these diplomats say, learned on his visit that the Soviet premier is in deadly earnest about carrying out his proclaimed policy to write a separate peace treaty with East Germany and give the East German Communists control of the Allied supply lines to West Berlin.

But Macmillan made it equally clear to Khrushchev that the Western Allies will not budge an inch without "provision for proper alternatives," a British source said.

Some diplomats believe the Western Allies face one of the toughest periods of postwar diplomacy in the weeks ahead.

"The immediate task is to avoid a major international crisis in which errors on either side could stumble the world into war," said one Western ambassador.

Another Western envoy said he had advised his government several times that there is a very serious danger of war in the political conflict over Germany's future.

One ambassador felt the Soviet agreement to attend a foreign ministers conference lasting two or three months offered a "bare chance" of postponing the May 27 deadline set by the Soviets for turning over to the East Germans

Hunt Centers In Canton For Flying Robber

Sky-Hopping Thief Could Be Anywhere Though, FBI Admits

CANTON, Ohio (AP)—Since this is the last place Frank Sprenz is known to have been, the search for the elusive, sky-hopping bank robber still concentrated here today.

But the FBI, which has been pursuing Sprenz across the country for months, admits a man like him "could be anywhere."

A man believed to be Sprenz walked out of a Canton bar Monday and stepped into a small car that stopped there for him. That, authorities say, is the last solid report they have on the 29-year-old Sprenz.

Sprenz abandoned another car here which he had bought for cash—apparently using some of the $25,955 he took in a bank robbery at Hamilton, Ohio, Monday.

William A. Murphy, agent in charge of the Cleveland FBI office, said Sprenz has been reported in various places.

Authorities check out all reports, but none so far has yielded positive results.

Police at Akron, where Sprenz' wife and two children live, rushed to an apartment in South Akron Tuesday night to check out one report, but they found no trace of the man.

The FBI is keeping Mrs. Sprenz' residence under surveillance. Mrs. Sprenz, who has sued for divorce since her husband escaped from Summit County jail at Akron April 16, is in hiding with her children, ages 3 and 4. Only police and the FBI knew her whereabouts.

'Time Capsule' Stunt With Dynamite Backfires For 3

LISBON — Three men from Western Columbiana County and Stark County were fined $25 and costs each by County Judge James MacDonald Tuesday for illegal possession of dynamite stemming from a bizarre incident of burying a "time capsule."

Ralph L. Shirley, 20, of Minerva R. D. 1, Palmer R. Cook, 19, of Minerva and Paul Kinney, 18, of New Franklin pleaded guilty to the dynamite possession charge.

Sheriff Russell VanFossan said Shirley and Cook have been turned over to Minerva authorities in connection with an admission of breaking into the Minerva High School and a grade school.

The three accompanied by a Canton girl buried a metal ammunition box early Sunday morning near the Moultrie Chapel close to Route 172 in the western part of the county.

They said they buried the box and various items in it representing current aspects of life with the idea of excavating the box in 20 years to "see how things have changed."

In the box authorities found a

Pioneer Due To Whiz Past Moon Today

Scheduled To Pass At 5:24, And Then Orbit Around Sun

WASHINGTON (AP) — Pioneer IV streaked close to the level of the moon today in America's most successful probe into the mysteries of the farther reaches of space.

The tracking station at Goldstone Dry Lake in the Mojave Desert re-established radio contact at 7:33 a.m. EST and reported the gold-plated cone 192,000 miles out, with its speed down to 4,775 miles an hour.

An hour and a half later, at 9 a.m., new contacts showed a distance of 198,323 miles and a speed of 4,742 miles an hour.

The probe was still on its near-miss course past the moon toward a predicted orbit around the sun where Soviet Union claims it already has a satellite.

Revised calculations indicated the space traveler would make its closest approach to the moon at 5:24 p.m., or about 37,000 miles away. Scientists gave themselves a plus-or-minus allowance of 2,000 miles on the distance computation.

At that time the Pioneer should be 239,000 miles from earth. That is more than the distance to the moon itself because of the slight error in flight angle which will carry the Pioneer farther to one side of the moon than the scientists at the National Aeronautics and Space Administration had hoped. They had aimed at something inside of 10,000 miles.

The Goldstone station, which had been out of touch with the Pioneer for more than 15 hours at the time of the 7:33 contact, expected to lose touch again around 4 p.m. as the trajectory and the earth's rotation carried the probe below the horizon.

Tuesday's final tracking report fixed the tiny space probe's position at 118,852 miles. This was more than half the 220,000-mile distance to the moon and by far America's deepest penetration into space.

In its dizzying ascent into the unknown, Pioneer IV gradually slowed down. But this is customary. Approximately 17 hours after it was blasted aloft from Cape Canaveral, Fla., shortly after midnight Monday, Pioneer IV had dropped from a launching speed of 24,890 miles an hour to 5,498 miles an hour.

Scientists had reckoned earlier that the 13-pound cone would pass the moon at 2 p.m. today, coming within 35,000 miles of it.

But the National Aeronautics and Space Administration attributed the revisions to updating of preliminary calculations, not to any malfunction in the probe itself.

The key link in the tracking process is a huge radio telescope on Southern California's Mojave Desert at Goldstone Dry Lake.

There still was no estimate from NASA on just what type of orbit it expects Pioneer IV to assume around the sun, which is nearly 93 million miles from earth.

Alternate Path Proposed For City Freeway

Lawrence Mentions Route On 3rd St. In Columbus Meeting

The fact that a 3rd St. route is being considered for a city freeway—rather than a path through the 2nd St. area as proposed in a 1955 survey—was revealed publicly for the first time Tuesday afternoon when city officials conferred at Columbus with the State Bridge Commission and the State Highway Department.

Emphasizing that the proposal to construct the four-lane road through the 3rd St. area still is in the stages of early discussion, Mayor Fred P. Lawrence said today the principal reason for the suggestion is that it would free the district south to the Ohio River for future industrial or commercial development.

In the meeting with the state officials, he was accompanied by Solicitor Joseph W. Cooper and Engineer George S. Bloomgren.

The discussion centered on the freeway construction — scheduled to begin in mid-1960 — and also on a suggestion to finance construction of the freeway's approach to the Chester Bridge by temporary restoration of tolls on the span.

As plans stand at present, the first stage of the freeway would stretch from the city limits in California Hollow to W. 3rd and Monroe Sts. However, if tolls are restored to finance a bridge approach, the first stage of the freeway would be extended from W. 3rd and Monroe to the East Liverpool end of the span.

The mayor said "a number of

Marshall Still Serious

Beltline Firm Drops Plan To Renew Project

The Akron, Canton & Youngstown Railroad Co. has decided against reviving efforts to launch the proposed "beltline" between East Liverpool and Cleveland.

An official of the railroad at Akron said sponsors of the oft-discussed "rubber railroad" to link the Ohio River and Lake Erie will not attempt to introduce legislation in the current session of the Ohio Legislature.

There was no explanation of why the plans to seek the right of eminent domain were shelved at this time.

The deadline for submitting legislation is Thursday and the concern was reported reliably late last week as prepared to make the third bid on behalf of the project.

Right of eminent domain would be necessary to condemn land for right-of-way in case a property owner refused to sell. A jury would set the value of a disputed tract under this right.

The multi-million dollar project has been discussed for nearly a decade and two attempts were made in the legislature, the last four years ago, but lobbyists for Ohio railroads and the railroad unions were able to defeat them.

Tank Trailer Ditches When Coupler Snaps

Sideswipe Collision Blamed On Slippery Highway Conditions

An oil - laden tanker trailer plunged into a ditch on Route 7 at Williamsport Tuesday night after the trailer pin broke, according to the State Highway Patrol at Lisbon, which reported four other mishaps yesterday and early today.

The Matlack Corp. tanker rig, driven north by David Evans, 37, of McDonald, was rounding a curve at Horseshoe Gardens about 6:05 p. m. when the "fifth wheel" pin broke and the semi-trailer pitched into a ditch on the right side. The driver was unhurt, officers said.

Some of the oil had to be pumped out before the trailer could be removed.

A slippery pavement was blamed for a sideswipe collision on Route 46 a half mile west of New Waterford at 1:30 a. m. today involving cars driven by Robert Firestone, 34, and Paul Crowl, both of Columbiana.

Details Of Pottery Change Announced At Wellsville

The Wellsville China Co. will retain its present name, with its own manufacturing operations and sales force, under the transaction which has resulted in the Sterling China Co. assuming controlling interest in the firm.

Pomeroy pointed out the ac on will "provide technical and financial assistance so Wellsville China can continue to operate, broadening its lines and markets."

He said new officers and directors will be announced at a later date when the few remaining details of the stock transaction are completed. Present officers of Wellsville China are expected to remain with the firm.

Wellsville China employs some 150 to 170 and Sterling between 600 and 650.

Sterling also has the controlling stock in the Caribe China Co. in Puerto Rico. The South American

Would Cost Each Ohioan Total Of $37

Sobering Message Of Financial Needs Given To Legislature

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ohio's state government has come to the bitter end of an 11-year spree of spending more each year than it took in. The upshot: Another one-third of a billion dollars is needed in the next two years, $37 for every Ohio resident.

That was the sobering message delivered Tuesday night by Democratic Gov. Michael V. DiSalle to a standing-room-only crowd in a joint session of the Legislature.

Ohio has gone from a 213-million-dollar surplus in postwar 1947 to a financial crisis in which the state government is flat broke, the governor asserted.

He called for nine separate tax increases plus a 35-cents-a-fifth markup in liquor prices in laying down a budget which, including highways, calls for a record total of $2,076,212,000.

Then the new governor did the unheard-of thing of throwing himself and his Cabinet open to questions from legislators. It took DiSalle 1½ hours to deliver his 10,000-word, 54-page message.

The question-and-answer period, dampened somewhat by the failure of Republicans to participate, lasted only 19 minutes.

The governor asserted his budget, swollen by 106 million dollars in "built in" increases and escalator clauses in present law, is 203 million dollars higher than that of his predecessor, former Republican Gov. C. William O'Neill.

DiSalle suggested a way for the state to get an additional 110 million dollars in the next two years, but he avoided a firm recommendation. The method would be to remove sales tax exemptions on materials used directly in manufacturing and in agriculture. Removal of the exemptions, he said, would provide a stable tax climate for the state for the foreseeable future.

He asked a 2-cent increase a pack on cigarettes to raise the state levy to five cents. He proposed the tax on lower-power beer be made the same as on high-power. He also asked a six-million-dollar increase in the state tax on pari - mutuel wagering at race-tracks. He also proposed to double the corporation franchise tax to produce 26 millions more.

In the sales tax field, DiSalle proposed that the penny tax on purchases below 41 cents—dropped in 1947—be reimposed starting at 16 cents; that the sales tax exemption on alcoholic beverages and cigarettes be lifted and that some

The key link in the tracking process is a huge radio telescope on Southern California's Mojave Desert at Goldstone Dry Lake.

There still was no estimate from NASA on just what type of orbit it expects Pioneer IV to assume around the sun, which is nearly 93 million miles from earth.

Alternate Path Proposed For City Freeway

Lawrence Mentions Route On 3rd St. In Columbus Meeting

The fact that a 3rd St. route is being considered for a city freeway—rather than a path through the 2nd St. area as proposed in a 1955 survey—was revealed publicly for the first time Tuesday afternoon when city officials conferred at Columbus with the State Bridge Commission and the State Highway Department.

Emphasizing that the proposal to construct the four-lane road through the 3rd St. area still is in the stages of early discussion, Mayor Fred P. Lawrence said today the principal reason for the suggestion is that it would free the district south to the Ohio River for future industrial or commercial development.

In the meeting with the state officials, he was accompanied by Solicitor Joseph W. Cooper and Engineer George S. Bloomgren.

The discussion centered on the freeway construction — scheduled to begin in mid-1960 — and also on a suggestion to finance construction of the freeway's approach to the Chester Bridge by temporary restoration of tolls on the span.

As plans stand at present, the first stage of the freeway would stretch from the city limits in California Hollow to W. 3rd and Monroe Sts. However, if tolls are restored to finance a bridge approach, the first stage of the freeway would be extended from W. 3rd and Monroe to the East Liverpool end of the span.

The mayor said "a number of

Beltline Firm Drops Plan To Renew Project

The Akron, Canton & Youngstown Railroad Co. has decided against reviving efforts to launch the proposed "beltline" between East Liverpool and Cleveland.

An official of the railroad at Akron said sponsors of the oft-discussed "rubber railroad" to link the Ohio River and Lake Erie will not attempt to introduce legislation in the current session of the Ohio Legislature.

There was no explanation of why the plans to seek the right of eminent domain were shelved at this time.

The deadline for submitting legislation is Thursday and the concern was reported reliably late last week as prepared to make the third bid on behalf of the project.

Right of eminent domain would be necessary to condemn land for right-of-way in case a property owner refused to sell. A jury would set the value of a disputed tract under this right.

The multi-million dollar project has been discussed for nearly a decade and two attempts were made in the legislature, the last four years ago, but lobbyists for Ohio railroads and the railroad unions were able to defeat them.

Tank Trailer Ditches When Coupler Snaps

Sideswipe Collision Blamed On Slippery Highway Conditions

An oil - laden tanker trailer plunged into a ditch on Route 7 at Williamsport Tuesday night after the trailer pin broke, according to the State Highway Patrol at Lisbon, which reported four other mishaps yesterday and early today.

The Matlack Corp. tanker rig, driven north by David Evans, 37, of McDonald, was rounding a curve at Horseshoe Gardens about 6:05 p. m. when the "fifth wheel" pin broke and the semi-trailer pitched into a ditch on the right side. The driver was unhurt, officers said.

Some of the oil had to be pumped out before the trailer could be removed.

A slippery pavement was blamed for a sideswipe collision on Route 46 a half mile west of New Waterford at 1:30 a. m. today involving cars driven by Robert Firestone, 34, and Paul Crowl, both of Columbiana.

Firm To Retain Present Name

Details Of Pottery Change Announced At Wellsville

The Wellsville China Co. will retain its present name, with its own manufacturing operations and sales force, under the transaction which has resulted in the Sterling China Co. assuming controlling interest in the firm.

William Pomeroy, Sterling president, emphasized this today in announcing completion of virtually all phases of negotiations which saw the ownership of the pottery change hands. The amount of money involved was not disclosed.

Pomeroy pointed out the action will "provide technical and financial assistance so Wellsville China can continue to operate, broadening its lines and markets."

He said new officers and directors will be announced at a later date when the few remaining details of the stock transaction are completed. Present officers of Wellsville China are expected to remain with the firm.

Wellsville China employs some 150 to 170 and Sterling between 600 and 650.

Sterling also has the controlling stock in the Caribe China Co. in Puerto Rico. The South American

Would Cost Each Ohioan Total Of $37

Sobering Message Of Financial Needs Given To Legislature

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ohio's state government has come to the bitter end of an 11-year spree of spending more each year than it took in. The upshot: Another one-third of a billion dollars is needed in the next two years, $37 for every Ohio resident.

That was the sobering message delivered Tuesday night by Democratic Gov. Michael V. DiSalle to a standing-room-only crowd in a joint session of the Legislature.

Ohio has gone from a 213-million-dollar surplus in postwar 1947 to a financial crisis in which the state government is flat broke, the governor asserted.

He called for nine separate tax increases plus a 35-cents-a-fifth markup in liquor prices in laying down a budget which, including highways, calls for a record total of $2,076,212,000.

Then the new governor did the unheard-of thing of throwing himself and his Cabinet open to questions from legislators. It took DiSalle 1½ hours to deliver his 10,000-word, 54-page message.

The question-and-answer period, dampened somewhat by the failure of Republicans to participate, lasted only 19 minutes.

The governor asserted his budget, swollen by 106 million dollars in "built in" increases and escalator clauses in present law, is 203 million dollars higher than that of his predecessor, former Republican Gov. C. William O'Neill.

DiSalle suggested a way for the state to get an additional 110 million dollars in the next two years, but he avoided a firm recommendation. The method would be to remove sales tax exemptions on materials used directly in manufacturing and in agriculture. Removal of the exemptions, he said, would provide a stable tax climate for the state for the foreseeable future.

He asked a 2-cent increase a pack on cigarettes to raise the state levy to five cents. He proposed the tax on lower-power beer be made the same as on high-power. He also asked a six-million-dollar increase in the state tax on pari - mutuel wagering at racetracks. He also proposed to double the corporation franchise tax to produce 26 millions more.

In the sales tax field, DiSalle proposed that the penny tax on purchases below 41 cents—dropped in 1947—be reimposed starting at 16 cents; that the sales tax exemption on alcoholic beverages and cigarettes be lifted and that some firm produces a hotel line and casual china for home use.

Sterling's newly - acquired plant is located at 9th and Commerce Sts., a few blocks away from Sterling's plant between 12th and 11th Sts. on Commerce.

Sterling was started in 1917 and has been producing a hotel line of ware since. A line of fine china was added two years ago. Sterling has just completed a building program which was launched in August, providing 22,000 additional square feet of plant space and 3,500 additional square feet of office space. The move into the new office was made Saturday.

The new addition will be used to stock ware as a part of the "Sterling Vogue Collection" program adopted by the firm in August. The program enables Sterling to promise immediate shipment from stock from a wide choice of some 19 patterns embodying a wide choice of body colors, shapes and decoration, Pomeroy said.

The move was made in a bid for increased sales through faster filing of orders, he explained.

Sterling is one of the largest vitrified china plants in Ohio and second in size in the United States.

Wellsville China was the former Pioneer Pottery but was renamed in 1900. Moninger and his brother, Richard E. Moninger, vice president, and W. E. Pickin gained controlling interest Dec. 27, 1950. They took over from George Thompson and the Monroe-Patterson estate. Pickin now is with the Homer Laughlin China Co.

Enough saw timber to build 35 million new houses now stands in the commercial forests of California.

Man Injured In Fall; Another Cut On Saw

A city man hurt in a fall at home early today and a Chester area man injured on a power saw at home Tuesday were treated at City Hospital.

William Risden, 33, of 308 E. Church Ln. suffered a laceration of the base of the thunb in a fall against a storm door about 2 a. m. when he went to the cellar to determine why the furnace was not operating.

Some Words Worth Repeating

Frank Hull, former president of the International Brotherhood of Operative Potters, made a lot of sense when he appeared before Council to suggest a return to the city income tax as "the most logical, consistent and economical way to get the money" necessary for a proper administering of the city's needs.

In view of his long labor background, Mr. Hull's expression of opinion was a courageous one and one that only could have been motivated by a deep and sincere concern for the welfare of the community as a whole.

His remarks were covered thoroughly in Tuesday's Review, but because of their pertinence it seems fitting to repeat some of them at this time. They included:

"If Council is contemplating repetition of tax legislation, I think the measure we had before will give the city the greatest return for the dollars..."

"I'm a registered Democrat, but a nonpartisan voter— the kind the politician doesn't have in his pocket. I have supported the present administration. I was convinced prior to the election that the city needed an intelligent, conscientious and progressive administration. I don't think many people in the community will disagree with that...

"I don't think they'll disagree the city was in a bad way, not just financially. For 40 years, the situation was like a snowball rolling downhill. It grows bigger as it goes and finally bursts open at the bottom..."

"As far as I am concerned, I voted for the administration because I knew it would do an intelligent job. I don't know of anyone in East Liverpool who could have qualified better than the former director..."

"...I'm concerned primarily with an intelligent tax that will benefit the city most.

"If Council in its honest effort will carry out its obligation to the community to finance the functions of city government, I believe this should do it..."

Expressions of a similar nature have been made from time to time by others, but coming from Mr. Hull they take on an added significance.

One 'Passing Through' Has A Complaint

Every now and then a motorist "passing through" registers a complaint over what he or she considered an unfair arrest in a traffic case.

The latest to come to our attention was in a letter from Warren T. Spies of Glencoe, Ill., a retired lawyer.

According to Mr. Spies, the incident occurred at night on Route 7, near East Liverpool, and involved the failure of the Spies car to draw over on a virtually "impassable road" to permit what he thought was a Highway Patrol car to get by. The letter says:

"We were taken to East Liverpool, where Mrs. Spies posted bond of $11 for appearance next day and receipt No. 4418 was issued. Of course, we could not afford to await trial nor to return for it."

Now the paragraph that casts a reflection on the arresting officer: "I think it obvious that the arrest was a scheme to levy tribute from wayfarers. It was not, in my belief, made objectively nor with the slightest justification.

"...I do not know whether the town of East Liverpool encourages such activities for revenue purposes or not; I do not accuse it. However, I shall send a copy of this letter to the mayor so he will know what is occurring in his area. I shall also notify interested motor clubs. They may have reports of similar transactions and, if so, may advise their patrons to avoid East Liverpool . . . "

That's the substance of the complaint. Whether the charges are justified or not is not for us to decide. But there is some food for thought in the incident.

There's no question about the integrity of the Highway Patrol. Those who wear its uniform do a conscientious job day in and day out. And there's no question about the need for proper enforcement of traffic laws— be they in East Liverpool or anywhere else.

But there are occasions when common sense should take precedent over too hasty action if the violation in question appears to be a borderline case. If it accomplishes nothing else, the Spies letter should remind all law enforcement agencies of their obligation in this respect.

Now We Have The Phantom Satellite

The associate director of Smithsonian Astrophysical Observatory at Cambridge, Mass., has suggested the possibility Discoverer I might not have been lost track of if his agency had been told in advance it was going to be launched from Vandenberg Air Force base.

He further has suggested that this frustrating kind of secrecy may be the result of rivalry between military services. It remains to be seen what reception will be given to his criticism. In the meantime, the United States is in a position to claim credit for the first phantom satellite.

It will take its place in folklore with phantom ships, lost regiments, wayward buses, railroad trains that were misplaced and the weird assortment of ghosts that inhabit the bureaus of missing persons in all cities. It will be the first of its kind but assuredly not the last.

Never has man had so much room to lose things in before.

Outer space is close to infinity, itself, which may be presumed to lie just beyond the outer space that now encompasses inner space. That first layer of space is where Discoverer I may go on and on, to no avail and to no end. It is up there somewhere, and that is all that can be said about it until at some future date reports of its unconfirmed exisence will dribble into earthly circulation.

The Loch Ness monster, the Abominable Snow Man and the mysterious animals with feet like prehistoric monsters that customarily turn up on dull days will have their work cut out for them fron now on. And so will the Flying Saucers, come to think of it. Discoverer I will beat them all in the great indoor sport of fathoming the unfathomable.

Wait'll Next Year!

There must be quite a letdown in Midland today as the result of the Lincoln High School basketball team's defeat in WPIAL tournament play at the Pitt Fieldhouse.

And if the fans are down in the dumps, think how Coach George Hamilton and his players must feel.

But there's a much brighter side to the picture that should not be forgotten just because the ball didn't bounce right Tuesday night. The Leopards advanced as far in tournament play as any other team in Midland history and had a brilliant regular season record which brought credit both to themselves and their community.

And with most of the boys returning next season, there's every reason in the world for Midland fans to be muttering: "Wait'll next year!"

The Once Over

By H. I. Phillips

London proposes TV sets in public parks. We polled fans about an extension of the idea to American parks and found them cold.

"Would you get a belt out of television in our squares and parks?" we asked one man.

"Only if they put sofas in the parks and let me show up in pajamas," he replied. "I like home comforts, including cooking odors from the kitchenette."

"You would get sunlight and fresh air," I said.

"Who wants sunlight and fresh air watching TV?" he demanded. "I have been following them cowboys in bad air and dim lights for years. Cowboys and western marshals don't seem the same outdoors."

"How do you feel about TV in the parks?" we asked another addict.

"Not me. Them parks is full of criminals, and adding them to all the crooks in TV dramas would give me a double feature crime program. I don't want to get beat up while watching a screenful of guys getting slugged. And how safe would I be in Central Park watching the late, late show?"

A HOUSEWIFE expressed this opinion: "Is it fair to the birds and squirrels to have video shows in parks? They are happy and protected. Why kill them off with bum gags, novice baritones, studio-panel guests and the hysterical screeches of women who have just won a gas range on a quiz show?"

In London there is also a protest against commercials as "nasty imports from America."

"I saw a western," says a House of Commons member, "in which a ferocious attack by Indians was followed by a commercial for a scalp lotion."

The British protest can be justified. It is nothing unusual here to have a hatchet murder interrupted by an ad for precision blades or Romeo's and Juliet's balcony scene halted for "Yes, many a romantic interlude can be ruined by bad breath," etc.

Recently we were watching a whodunit and at the point where the hero was flat, battered and bleeding on the ground the voice came in, "Do you feel low, weak and out of sorts?"

One Way To Meet Competition

U.S. Reds Active, Hoover Says

By Victor Riesel

For several years now, the American Communist party has been reorganizing undercover. It would be dangerous to write off a movement on which the Soviet Union in the past has spent millions of dollars — and through which it has launched successful espionage, sabotage and corroding propaganda rings.

Victor Riesel

There is one man who would know if the re-grouped Communist apparatus is the plaything of a few esoteric thrill seekers — or an effective Soviet weapon. That man is J. Edgar Hoover, director of the FBI. I put four questions to the director.

Q. Were there any Americans attending the Communist party congress which recently met in Moscow?

Mr. Hoover: In recent months many leading Communists have been able to travel to the Soviet Union because of the easing of restrictions in the issuance of American passports.

Among these are James Jackson, a member of the National Executive Committee, Communist party, U.S.A.; Alexander Trachenberg, head of International Publishers, Communist publishing house; George Morris, labor editor of the "The Worker," East Coast Communist newspaper; Morris Childs, long-time Communist party leader from the Midwestern area; Paul Novick, editor of the "Morning Freiheit," Yiddish language Communist newspaper and Charles Loman, Brooklyn Communist party leader.

Their attendance at this congress in an official capacity is indicative of the close affiliation which presently exists between Moscow and the Communist party, U.S.A. Moreover, their presence in Russia, along with the other Communists mentioned above, is a harbinger of things to come — namely, an increasing number of American Communists who will be visiting Russia and other Communist countries.

Party leaders will now have direct personal access to Russian leaders, including Khrushchev. They will be able to report about problems facing the party in the United States, and receive direct instructions as to the proper courses of action.

Not since the days of the Comintern, when American Communists streamed freely to Moscow, is the outlook so favorable for the direct guidance of the American party by the Kremlin. This, of course, represents a great danger to the security of our country.

Q. Is there still an American Communist party?

Mr. Hoover: Most emphatically the answer is "yes." The Communist party, U.S.A., is very active working unceasingly toward the establishment of a Soviet America. Last September, it celebrated its 39th anniversary with a rally attended by 1200 individuals at Carnegie Hall, New York City.

Although recently plagued by internal dissension, the party is now firmly consolidated behind the pro-Soviet leadership of Eugene Dennis, general secretary, and Robert Thompson, executive secretary, supported by William Z. Foster, chairman emeritus, who is currently incapacitated by illness.

The party's national committee, at its most recent meeting held in December, adopted bold plans for strengthening and reorganizing the party and has implemented these plans by actively participating in political affairs, intensifying its work among the nation's youth and giving increased attention to infiltrating labor unions and strategic industries and to agitation among Negro groups.

Mr. Hoover: Very much so. The Kremlin has consistently supported those leaders inside the Communist party, U.S.A., comprising the leftist or pro-Soviet elements. It is highly interested, as in the early days of American Communism, in eliminating factionalism and maintaining a unified party.

In Moscow's eyes, a quarreling party is an ineffective party. The Kremlin insists that the party stay unified with leadership under the strict control of Communists who are obediently loyal to the Moscow line.

The number of articles in the Soviet press about the American Communist party is proof of the Kremlin's extreme interest in assuring that the party in the United States follows the correct line. For example, in September 1956, "Pravda" praised Foster as a "noted theoretician and Marxist historian" and indicated continued Soviet support for him.

In the most recent issue of "World Marxist Review" (international Communist magazine published in Prague), William Z. Foster was among the Communist leaders throughout the world giving unqualified support to Khrushchev's seven-year plan for the Soviet Union.

The very fact that he was allowed to so write is proof of the high esteem in which Foster is held within the international Communist movement.

These and other such articles are indicative of the support and direction which the Soviet Union has given to the pro-Soviet leadership of the Communist party, U.S.A.

Such guidance from Moscow has enabled this group to become the dominant leaders of American Communism. Under the current leadership, the Communist party, U.S.A., will continue to be a mere puppet to be manipulated at will by Moscow.

Q. Does the Communist party, U.S.A., presently belong to any type of Communist international?

Mr. Hoover: The Communist party, U.S.A., does not presently belong to any overt Communist international organization — that is, in the sense of formal membership, since such membership would be in violation of federal statutes. However, that does not mean that the Communist party, U.S.A., is not an essential part of the international Communist conspiracy.

As is well known, all Communist parties are based on the teachings of Marxism-Leninism. To the Communists, these teachings represent scientific principles by which Communism will ultimately be victorious throughout the world.

The Communist party, U.S.A., subscribes to Marxism-Leninism and bases its activities on these teachings. This means that the American Communist party operates on the same principles as do other Communist parties. It has the same objectives — namely, the overthrow of free government.

Moreover, in the Communist concept of proletarian internationalism, all Communist parties are bound together in unity to Communist objectives with the Communist party, Soviet Union, as the controlling body.

The American Communist party is merely an extension of the international Communist conspiracy. Its loyalty is to Khrushchev or whoever controls the Soviet party.

Pre-Emptive War

By David Lawrence

U. S. May Not Wait To Be Attacked

America may not sit by waiting for Chicago or Detroit or New York City to be destroyed by missiles — that is, accepting the "first blow" — before letting loose our power of massive retaliation. America instead might conceivably strike first in what has become known as "pre - emptive" rather than "preventive" war.

David Lawrence

This is the inference that can be drawn from the testimony just given by the secretary of defense, Neil McElroy, before the House Space Committee. Mr. McElroy emphasized that the present policy is not to strike the "first blow" but "whether that always will be true is another matter." Rep. McCormack (D-Mass), leader of the House, promptly commented that he was encouraged to hear America might change its strictly defensive policy under certain circumstances.

This episode is the climax of a long discussion that has been going on in military circles in both countries, beginning in February 1955, when Nikita Khrushchev became the No. 2 Man in the Soviet Union and enunciated what has since become known as the "Khrushchev doctrine." It is a policy of striking the "first blow" so as to prevent what is called "surprise aggression."

THIS WAS THE TERM used in an article in the Red Army "Star" in March 1955 written by Soviet marshal of the armed forces, P. Rotmistrov, when he declared: "We must not allow ourselves to be taken by surprise."

After reporting in June 1955 the opinions expressed by military men in the Soviet Union, "U.S. News & World Report" also published on Dec. 13, 1957, an article on "Surprise Attack" by Capt. W. D. Puleston, retired U.S. naval officer and the author of many books on the strategy of war.

This article produced a lot of comment in Soviet military publications and was denounced on the Moscow radio, but, so far as is known, it was the first public recognition in American military circles that a "surprise attack" could be fatal and that it must be avoided even if, under certain circumstances, it could mean inflicting the "first blow" ourselves. This undoubtedly is the situation that Secretary McElroy had in mind in his testimony on Monday. Here is what Capt. Puleston suggested:

"Our government also should make it equally clear to the Soviets that we will not stand idly by and wait to be attacked — that we will not permit any nation to prepare and mount a surprise attack upon this country or any of its allies.

"If Russia — or any other nation—should give positive evidence that it is preparing such an attack, the United States should immediately:

"1. Alert its armed forces and deploy them for instant attack upon the threatening nation.

"2. Serve immediate notice upon the threatening nation that, unless it dismounts the attack preparations within a specified brief period of time, the United States will attack in self-defense, without waiting to be hit first.

"Then, if the Russians or their satellites should defy this warning, the U. S. would be in a position to get at least an even break. If the enemy should attack, we could attack simultaneously. If the enemy should persist in its preparations to attack, we could — with honor — attack first, and thus gain the initial advantage instead of conceding it."

A FEW MONTHS before the Soviets launched an intercontinental ballistic missile in the summer of 1957, Maj. Gen. G. I. Pokrovsky, in a revealing book entitled, "Science and Technology in Contemporary Wars," wrote as follows:

"A massive blow with long-range missiles can be especially powerful when administered by an aggressor in a surprise fashion, by way of an attack against some peaceful country. This is so because launching sites, and the missiles on those launching sites, can be secretly prepared in peacetime without the possibility of their discovery and destruction by the side which is defending itself. All this means that long - range missiles, being one of the newest means of combat, substantially increase the role of surprise in contemporary war."

The effect of the discussion in 1957 and 1958 was salutary — conferences between the East and the West were actually convened in recent months at Geneva to deal with the subject of "surprise attack."

These conferences have been interrupted due to a deadlock in the points of view but the latest emphasis which Secretary McElroy has given to the subject may cause the sessions to be resumed.

For it is now becoming clear that the United States does not intend to sit by and take the "first blow" but will strike whenever it becomes apparent that an enemy is actually preparing to strike at us. This means that a foolproof system of international inspection has become imperative. It means also that the Soviet Union is on notice that it will not be permitted to go so far as to strike the "first blow" without risking a "pre-emptive" blow from the United States.

Much Said, Little Done

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON

Take everything British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan said and everything Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev said, put them together, mix thoroughly, and what have you got? A pretty dim, unenthusiastic view of things.

After days of talking together in Moscow Macmillan and Khrushchev publicly agreed they hadn't agreed on much. Macmillan said the Berlin situation has "dangerous implications" which must be settled by negotiation and not by force.

No sooner had Macmillan returned home to London than reports from there said he is convinced troubled times lie ahead in Europe. He began preparing for urgent meetings in Washington, Paris and Bonn.

Meanwhile, the Soviets cut another caper Tuesday, just as ominous as everything else they have pulled recently. Once again they switched from sweet talk of peace to the threat of world war if the Western powers should use force to maintain their status in West Berlin.

Right after the Western Big Three in February proposed to the Soviet Union that their four foreign ministers discuss Berlin and the two Germanys, Macmillan flew to Moscow to talk it over with Khrushchev.

Khrushchev had created a bad situation for the West by making a couple of threats as long ago as last November.

He had demanded that the three big Western Allies get their troops out of Berlin by May 27 and threatened to let the East German Communists block any supplies the Big Three tried to send their Berlin garrison after that.

Macmillan was greeted cordially when he first met with Khrushchev.

But while Macmillan was still in the U.S.S.R. Khrushchev hit him in the back of the head by publicly ridiculing the idea of a foreign ministers meeting and announcing that only a summit meeting could solve anything.

Macmillan withstood this affront, talked some more with Khrushchev. On Monday, the day before the Briton left Moscow, the Soviets said they'd agree to the ministers get-together but still thought a summit meeting was the answer. This may have seemed a little concession by the Soviets, a little step back.

But Tuesday, right after Macmillan got home, the Soviets released a note they had sent their satellites. This was another bang on the head for Macmillan.

The note to the satellites said the Soviet Union intended to make good its intentions of letting the East Germans have the say on whether the Western Allies could send supplies to their troops in Berlin.

It repeated a previous Soviet warning that if the West tried to batter its way through an East German blockade there would be war. Then it made mincemeat of the very idea it had agreed to on Monday: a foreign ministers meeting.

The note to the satellites denounced such a meeting — even before the West had a chance to consider the Soviet agreement — and said only a summit meeting could lower tension.

This is hash. Now the Soviets are sitting back, waiting to see the Western allies try to eat it.

Now We Have The Phantom Satellite

The associate director of Smithsonian Astrophysical Observatory at Cambridge, Mass., has suggested the possibility Discoverer I might not have been lost track of if his agency had been told in advance it was going to be launched from Vandenberg Air Force base.

He further has suggested that this frustrating kind of secrecy may be the result of rivalry between military services. It remains to be seen what reception will be given to his criticism. In the meantime, the United States is in a position to claim credit for the first phantom satellite.

It will take its place in folklore with phantom ships, lost regiments, wayward buses, railroad trains that were misplaced and the weird assortment of ghosts that inhabit the bureaus of missing persons in all cities. It will be the first of its kind but assuredly not the last.

Never has man had so much room to lose things in before.

Outer space is close to infinity, itself, which may be presumed to lie just beyond the outer space that now encompasses inner space. That first layer of space is where Discoverer I may go on and on, to no avail and to no end. It is up there somewhere, and that is all that can be said about it until at some future date reports of its unconfirmed exisence will dribble into earthly circulation.

The Loch Ness monster, the Abominable Snow Man and the mysterious animals with feet like prehistoric monsters that customarily turn up on dull days will have their work cut out for them fron now on. And so will the Flying Saucers, come to think of it. Discoverer I will beat them all in the great indoor sport of fathoming the unfathomable.

Wait'll Next Year!

There must be quite a letdown in Midland today as the result of the Lincoln High School basketball team's defeat in WPIAL tournament play at the Pitt Fieldhouse.

And if the fans are down in the dumps, think how Coach George Hamilton and his players must feel.

But there's a much brighter side to the picture that should not be forgotten just because the ball didn't bounce right Tuesday night. The Leopards advanced as far in tournament play as any other team in Midland history and had a brilliant regular season record which brought credit both to themselves and their community.

And with most of the boys returning next season, there's every reason in the world for Midland fans to be muttering: "Wait'll next year!"

The Once Over

By H. I. Phillips

London proposes TV sets in public parks. We polled fans about an extension of the idea to American parks and found them cold.

"Would you get a belt out of television in our squares and parks?" we asked one man.

"Only if they put sofas in the parks and let me show up in pajamas," he replied. "I like home comforts, including cooking odors from the kitchenette."

"You would get sunlight and fresh air," I said.

"Who wants sunlight and fresh air watching TV?" he demanded. "I have been following them cowboys in bad air and dim lights for years. Cowboys and western marshals don't seem the same outdoors."

"How do you feel about TV in the parks?" we asked another addict.

"Not me. Them parks is full of criminals, and adding them to all the crooks in TV dramas would give me a double feature crime program. I don't want to get beat up while watching a screenful of guys getting slugged. And how safe would I be in Central Park watching the late, late show?"

A HOUSEWIFE expressed this opinion: "Is it fair to the birds and squirrels to have video shows in parks? They are happy and protected. Why kill them off with bum gags, novice baritones, studio-panel guests and the hysterical screeches of women who have just won a gas range on a quiz show?"

In London there is also a protest against commercials as "nasty imports from America."

"I saw a western," says a House of Commons member, "in which a ferocious attack by Indians was followed by a commercial for a scalp lotion."

The British protest can be justified. It is nothing unusual here to have a hatchet murder interrupted by an ad for precision blades or Romeo's and Juliet's balcony scene halted for "Yes, many a romantic interlude can be ruined by bad breath," etc.

Recently we were watching a whodunit and at the point where the hero was flat, battered and bleeding on the ground the voice came in, "Do you feel low, weak and out of sorts?"

The U. S. Veterans Administration records have shown as many as 13,000 members by the name of John Smith at one time. But the big complication lies in the fact that some 8,000 of these John Smiths have had no middle initial!

One Way To Meet Competition

U.S. Reds Active, Hoover Says

By Victor Riesel

For several years now, the American Communist party has been reorganizing undercover. It would be dangerous to write off a movement on which the Soviet Union in the past has spent millions of dollars—and through which it has launched successful espionage, sabotage and corroding propaganda rings.

Victor Riesel

There is one man who would know if the re-grouped Communist apparatus is the plaything of a few esoteric thrill seekers — or an effective Soviet weapon. That man is J. Edgar Hoover, director of the FBI. I put four questions to the director.

Q. Were there any Americans attending the Communist party congress which recently met in Moscow?

Mr. Hoover: In recent months many leading Communists have been able to travel to the Soviet Union because of the easing of restrictions in the issuance of American passports.

Among these are James Jackson, a member of the National Executive Committee, Communist party, U.S.A.; Alexander Trachenberg, head of International Publishers, Communist publishing house; George Morris, labor editor of the "The Worker," East Coast Communist newspaper; Morris Childs, long-time Communist party leader from the Midwestern area; Paul Novick, editor of the "Morning Freiheit," Yiddish language Communist newspaper and Charles Loman, Brooklyn Communist party leader.

Two of the above, James Jackson and Morris Childs, reportedly attended the 21st congress of the Communist party, Soviet Union, in Moscow as representatives of the Communist party, U.S.A.

Their attendance at this congress in an official capacity is indicative of the close affiliation which presently exists between Moscow and the Communist party, U.S.A. Moreover, their presence in Russia, along with the other Communists mentioned above, is a harbinger of things to come — namely, an increasing number of American Communists who will be visiting Russia and other Communist countries.

Party leaders will now have direct personal access to Russian leaders, including Khrushchev. They will be able to report about problems facing the party in the United States, and receive direct instructions as to the proper courses of action.

Not since the days of the Comintern, when American Communists streamed freely to Moscow, is the outlook so favorable for the direct guidance of the American party by the Kremlin. This, of course, represents a great danger to the security of our country.

Q. Is there still an American Communist party?

Mr. Hoover: Most emphatically the answer is "yes." The Communist party, U.S.A., is very active working unceasingly toward the establishment of a Soviet America. Last September, it celebrated its 39th anniversary with a rally attended by 1200 individuals at Carnegie Hall, New York City.

Although recently plagued by internal dissension, the party is now firmly consolidated behind the pro-Soviet leadership of Eugene Dennis, general secretary, and Robert Thompson, executive secretary, supported by William Z. Foster, chairman emeritus, who is currently incapacitated by illness.

The party's national committee, at its most recent meeting held in December, adopted bold plans for strengthening and reorganizing the party and has implemented these plans by actively participating in political affairs, intensifying its work among the nation's youth and giving increased attention to infiltrating labor unions and strategic industries and to agitation among Negro groups.

Q. Is Moscow directly interested in the Communist party, U.S.A.?

Mr. Hoover: Very much so. The Kremlin has consistently supported those leaders inside the Communist party, U.S.A., comprising the leftist or pro-Soviet elements. It is highly interested, as in the early days of American Communism, in eliminating factionalism and maintaining a unified party.

In Moscow's eyes, a quarreling party is an ineffective party. The Kremlin insists that the party stay unified with leadership under the strict control of Communists who are obediently loyal to the Moscow line.

The number of articles in the Soviet press about the American Communist party is proof of the Kremlin's extreme interest in assuring that the party in the United States follows the correct line. For example, in September 1956, "Pravda" praised Foster as a "noted theoretician and Marxist historian" and indicated continued Soviet support for him.

In the most recent issue of "World Marxist Review" (international Communist magazine published in Prague), William Z. Foster was among the Communist leaders throughout the world giving unqualified support to Khrushchev's seven-year plan for the Soviet Union.

The very fact that he was allowed to so write is proof of the high esteem in which Foster is held within the international Communist movement.

These and other such articles are indicative of the support and direction which the Soviet Union has given to the pro-Soviet leadership of the Communist party, U.S.A.

Such guidance from Moscow has enabled this group to become the dominant leaders of American Communism. Under the current leadership, the Communist party, U.S.A., will continue to be a mere puppet to be manipulated at will by Moscow.

Q. Does the Communist party, U.S.A., presently belong to any type of Communist international?

Mr. Hoover: The Communist party, U.S.A., does not presently belong to any overt Communist international organization — that is, in the sense of formal membership, since such membership would be in violation of federal statutes. However, that does not mean that the Communist party, U.S.A., is not an essential part of the international Communist conspiracy.

As is well known, all Communist parties are based on the teachings of Marxism-Leninism. To the Communists, these teachings represent scientific principles by which Communism will ultimately be victorious throughout the world.

The Communist party, U.S.A., subscribes to Marxism-Leninism and bases its activities on these teachings. This means that the American Communist party operates on the same principles as do other Communist parties. It has the same objectives — namely, the overthrow of free government.

Moreover, in the Communist concept of proletarian internationalism, all Communist parties are bound together in unity to Communist objectives with the Communist party, Soviet Union, as the controlling body.

The American Communist party is merely an extension of the international Communist conspiracy. Its loyalty is to Khrushchev or whoever controls the Soviet party.

Pre-Emptive War

By David Lawrence

U. S. May Not Wait To Be Attacked

America may not sit by waiting for Chicago or Detroit or New York City to be destroyed by missiles — that is, accepting the "first blow" — before letting loose our power of massive retaliation. America instead might conceivably strike first in what has become known as "pre-emptive" rather than "preventive" war.

David Lawrence

This is the inference that can be drawn from the testimony just given by the secretary of defense, Neil McElroy, before the House Space Committee. Mr. McElroy emphasized that the present policy is not to strike the "first blow" but "whether that always will be true is another matter." Rep. McCormack (D-Mass), leader of the House, promptly commented that he was encouraged to hear America might change its strictly defensive policy under certain circumstances.

This episode is the climax of a long discussion that has been going on in military circles in both countries, beginning in February 1955, when Nikita Khrushchev became the No. 2 Man in the Soviet Union and enunciated what has since become known as the "Khrushchev doctrine." It is a policy of striking the "first blow" so as to prevent what is called "surprise aggression."

THIS WAS THE TERM used in an article in the Red Army "Star" in March 1955 written by Soviet marshal of the armed forces, P. Rotmistrov, when he declared: "We must not allow ourselves to be taken by surprise."

After reporting in June 1955 the opinions expressed by military men in the Soviet Union, "U.S. News & World Report" also published on Dec. 13, 1957, an article on "Surprise Attack" by Capt. W. D. Puleston, retired U.S. naval officer and the author of many books on the strategy of war.

This article produced a lot of comment in Soviet military publications and was denounced on the Moscow radio, but, so far as is known, it was the first public recognition in American military circles that a "surprise attack" could be fatal and that it must be avoided even if, under certain circumstances, it could mean inflicting the "first blow" ourselves. This undoubtedly is the situation that Secretary McElroy had in mind in his testimony on Monday. Here is what Capt. Puleston suggested:

"Our government also should make it equally clear to the Soviets that we will not stand idly by and wait to be attacked — that we will not permit any nation to prepare and mount a surprise attack upon this country or any of its allies.

"If Russia — or any other nation—should give positive evidence that it is preparing such an attack, the United States should immediately:

"1. Alert its armed forces and deploy them for instant attack upon the threatening nation.

"2. Serve immediate notice upon the threatening nation that, unless it dismounts the attack preparations within a specified brief period of time, the United States will attack in self-defense, without waiting to be hit first.

"Then, if the Russians or their satellites should defy this warning, the U. S. would be in a position to get at least an even break. If the enemy should attack, we could attack simultaneously. If the enemy should persist in its preparations to attack, we could — with honor — attack first, and thus gain the initial advantage instead of conceding it."

A FEW MONTHS before the Soviets launched an intercontinental ballistic missile in the summer of 1957, Maj. Gen. G. I. Pokrovsky, in a revealing book entitled, "Science and Technology in Contemporary Wars," wrote as follows:

"A massive blow with long-range missiles can be especially powerful when administered by an aggressor in a surprise fashion, by way of an attack against some peaceful country. This is so because launching sites, and the missiles on those launching sites, can be secretly prepared in peacetime without the possibility of their discovery and destruction by the side which is defending itself. All this means that long-range missiles, being one of the newest means of combat, substantially increase the role of surprise in contemporary war."

The effect of the discussion in 1957 and 1958 was salutary — conferences between the East and the West were actually convened in recent months at Geneva to deal with the subject of "surprise attack."

These conferences have been interrupted due to a deadlock in the points of view but the latest emphasis which Secretary McElroy has given to the subject may cause the sessions to be resumed.

For it is now becoming clear that the United States does not intend to sit by and take the "first blow" but will strike whenever it becomes apparent that an enemy is actually preparing to strike at us. This means that a foolproof system of international inspection has become imperative. It means also that the Soviet Union is on notice that it will not be permitted to go so far as to strike the "first blow" without risking a "pre-emptive" blow from the United States.

Much Said, Little Done

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON

Take everything British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan said and everything Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev said, put them together, mix thoroughly, and what have you got? A pretty dim, unenthusiastic view of things.

After days of talking together in Moscow Macmillan and Khrushchev publicly agreed they hadn't agreed on much. Macmillan said the Berlin situation has "dangerous implications" which must be settled by negotiation and not by force.

No sooner had Macmillan returned home to London than reports from there said he is convinced troubled times lie ahead in Europe. He began preparing for urgent meetings in Washington, Paris and Bonn.

Meanwhile, the Soviets cut another caper Tuesday, just as ominous as everything else they have pulled recently. Once again they switched from sweet talk of peace to the threat of world war if the Western powers should use force to maintain their status in West Berlin.

Right after the Western Big Three in February proposed to the Soviet Union that their four foreign ministers discuss Berlin and the two Germanys, Macmillan flew to Moscow to talk it over with Khrushchev.

Khrushchev had created a bad situation for the West by making a couple of threats as long ago as last November.

He had demanded that the three big Western Allies get their troops out of Berlin by May 27 and threatened to let the East German Communists block any supplies the Big Three tried to send their Berlin garrison after that.

Macmillan was greeted cordially when he first met with Khrushchev.

But while Macmillan was still in the U.S.S.R. Khrushchev hit him in the back of the head by publicly ridiculing the idea of a foreign ministers meeting and announcing that only a summit meeting could solve anything.

Macmillan withstood this affront, talked some more with Khrushchev. On Monday, the day before the Briton left Moscow, the Soviets said they'd agree to the ministers get-together but still thought a summit meeting was the answer. This may have seemed a little concession by the Soviets, a little step back.

But Tuesday, right after Macmillan got home, the Soviets released a note they had sent their satellites. This was another bang on the head for Macmillan.

The note to the satellites said the Soviet Union intended to make good its intentions of letting the East Germans have the say on whether the Western Allies could send supplies to their troops in Berlin.

It repeated a previous Soviet warning that if the West tried to batter its way through an East German blockade there would be war. Then it made mincemeat of the very idea it had agreed to on Monday: a foreign ministers meeting.

The note to the satellites denounced such a meeting — even before the West had a chance to consider the Soviet agreement — and said only a summit meeting could lower tension.

To Reconsider Approval In West Virginia

Gas Tax Bill Stalled In Senate

CHARLESTON (AP) — A gasoline tax increase bill which both houses of the Legislature had passed is now stalled by a Senate decision to reconsider its approval.

The Senate voted Tuesday to reconsider its passage of the bill, which would raise the state tax on gasoline and diesel fuel from six to seven cents a gallon.

Reconsideration requires two steps, first a vote to reconsider and then another vote on the bill itself. The Senate did not take the second step, but simply held the bill on the calendar pending study.

Both houses passed the bill last week. Since then it has been stymied by disagreement on the effective date of the proposed increase. The Senate adopted July 1 and the House chose April 1. Neither has budged from its position.

The bill would boost the state's annual revenue for highway purposes by an estimated 4½ million dollars.

Senate President Ralph J. Bean (D-Hardy) said the Senate leadership now wants a meeting with House leaders to review the whole tax program, both for highways and general revenue, "to see where we are."

As to additional general revenue for education, mental hospitals, public assistance and other services, the Senate and House have been traveling different routes.

The House's major effort to date has been the bill which it passed Monday to impose a state income tax. The Senate's approach has been a handful of more modest measures, mostly within the framework of existing tax laws.

The only one of the Senate's general revenue measures which it has passed so far is a new tax on real estate transfers. Yesterday the House Finance Committee sent the Senate-passed bill to the House floor with recommended amendments which cut the estimated revenue yield from three million dollars to $200,000.

Another general revenue tax bill was at passage stage in the Senate today, held over from yesterday. It would raise about 1½ million a year by putting contractors under a surtax in the present gross sales tax law.

Now a question has been raised as to whether the House income tax measure would produce as much revenue as the delegates thought.

House Finance Chairman Julius W. Singleton Jr. (D-Monongalia), co-sponsor of the bill, figured the yield at 14 million a year. Of that amount, four million would be earmarked for the West Virginia University Medical Center.

The present soft drinks tax, now reserved exclusively for the Medical Center, would be repealed by the income tax bill.

Individuals, corporations and other businesses would be taxed at the rate of 4 per cent of the amount of federal income tax paid for the preceding year.

In a letter to Bean yesterday, Tax Commissioner John A. Field Jr. calculated the income tax yield from individuals and West Virginia corporations at $10,573,000.

Field based his figures on records of the Internal Revenue Service office at Parkersburg. He estimated administrative costs would run from $500,000 to $750,000.

By these estimates, the amount left for general revenue services after administrative costs and the Medical Center allocation would be about six million dollars.

Yesterday, the House passed a school support bill after adopting Finance Committee amendments which reduced the additional annual cost from 15 million to 12 million. The vote was 85-11.

The bill would put an additional six million dollars into regular state aid distribution to the county school systems and six million into a new "incentive program."

Under the incentive provisions, grants would be made to counties to reward them for extra effort in raising money for schools at the local level. The bill now goes to the Senate.

The House also passed and sent to the Senate a bill to provide an across-the-board salary raise of $50 a month for state policemen.

'Feet Hurt, I Can't Walk,' Unlicensed Driver Says

A 79-year-old Dixonville man accused of driving without a license after a hit-skip accident Tuesday afternoon on Anderson Blvd. had a unique excuse today for Municipal Judge George L. Brokaw.

"I can't walk very much; it hurts my feet because my arches are all broken down," Francis Beaver of Bluff St. told the judge as part of an unorthodox hearing in which he also:

Fell sideways out of the jury box, confirming his claim he is unsteady on his feet, drunk or sober.

Refused to plead guilty to driving on the wrong side of the road as a substitute for a charge of driving while under the influence of alcohol.

Hans Hacker Jr. of Anderson Blvd. testified it all started yesterday about 1 p. m. when Beaver's auto collided with his on Anderson Blvd. Hacker said he pulled as far as possible to the right to avoid Beaver, but a fender of his auto was damaged.

When Beaver did not stop, Hacker turned his car around and pursued the other driver toward Dixonville, he testified. Hacker said he waved to Beaver to stop, but the other man ignored him. Hacker said he finally halted Beaver by blocking the road with his auto.

Then Liverpool Township Constable Wilbert Taylor was notified. Both Hacker and the constable testified Beaver was intoxicated. A third witness was Patrolman Paul Lemal, who locked Beaver in the city jail for the constable. The officer and the constable both testified Beaver was very unsteady on his feet. Beaver said he sometimes seems intoxicated when he is not because of the gait caused by his foot trouble.

Judge Brokaw, lecturing Beaver, fined him $50 and costs for driving without a license. Beaver said he did not renew his license the last time it expired but said he has continued to drive infrequently.

"If you come in here again for driving without a license, I'll give you the limit," the judge said.

When the judge indicated he did not intend to convict Beaver of driving while intoxicated, Assistant Solicitor Richard J. Clark suggested reducing the charge to reckless driving or driving left of center.

After considerable discussion, the solicitor prepared an affidavit alleging Beaver drove left of center, based on Hacker's testimony. Beaver had been seated in the jury box for the first part of his hearing. When the trial adjourned temporarily, he missed a step while leaving the box and fell sideways onto the floor, but apparently was unhurt.

A moment later, Beaver refused to plead guilty to the lesser charge, so it apparently will be withdrawn. Judge Brokaw said he will continue the hearing on the charge of driving while intoxicated until the final disposition is determined.

Senate President Ralph J. Bean (D-Hardy) said the Senate leadership now wants a meeting with House leaders to review the whole tax program, both for highways and general revenue, "to see where we are."

As to additional general revenue for education, mental hospitals, public assistance and other services, the Senate and House have been traveling different routes.

The House's major effort to date has been the bill which it passed Monday to impose a state income tax. The Senate's approach has been a handful of more modest measures, mostly within the framework of existing tax laws.

The only one of the Senate's general revenue measures which it has passed so far is a new tax on real estate transfers. Yesterday the House Finance Committee sent the Senate-passed bill to the House floor with recommended amendments which cut the estimated revenue yield from three million dollars to $200,000.

Another general revenue tax bill was at passage stage in the Senate today, held over from yesterday. It would raise about 1½ million a year by putting contractors under a surtax in the present gross sales tax law.

Now a question has been raised as to whether the House income tax measure would produce as much revenue as the delegates thought.

House Finance Chairman Julius W. Singleton Jr. (D-Monongalia), co-sponsor of the bill, figured the yield at 14 million a year. Of that amount, four million would be earmarked for the West Virginia University Medical Center.

The present soft drinks tax, now reserved exclusively for the Medical Center, would be repealed by the income tax bill.

Individuals, corporations and other businesses would be taxed at the rate of 4 per cent of the amount of federal income tax paid for the preceding year.

In a letter to Bean yesterday, Tax Commissioner John A. Field Jr. calculated the income tax yield from individuals and West Virginia corporations at $10,573,000.

Field based his figures on records of the Internal Revenue Service office at Parkersburg. He estimated administrative costs would run from $500,000 to $750,000.

By these estimates, the amount left for general revenue services after administrative costs and the Medical Center allocation would be about six million dollars.

Yesterday, the House passed a school support bill after adopting Finance Committee amendments which reduced the additional annual cost from 15 million to 12 million. The vote was 85-11.

The bill would put an additional six million dollars into regular state aid distribution to the county school systems and six million into a new "incentive program."

Under the incentive provisions, grants would be made to counties to reward them for extra effort in raising money for schools at the local level. The bill now goes to the Senate.

The House also passed and sent to the Senate a bill to provide an across-the-board salary raise of $50 a month for state policemen.

'Feet Hurt, I Can't Walk,' Unlicensed Driver Says

A 79-year-old Dixonville man accused of driving without a license after a hit-skip accident Tuesday afternoon on Anderson Blvd. had a unique excuse today for Municipal Judge George L. Brokaw.

"I can't walk very much; it hurts my feet because my arches are all broken down," Francis Beaver of Bluff St. told the judge as part of an unorthodox hearing in which he also:

Fell sideways out of the jury box, confirming his claim he is unsteady on his feet, drunk or sober.

Refused to plead guilty to driving on the wrong side of the road as a substitute for a charge of driving while under the influence of alcohol.

Hans Hacker Jr. of Anderson Blvd. testified it all started yesterday about 1 p. m. when Beaver's auto collided with his on Anderson Blvd. Hacker said he pulled as far as possible to the right to avoid Beaver, but a fender of his auto was damaged.

When Beaver did not stop, Hacker turned his car around and pursued the other driver toward Dixonville, he testified. Hacker said he waved to Beaver to stop, but the other man ignored him. Hacker said he finally halted Beaver by blocking the road with his auto.

Then Liverpool Township Constable Wilbert Taylor was notified. Both Hacker and the constable testified Beaver was intoxicated. A third witness was Patrolman Paul Lemal, who locked Beaver in the city jail for the constable. The officer and the constable both testified Beaver was very unsteady on his feet. Beaver said he sometimes seems intoxicated when he is not because of the gait caused by his foot trouble.

Judge Brokaw, lecturing Beaver, fined him $50 and costs for driving without a license. Beaver said he did not renew his license the last time it expired but said he has continued to drive infrequently.

"If you come in here again for driving without a license, I'll give you the limit," the judge said.

When the judge indicated he did not intend to convict Beaver of driving while intoxicated, Assistant Solicitor Richard J. Clark suggested reducing the charge to reckless driving or driving left of center.

After considerable discussion, the solicitor prepared an affidavit alleging Beaver drove left of center, based on Hacker's testimony. Beaver had been seated in the jury box for the first part of his hearing. When the trial adjourned temporarily, he missed a step while leaving the box and fell sideways onto the floor, but apparently was unhurt.

A moment later, Beaver refused to plead guilty to the lesser charge, so it apparently will be withdrawn. Judge Brokaw said he will continue the hearing on the charge of driving while intoxicated until the final disposition is determined.

Sleet, Snow Glaze Roads

Fall Up To 2 Inches Reported In District

Sleet and snow, following freezing rain, glazed Tri-State District highways Tuesday night, slowing traffic and causing numerous tie-ups on hills and grades until cindering crews were called.

The storm, which left one to 2 inches of snow in some parts of the area, began with rain last night about 10. This turned to sleet as temperatures dropped to freezing, followed by snow squalls.

The Beaver County State Highway Department at Rochester reported road conditions were slippery in spots. All crews were called out for cindering.

Dam 8 at Newell said the mercury climbed to 45 degrees yesterday afternoon. It remained at the freezing mark of 32 degrees until midmorning.

The cold spell will continue with a high of 33 to 36 forecast for today with a few snow flurries. The mercury will dip to a sub-freezing 24 to 28 tonight. There will be more snow Thursday, changing to rain, but it will turn colder by nightfall.

Earmuffs For Poodle? That's 'Draft Evasion'

No plebian breezes will bother a lower St. Clair Ave. French poodle in early spring auto rides about the area because of the thoughtfulness of the mother of its mistress.

Clerks at the St. Stephen's Episcopal Church rummage sale in the former Zange & Bence storeroom reported Tuesday the mother of the owner of the dog purchased a pair of earmuffs decorated with sequins.

The woman explained her daughter had obtained a new retractable hardtop car, but feared the dog would be unable to ride because the drafts might hurt its ears. The mother decided earmuffs would be just the things.

Comedian Lou Costello Dies From Heart Attack

The veteran comedian suffered a heart attack a week ago and seemed to be improving, his manager, Eddie Sherman, said.

However, he suffered another attack yesterday, which was fatal.

The pudgy comedian, who with straight man Bud Abbott formed one of Hollywood's most successful comedy teams, split with his partner recently and had not been active in the movies.

Costello was born in Paterson, N. J., and after working a few odd jobs, including those of newspaper boy, soda fountain clerk and salesman, he got a job in burlesque.

Teaming with Abbott, his first movie venture was the picture, "Caribbean Holiday." They made many films together and were voted among the first 10 money making stars in the Motion Picture Hall of Fame poll from 1941 through 1944, and from 1948 through 1951.

services like hotels and motels be made subject to the sales tax.

Besides all that, he asked a 2-cent-a-gallon gasoline tax increase to seven cents and a four-cent-a-gallon increase on diesel fuel for a new total of nine cents. Those two would produce a total of 123½ millions for highways in the next two years. With federal matching money added, he estimated, Ohio could have a 300-million-dollar-a-year road-building program.

And, he pointed out, that would put Ohio's highway program on a pay-as-you-go basis and avoid future highway bond issues.

Other major developments of the DiSalle message:

He stuck a pin in his own trial balloon on the possibility the state might turn over to the 88 counties the responsibility for collecting the sales tax. "It is mechanically not possible at this time," he said.

He proposed that the state get entirely out of the poor relief picure next year. He suggested the state abandon the utility excise tax field to local governments to finance relief costs. The tax, now collected by the state, covers nearly the entire cost of poor relief.

At the outset of his message, DiSalle offered five alternative programs the state could follow in its present financial crisis. They ranged from cutbacks to stay within present income to a liberal expansion of education, welfare and other activities.

The state government, the governor told the lawmakers, pays out 86 per cent of its income for education, welfare service and mental hygiene and correction. That leaves only 14 per cent for all the other obligations the state must meet.

DiSalle pointed out he is asking less than 100 million dollars in increases for programs over which the state administration has some control. He detailed them this way:

Schools—26 millions more in addition to 27 millions in built-in increases for expanding school population and other automatic factors. DiSalle said most of the voluntary increase was for teacher salaries.

Higher Education—DiSalle recommended a 15-million-dollar increase to a new high of 99½ millions for the six institutions of higher learning supported by the state.

Reclassification of state employes—Salary adjustments on the basis of a recent reclassification study, he said, will require about 10½ million dollars and he recommended appropriation of that amount.

Mental hygiene and correction—Another 14 million dollars, much of it to staff new facilities.

Welfare—Another 42 millions, including aid for the aged, aid to dependent children, the blind, the disabled, the crippled children.

He said an increase of nearly 19 millions for aid for the aged would permit lifting the $65-a-month ceiling, but the state could not afford now to drop citizenship requirements and a reduction in residence requirements as provided in a Senate-passed bill.

The governor recommended the state drop the plan which has been in effect for nearly 25 years under which stamps are issued as receipts for the state sales tax.

This would eliminate both the redemption feature under which charitable groups collect about five million dollars a year and a discount to vendors (retailers) for the trouble of handling them.

DiSalle estimated the saving to the state would be 20 million dollars in the next two years. But, because vendors now buy the stamps in advance and the new plan would be a post-payment system, there would be a lag in collections of about 29 million dollars the first year, he estimated. The lag at the start would far offset the savings.

"For almost 20 years there have been no substantial increases in state taxation," DiSalle pointed out to the legislators. "This is one of the most critical fiscal conditions this state has ever faced. . . .

"It is my belief that if the people thoroughly understand the present fiscal condition and understand further the products which they are buying the form of highways, schools, university, aid to the handicapped and unfortunate and other areas, that they will approve fully of what we suggest here.

"This crisis which has been building over the years, we can say was not of our making, but to face it and to attempt its solution is a responsibility which rests with us alone."

Tax Hike Would Hit Smokers, Drinkers

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Cigarette smokers and liquor drinkers would pay more than half the tax increase asked Tuesday night by Gov. Michael V. DiSalle to meet the state's need for 214 million dollars in Ohio's general revenue fund.

The tap would come in these proposed increases:

Two cents a pack on cigarettes to produce an estimated 46 millions in the next two years.

A liquor price markup of about 35 cents a fifth to produce 40 millions in the biennium.

Lifting the sales tax exemption on alcoholic beverages and cigarettes—another 44 millions in the two-year period.

Ground Breaking Set For School In Ohio Township

Ground-breaking ceremonies for the new Ray W. Snyder elementary school in Ohio Township will be held Saturday at 2 p. m., it was announced at a meeting of the Western Beaver County Board of Education Monday night.

A formal program has been planned, Frank Meredith, supervising principal, said. Mr. Snyder was supervising principal at the time of his death.

The board elected Walter Zischkau, chairman of the building and grounds committee, as its representative to confer with representatives of the various contractors, Western Beaver County School Authority, the architect and Meredith on progress of work during construction, which is expected to start shortly after the ground breaking.

Three sets of plans for the proposed junior-senior high school were presented for consideration at the meeting. No action was taken on the plans drawn by B. J. McCandless of Ellwood City, architect.

Zischkau reported on his committee's recommendations for repairs to be made at three buildings this summer.

Robert Beglin, chairman of the budget and finance committee, reported on the proposed budget. It will be adopted tentatively at next month's meeting.

The board authorized the purchase of a set of chains and weights for its tractor and granted permission for the Parent-Teacher Association to erect basketball backstops at spots designated by the building and grounds committee in the playground area.

Probation Requested By Man In Theft Case

LISBON — A probation investigation has been ordered by Judge Joel H. Sharp for Oliver Holbrook, 26, of Fallston,, Pa., who changed his plea to guilty to a charge of burglarizing the Helman Sports Center at East Palestine Sept. 20.

Holbrook was indicted for the theft of guns from the sports shop which were later used in an armed robbery of a grocery store near Beaver Falls. Four other men, including a brother of Holbrook, were charged with the robbery.

A charge of receiving and concealing stolen goods against Holbrook was withdrawn Monday by County Prosecutor G. William Brokaw. Judge Sharp set bond at $1,000 pending the investigation by probation authorities.

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann: I hope you won't think this letter is too weird for consideration. I need advice desperately. Two years ago I married "The Belle of the Ball." She was only 18 but a rare beauty and full of fun. I was 28, and rather settled.

The first year of our marriage produced a daughter. This blessed event was not planned and my wife was mad at me and sick the whole nine months. When the baby was born she didn't want to see her. She went into a bad mental depression and had to be sent to a rest home. My mother moved in with me to care for the baby.

Now the baby is a year old and my wife is her old self after much therapy. She was discharged from the rest home last week but the doctor suggested she live with her parents for several days and visit the baby and me and see how things work out.

My wife wants very much to come home and be a mother to her baby. I'm not sure she is equal to this responsibility. My mother is fearful and reluctant to trust this "mental patient" with her only grandchild. May I have your views?—ELLIS.

Dear Ellis: Neither my views nor your mother's views should be considered in this case. It's the doctor's views that count. His decision will be based on clinical facts and experienced judgment. Depend on him.

Bores Leave Last

Dear Ann: Maybe you can help me. I've racked my brains trying to come up with a solution. The problem is my husband. Whenever we go to a party or even just visit in the home of friends, he is always the last one to leave.

We both work and have to get up at 6:30 a.m. This is no easy task when we pull in at 3 a.m. and sometimes later.

I don't like to nag him in front of friends or appear to be the bossy type who orders her husband around. Yet I find the only way to get him to go home is by starting to suggest leaving two hours in advance.

I think it's poor manners for one couple to stay long after the others have left. This is always us. Will you say something? My husband thinks I'm stuffy.—LAST OF THE MO-HIC-UNS.

Dear Last: Before you leave the house, decide together (while he's still sober) what time you will leave the party. Make it plain you will give him 15 minutes' grace — not a minute more. If he doesn't keep his bargain, phone for a taxi.

When he sees you mean business he'll go home when he's supposed to. Tell him the bores always leave last.

Learn To Say No!

Dear Ann Landers: I have a friend who borrows small sums of money frequently and never pays me back. When I ask her for a dollar (not often) she tells me she is broke. I just can't believe people can borrow time after time and forget it completely. She seems to be without a memory or a conscience.

She has borrowed my evening wrap, a traveling bag, bowling shoes, etc., and I always have to go get them as she never returns anything. Is there a cure for people like this? Otherwise she is awfully nice and great fun.—WEASEL.

Dear Weasel: Glad you added the bit about the evening wrap. I thought for a minute you were this leech's boy friend.

Learn how to say no, or consider the loans out-and-out contributions. As for the garments, you're a sap to put up with such free-loading.

Confidentially

TO ASHAMED: This has nothing to do with morals. You are ill and need the help of a doctor. Since you are eager to be "helped," by all means get going. Others have done it — with success.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Contestants in the Vogue Sewing Contest modeled their creations. Mrs. John Parsons was narrator. Contestants included, Mrs. Harrell Bomar, Mrs. Newcomb, Mrs. James Muns and Mrs. Brewer. Mrs. Brewer won first prize and Mrs. Newcomb, second.

Answered In 19 Minutes

Only 6 Questions Asked After DiSalle's Message

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Gov. Michael V. DiSalle's hour-and-32-minute budget message to a Senate-House session of the Legislature Tuesday night drew only six questions from the floor.

It took the governor, Finance Director James Maloon and Dr. E. E. Holt, state superintendent of public instruction, 19 minutes to answer them.

Democratic leaders praised the message but Republicans said they remained unconvinced that total tax increases asked by the governor were needed.

The unprecedented British Parliament-type question-and-answer period following the budget presentation filled the House chamber to overflowing.

House Clerk Arthur H. Milleson estimated that listeners totaled 1,000. He said 200 were turned away.

DiSalle, attired in blue suit, shirt and tie, read his 54-page message from the podium. He was flanked by Lt. Gov. John W. Donahey, Senate Majority Leader Frank W. King (D-Lucas) and House Speaker James A. Lantz (D-Fairfield).

DiSalle received a standing ovation at the conclusion of his message. He was interrupted by applause only once during delivery. That demonstration followed a typical display of DiSalle humor.

Someone upset a metal wastebasket about mid-way through the address. Looking up, DiSalle said: "I though someone would start shooting before I was done."

A pause of several minutes followed the announcement by Donahey that the session was open for questions.

Rep. Francis D. Sullivan (D-Cuyahoga) broke the impasse by asking why DiSalle had not recommended old age pensions for non-citizens now on poor relief.

The governor answered that he had urged local governments to relieve the state of poor relief burdens. "If the Legislature does not do that, all we have to do is add more taxes," DiSalle observed.

Sen. Ed Witmer (D-Stark) inquired if the governor's recommendations covered an estimated two-million - dollar appropriation for driver education in public schools.

No sooner had DiSalle expressed belief that Holt would reply in the negative, than the state school superintendent stood and said it was not contemplated. "I was even less contemplated by the governor than by Dr. Holt," DiSalle added amid general laughter.

Reports from a Republican caucus said party members agreed in advance to forego questions.

This is how the comment went from legislative leaders:

Lantz—"It was a tremendous job. The governor's comprehension of the state's problems in so short a time in office is amazing."

House Minority Leader Roger Cloud (R-Logan)—"I will require a great deal of convincing the state needs that much additional money. I do wish we had had a chance to see the message and budget in advance so we could have had a chance to study it. I still am not in a position to say we know what's in it."

Senator Minority Leader C. Stanley Mechem (R-Athens) — "It looks to me like the governor is starting on a spending spree trying to catch up with Michigan. He is asking a 21 per cent increase in the general fund. That is a staggering amount to ask from already overburdened taxpayers. If the state programs we already have are costing too much, they could be changed."

"I thought it was a straightforward and realistic message and even though the requested increases are a lot of dollars it is imperative we maintain the levels recommended by the governor.

United Front Asked Against Aggression

COLUMBIA, Mo. (AP) — A South American journalist called on the World Press Congress today for a united front against aggression.

"The free press is the backbone of democracy and the principal enemy of totalitarianism," said Julio Hernandez, executive manager of El Colombiano, Medellin, Colombia, in a prepared address. "If we stand united as one in the struggle against all kinds of totalitarianism, democracy will forever prevail."

It was the third day in which Latin American delegates had appealed to journalists from the rest of the world for assistance.

Previous speakers touched on troubles in Cuba, Haiti, Paraguay and Nicaragua. Dr. Rodolfo Abaunza of Leon, Nicaragua, called it a "powerful storm gathering in the Caribbean."

"Without a free press, democracy is only a myth," Hernandez said. "No paper should in any way be controlled or influenced in its editorial policy by its advertisers or pressure groups."

Publisher Hugh Boyd of the New Brunswick (N.J.) Home News echoed Hernandez's warning against pressure groups in a prepared speech for a luncheon meeting.

"The foundation of a free press is based upon independence from pressures which may be economic, which may be political or which may be a combination of the two," Boyd said.

Zoning Discussed By Calcutta Group

William Black and William Smith read articles from the December 1958 and March 1959 issues of Farm Journal on the desirability of zoning in rural areas. Black, vice president, presided in the absence of Dean Wilhelm, president.

Black suggested a citizens group conduct a land use survey in connection with zoning. Tom Worchester reported on the attitude of the Glenmoor development group towards zoning.

A film will be screened on zoning at the meeting April 6. The film will be provided by the Ohio Power Co. All area organizations and the public will be invited.

Dr. Arthur Cloran reported on a newspaper article telling of a bill passed by the Ohio Senate giving townships the power to raise funds to pay for constables.

Answered In 19 Minutes

Only 6 Questions Asked After DiSalle's Message

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Gov. Michael V. DiSalle's hour-and-32-minute budget message to a Senate-House session of the Legislature Tuesday night drew only six questions from the floor.

It took the governor, Finance Director James Maloon and Dr. E. E. Holt, state superintendent of public instruction, 19 minutes to answer them.

Democratic leaders praised the message but Republicans said they remained unconvinced that total tax increases asked by the governor were needed.

The unprecedented British Parliament-type question-and-answer period following the budget presentation filled the House chamber to overflowing.

House Clerk Arthur H. Milleson estimated that listeners totaled 1,000. He said 200 were turned away.

DiSalle, attired in blue suit, shirt and tie, read his 54-page message from the podium. He was flanked by Lt. Gov. John W. Donahey, Senate Majority Leader Frank W. King (D-Lucas) and House Speaker James A. Lantz (D-Fairfield).

DiSalle received a standing ovation at the conclusion of his message. He was interrupted by applause only once during delivery. That demonstration followed a typical display of DiSalle humor.

Someone upset a metal wastebasket about mid-way through the address. Looking up, DiSalle said: "I though someone would start shooting before I was done."

A pause of several minutes followed the announcement by Donahey that the session was open for questions.

Rep. Francis D. Sullivan (D-Cuyahoga) broke the impasse by asking why DiSalle had not recommended old age pensions for non-citizens now on poor relief.

The governor answered that he had urged local governments to relieve the state of poor relief burdens. "If the Legislature does not do that, all we have to do is add more taxes," DiSalle observed.

Sen. Ed Witmer (D-Stark) inquired if the governor's recommendations covered an estimated two-million-dollar appropriation for driver education in public schools.

No sooner had DiSalle expressed belief that Holt would reply in the negative, than the state school superintendent stood and said it was not contemplated. "I was even less contemplated by the governor than by Dr. Holt," DiSalle added amid general laughter.

Births, Operations Decrease

Admissions Gain At City Hospital

Admissions to City Hospital in 1958 totaled 8,973, continuing an increase trend, but the number of operations and births showed a slight decrease compared to 1957, the annual hospital report shows.

Miss Nell Robinson, superintendent, said admissions last year amounted to 201 more than the 8,772 reported in 1957.

The total number of patient days —the number of patients multiplied by the days they stayed—was 56,672, another decline from the 57,098 of the previous year, which may have been an all-time record.

THE DECREASE in patient days along with the increase in admissions indicates shorter stays in the hospital for patients. The average stay was 6.338 days, according to Miss Robinson.

Births totaled 1,391 — 689 boys and 702 girls — compared to the 1957 total of 1,501. Seventeen sets of twins were born last year, up four sets from the year before. There were 74 premature births, compared to 80 previously.

Surgical cases amounted to 2,593 —938 major operations, including 92 caesarians, and 1,655 minor operations, including 695 tonsillectomies.

There were 67,401 laboratory tests conducted, 62,468 for in patients and 4,933 for out patients. Laboratory tests in 1957 totaled 66,497.

THERE WERE 9,959 patients X-rayed, compared to 8,790 in 1957.

Deaths last year amounted to only one less than the 302 for 1957, and included 26 stillbirths. This mortality rate, considering the increase in admissions, was a decline, and compares favorably with other hospitals, Miss Robinson said.

Meals served by the dietary department totaled 188,840. Of the 144,331 served to patients, 37,891 trays were for special diets.

The total number of days of nursing service was 45,820.

There were 51 students enrolled in the School of Nursing, with 21 students admitted in November. Some 400 hours of ward supervision, counseling and supervised study periods were part of the education program.

THE HOSPITAL employed 356 full-time and part-time workers in all departments, including nursing, laboratory, education, maintenance, X-ray, medical records, business office, housekeeping, dietary, laundry and others.

Major improvements of 1958 were the purchase and remodeling of a W. 5th St. residence for student nurses, the addition of two batteries of coffee urns for the main kitchen and dictating equipment for the X-ray department, Miss Robinson said.

Full accreditation was continued by the Joint Commission on Accreditation of Hospitals, following a survey of City Hospital.

The work of the Hospital Auxiliary was continued throughout the year in activities in the Hospitality Center, wrapping bandages, weekly visitations to patients with magazines and books along with donations of floor lamps, wheel chairs, an aspirator, overbed and bedside tables, baby chairs and tables and other equipment.

New Organization Plan Voted; Merchants To Name Officers

Plans were launched for election of new officers after the East Liverpool Merchants Association approved a proposal to adopt a new organization structure at a meeting Tuesday in the Chamber of Commerce office.

William Kozel, chairman, was empowered to name a nominating committee which will present a slate of candidates—at least two for each office—at the next meeting April 7.

The group will name a president, vice president and treasurer. After the slate is presented to the association, nominations will be opened from the floor. Names of the nominees will be listed on ballots that will be mailed to the members shortly afterward.

The ballots will be voted and returned in time to be counted before the May meeting. The new officers will assume their duties in June.

In the principal change, the reorganization eliminates the present Board of Directors, which is comprised of members elected according to business classifications. It calls for appointment of a new executive committee, comprised of the ELMA officers, two members appointed by the Chamber Board of Trustees and two selected by the merchant's chairman, subject to approval of the general membership.

The vice chairman of the association would head the executive committee. The reorganization plan was submitted to the association at its February meeting. Later, a bulletin was mailed to the entire membership explaining the proposal in advance of yesterday's vote.

In other business, a committee outlined plans for a general end-of-the-month sale arranged by the association for the end of March. Plans call for a similar sales promotion at the end of each month. In the past, month-end sales have been held by individual stores, but there never was a general promotion.

Howard Arb, proprietor of Arb Motors on Pennsylvania Ave., was introduced as a new member of the Chamber.

First-Hand Look

LOCKPORT, N. Y. (AP) — Niagara County needs a skeleton in its closet to help jurors understand complicated civil cases involving human anatomy, the Lockport Bar Assn., says. The association hopes to present a skeleton to the county soon, probably a synthetic one.

Drunk 'Repeaters' To Serve 5 Days, Brokaw Decrees

Apparently tired of seeing the same old faces in his court every morning, Municipal Judge George L. Brokaw asserted Tuesday that "repeaters" on intoxication charges should "lay out" five full days in the city jail if they do not have the money to pay the usual $10 fine and $6 costs.

The judge said he made the comment because he noted some intoxication defendants were returning to his court in far less than five days, although they had not paid their fines.

Confronted with a couple of familiar faces yesterday, the judge said: "These men are supposed to stay five days in jail, but somebody lets them out. I think I will devise some special punishment for those who return time after time in less than five days."

He questioned one of yesterday's defendants, who had been in court for intoxication Saturday. The man explained he helped clean the jail Sunday and Monday and was released Monday after washing two police cruisers.

"Well, that's all right," the judge replied.

Tank Was Leaky

SPRINGFIELD, Ohio (AP) —When service station attendants discovered 1,740 gallons of gasoline had unaccountably vanished from a storage tank, authorities were called in. Their conclusion: the tank leaked.

Births, Operations Decrease

Admissions Gain At City Hospital

Admissions to City Hospital in 1958 totaled 8,973, continuing an increase trend, but the number of operations and births showed a slight decrease compared to 1957, the annual hospital report shows.

Miss Nell Robinson, superintendent, said admissions last year amounted to 201 more than the 8,772 reported in 1957.

The total number of patient days —the number of patients multiplied by the days they stayed—was 56,672, another decline from the 57,098 of the previous year, which may have been an all-time record.

THE DECREASE in patient days along with the increase in admissions indicates shorter stays in the hospital for patients. The average stay was 6.338 days, according to Miss Robinson.

Births totaled 1,391 — 689 boys and 702 girls — compared to the 1957 total of 1,501. Seventeen sets of twins were born last year, up four sets from the year before. There were 74 premature births, compared to 80 previously.

Surgical cases amounted to 2,593 —938 major operations, including 92 caesarians, and 1,655 minor operations, including 695 tonsillectomies.

There were 67,401 laboratory tests conducted, 62,468 for in patients and 4,933 for out patients. Laboratory tests in 1957 totaled 66,497.

THERE WERE 9,959 patients X-rayed, compared to 8,790 in 1957.

Deaths last year amounted to only one less than the 302 for 1957, and included 26 stillbirths. This mortality rate, considering the increase in admissions, was a decline, and compares favorably with other hospitals, Miss Robinson said.

Meals served by the dietary department totaled 188,840. Of the 144,331 served to patients, 37,891 trays were for special diets.

The total number of days of nursing service was 45,820.

There were 51 students enrolled in the School of Nursing, with 21 students admitted in November. Some 400 hours of ward supervision, counseling and supervised study periods were part of the education program.

THE HOSPITAL employed 356 full-time and part-time workers in all departments, including nursing, laboratory, education, maintenance, X-ray, medical records, business office, housekeeping, dietary, laundry and others.

Major improvements of 1958 were the purchase and remodeling of a W. 5th St. residence for student nurses, the addition of two batteries of coffee urns for the main kitchen and dictating equipment for the X-ray department, Miss Robinson said.

Full accreditation was continued by the Joint Commission on Accreditation of Hospitals, following a survey of City Hospital.

The work of the Hospital Auxiliary was continued throughout the year in activities in the Hospitality Center, wrapping bandages, weekly visitations to patients with magazines and books along with donations of floor lamps, wheel chairs, an aspirator, overbed and bedside tables, baby chairs and tables and other equipment.

New Organization Plan Voted; Merchants To Name Officers

Plans were launched for election of new officers after the East Liverpool Merchants Association approved a proposal to adopt a new organization structure at a meeting Tuesday in the Chamber of Commerce office.

William Kozel, chairman, was empowered to name a nominating committee which will present a slate of candidates—at least two for each office—at the next meeting April 7.

The group will name a president, vice president and treasurer. After the slate is presented to the association, nominations will be opened from the floor. Names of the nominees will be listed on ballots that will be mailed to the members shortly afterward.

The ballots will be voted and returned in time to be counted before the May meeting. The new officers will assume their duties in June.

In the principal change, the reorganization eliminates the present Board of Directors, which is comprised of members elected according to business classifications. It calls for appointment of a new executive committee, comprised of the ELMA officers, two members appointed by the Chamber Board of Trustees and two selected by the merchant's chairman, subject to approval of the general membership.

The vice chairman of the association would head the executive committee. The reorganization plan was submitted to the association at its February meeting. Later, a bulletin was mailed to the entire membership explaining the proposal in advance of yesterday's vote.

In other business, a committee outlined plans for a general end-of-the-month sale arranged by the association for the end of March. Plans call for a similar sales promotion at the end of each month. In the past, month-end sales have been held by individual stores, but there never was a general promotion.

Howard Arb, proprietor of Arb Motors on Pennsylvania Ave., was introduced as a new member of the Chamber.

First-Hand Look

LOCKPORT, N. Y. (AP) — Niagara County needs a skeleton in its closet to help jurors understand complicated civil cases involving human anatomy, the Lockport Bar Assn., says. The association hopes to present a skeleton to the county soon, probably a synthetic one.

Drunk 'Repeaters' To Serve 5 Days, Brokaw Decrees

Apparently tired of seeing the same old faces in his court every morning, Municipal Judge George L. Brokaw asserted Tuesday that "repeaters" on intoxication charges should "lay out" five full days in the city jail if they do not have the money to pay the usual $10 fine and $6 costs.

The judge said he made the comment because he noted some intoxication defendants were returning to his court in far less than five days, although they had not paid their fines.

Confronted with a couple of familiar faces yesterday, the judge said: "These men are supposed to stay five days in jail, but somebody lets them out. I think I will devise some special punishment for those who return time after time in less than five days."

He questioned one of yesterday's defendants, who had been in court for intoxication Saturday. The man explained he helped clean the jail Sunday and Monday and was released Monday after washing two police cruisers.

"Well, that's all right," the judge replied.

Tank Was Leaky

SPRINGFIELD, Ohio (AP) —When service station attendants discovered 1,740 gallons of gasoline had unaccountably vanished from a storage tank, authorities were called in. Their conclusion: the tank leaked.

Simple Grammar Rules Often Violated

Most adults speak and write with grammatical correctness. If we know a person very well, we may hardly notice if he or she should violate some simple rules of grammar. If we observe a grammatical error in the speech of a new acquaintance, we incline to classify this person as having very little education. So likely are we to jump at this conclusion that we may classify some persons who have had considerable education — a college degree or higher — as nearly or wholly illiterate. The kind of error he might make is use of the nominative case instead of the objective case after a preposition, a common error.

By Garry Meyers

AS AN example, consider the following:

Among we three girls. That's what they said to he and I.

This should read: Among us three girls. That's what they said to her and me.

On almost any day one can hear this type of error from eminent radio and TV announcers, even statesmen. It seems to be the chief grammatical error that years of college and university education have not exterminated. From such eminent persons you hardly would hear such statements as: Him and me did it. Them and us waited. Her and me were glad.

THE CHILD 8 or 10 may make this type of error but he might easily avoid this mistake if he heard the correct form repeated often. The radio announcer or statesman could correct himself in a jiffy if he realized that a preposition is followed by an object, something he should know.

I propose that one of the TV networks put on a national program on this subject and thus improve literacy on the air.

The child over 8 or 10 who cares to acquire correct grammar usage, could, in a few lessons, master some basic rules to guide himself. Subject and verb number-agreement and when to use the nominative or objective case are the most he would need to learn.

PARENTS UNSURE of their own grammar might quietly master these simple rules and thus be able to aid the child who really wanted their help.

My bulletin, "Common Grammatical Mistakes by Parents and Children," may be had by sending a self - addressed, stamped envelope to me in care of this newspaper.

Khrushchev

Khrushchev responded to a welcome from East Germany's Premier Otto Grotewohl and Communist party leader Walter Ulbright. Officially he is here to visit the trade fair in Leipzig, 110 miles from Berlin.

Khrushchev told the welcoming party that a peace treaty with Germany is now "most necessary." His words were relayed by the official East German ADN news agency.

He said his talks with Macmillan were fruitful. Naturally the viewpoints were not the same but in any case each now knew better the standpoint of the other, he said.

Grotewohl welcomed the Soviet leader with a declaration that his visit "will provide the opportunity to discuss questions connected with the conclusion of a peace treaty and other problems affecting Germany, such as the Berlin question."

Grotewohl demanded "the creation of democratic conditions in West Berlin"—meaning the Soviet plan to end the city's four-power status to cut it off from protection of the United States, Britain and France.

There were indications that the Soviet premier would use the trip to the Red-ruled half of divided Germany to insist once more on summit talks to write peace treaties for East and West Germany.

In London, responsible British sources foresaw the possibility the U.S.S.R. might negotiate a separate peace treaty with East Germany even before the proposed East-West foreign ministers' meeting in April. One authoritative informant said this would create a highly dangerous situation.

East German Communist leaders prepared a warm welcome for the Soviet premier and predicted he would make major policy pronouncements during his stay.

Khrushchev's visit ostensibly is to attend the Leipzig spring trade fair.

An East German spokesman said the Soviet leader would deliver one open-air speech in a stadium holding 100,000 persons.

Khrushchev's program has not been announced, but he was expected to remain over the weekend, with plenty of time for talks with top East German officials. Moscow sources indicated he would go on to East Berlin.

Veteran Committee Pushes Plans For New City Memorial

Planning chairmen were selected when a joint committee from veterans' organizations met Tuesday night in the home of American Legion Post 374 to further plans for erecting a permanent memorial honoring veterans of all wars.

The 13 representatives also briefly discussed a fund raising campaign and selection of a name for the memorial.

Probate Judge Louis Tobin of American Legion Post 4 was named honorary chairman of the committee, with Wilbur Harmon of Post 374 as chairman.

Others named are Ralph Twyford of the Marine Corps League, vice chairman; Louis Krawiec of Post 374, secretary; Christ Pallis of Post 4, names chairman, and Al Caruso of the Disabled American Veterans, and Ferrall Martin of Veterans of Foreign Wars, publicity chairmen. Judge Tobin was also named finance chairman.

It was announced that Robert Beatty, architect, has agreed to donate his services in preparing plans for the proposed memorial, which would replace a wooden honor roll honoring World War II veterans and now standing in front of City Hall.

The location and type of memorial have not been decided, the committee said. Members plan to view memorials in other cities before making the final decision.

Bob Poynter of Post 374, who was temporary chairman, presided. Date for the next meeting will be announced later. Others on the memorial committee include Carl M. Turk, Paul Brand, Robert M. Kelly, Louis Skvarka, John Ruhe and John Wright.

Freeway

questions were posed" in connection with the proposal by both the Highway Department and the Bridge Commission. For instance, extending the length of the freeway's first stage would mean that more state and federal funds would have to be made available.

Another question, because of the separate jurisdictions of the Bridge Commission and the Highway Department, concerns the point at which the freeway would end technically and the approach section would begin.

Discussing the proposal for a 3rd St. route for the freeway, the mayor said if the 2nd St. area is used the four-lane road would cut off access to the Pennsylvania Railroad Co. tracks as well as the river. If the 3rd St. route is used, the large riverfront area would be open for potential industrial or commercial development, he added.

Michael Baker Jr., Inc., the Rochester engineering concern drawing the plans for the freeway, already has made a survey that indicates it would pass through W. 3rd and Monroe whether the balance of the route follows 2nd St. or 3rd St., the mayor said.

The 2nd St. route was shown in the Baker concern's "arterial highway survey" released in November 1955, which originally proposed the crosstown freeway as the major part of the solution of the city's traffic problems.

The mayor pointed out the City Planning Commission already has proposed 3rd St. "informally" as the route for the freeway in its path from W. 3rd and Monroe to the bridge.

The local delegation also turned over to Rep. Robert Longsworth of Carroll County copies of a tentative bill scheduled for introduction in the General Assembly restoring tolls to the bridge. He will introduce the measure in place of Rep. Clarence Wetzel of Columbiana County, who is in Salem City Hospital recovering from an appendectomy.

The mayor emphasized again that the bill is being introduced for use only in the event the city and the state agree to restore tolls to the bridge. But it must be filed by Thursday, which is the deadline for presenting any bill the legislature will consider in the next two years, the mayor said. If the city and the state drop or revise the toll plan, the bill can be withdrawn or amended, he explained.

full control of the Berlin supply routes.

One of the dangers in the situation, according to informed diplomats, is that both East and West have landed themselves in "prestige position" over Germany.

As far as the U.S.S.R. is concerned, the position on Germany is believed to be a personal policy of Khrushchev.

A ranking Communist diplomat was quoted: "the Soviet program on Germany and Berlin is Khrushchev's personal policy to the same extent as his drives to boost corn production and to reshuffle industrial management in this country."

Officers said Crowl, headed west, lost control of his car and skidded into the oncoming auto of Firestone. Crowl returned home before officers arrived, but had notified the post he will furnish a report today.

Charles Stroup, 21, of 512 Grant St., Newell, was cited after his car hit the rear of another on County Rd. 424 a half mile southeast of Glenmoor yesterday about noon.

Officers said Stroup hit the car driven by George Shuffert, 42, of R. D. 1, who was making a left turn. Stroup was charged with failure to stop in the assured clear distance.

Paula Hanselman, 6, of Lisbon R. D. 5 was treated for bruises and abrasions by a physician after she ran against the rear wheels of a passing dump truck on County Rd. 419 near Brookside Park on Route 7 yesterday morning. Officers said the truck was operated by William Shinton, 26, of near East Liverpool.

The patrol said Dillon went through the intersection left of center and hit the oncoming station wagon driven by Edison Napier, 43, of Alliance.

Cinder Truck Skids Into Auto In Ditch

An auto which had skidded into a ditch was struck by a state truck when it slid from an icy road three miles northeast of Rochester about 2 a. m. today.

Pennsylvania State Police at Rochester said the motorist, George Yute, 21, of Industry R. D. had landed in the ditch and a cindering truck of the State Highway Department came by then slid into the car as the driver, Ernest Vallecorsa of Baden, attempted to stop to help the stranded motorist. Police estimated $200 damage.

On top of the box they buried four sticks of dynamite which they hoped would discourage anyone from digging farther in event the burial site was located.

They added they dug up ground in the nearby chapel cemetery to divert anyone seeking the buried box. They said the dynamite was obtained from a farmer one of them had worked for last summer.

During the burying project, the girl was blindfolded and one of the men played the piano in the chapel, they told deputies. The men said the project was not done "on the spur of the moment" and said none of them had been drinking. They said they had been considering the "time capsule" project for a couple of years.

The decided on the burial Sunday because Kinney is scheduled to enter the service shortly. They went to Pittsburgh later Sunday to visit the Carnegie Museum to study Greek and Roman architecture, and reported to the sheriff's office when they learned they were being sought.

The investigation of the burial stemmed from a report from a man in the chapel neighborhood, who said he saw the group digging at the site. They were traced by the name of one of the trio found on the cards in the box.

Macmillan is expected to fly here late next week. He told newsmen in London Tuesday he hoped to talk with Eisenhower by the middle of the month.

Hagerty, queried about the purpose of the meeting, said "it certainly is to talk about the situation in Berlin." He added "And I would assume his trip to Moscow."

New Trial Slated In Snooper Case

A retrial March 23 was set Tuesday in Hancock County Circuit Court at New Cumberland for a $50,000 suit filed by Mrs. Adeline Roach of Chester, involving an alleged listening device in her apartment. She claims damages for invasion of privacy.

The action was brought against William W. Harper, from whom she said she rented a Carolina Ave. apartment in Chester three years ago.

The suit was dismissed last year by the Hancock court, but the State Supreme Court disagreed and sent the case back to the lower court.

The Chester woman contends that sometime before Aug. 1, 1956, a listening device had been installed in an electric receptacle box in a room in her apartment with a receiver in Harper's quarters. Mrs. Roach said she did not learn of the situation until Feb. 12, 1957.

The decree dismissing the case in Hancock Court sustained Harper's contention that the suit was insufficient because there was no allegation that any conversation was repeated or published.

The Supreme Court held that eavesdropping on private conversation in a person's room by means of a hidden listening device is grounds for suit for invasion of privacy, and reinstated the case.

It seems to be the chief grammatical error that years of college and university education have not exterminated. From such eminent persons you hardly would hear such statements as: Him and me did it. Them and us waited. Her and me were glad.

THE CHILD 8 or 10 may make this type of error but he might easily avoid this mistake if he heard the correct form repeated often. The radio announcer or statesman could correct himself in a jiffy if he realized that a preposition is followed by an object, something he should know.

I propose that one of the TV networks put on a national program on this subject and thus improve literacy on the air.

The child over 8 or 10 who cares to acquire correct grammar usage, could, in a few lessons, master some basic rules to guide himself. Subject and verb number-agreement and when to use the nominative or objective case are the most he would need to learn.

PARENTS UNSURE of their own grammar might quietly master these simple rules and thus be able to aid the child who really wanted their help.

My bulletin, "Common Grammatical Mistakes by Parents and Children," may be had by sending a self - addressed, stamped envelope to me in care of this newspaper.

Khrushchev

Khrushchev responded to a welcome from East Germany's Premier Otto Grotewohl and Communist party leader Walter Ulbright. Officially he is here to visit the trade fair in Leipzig, 110 miles from Berlin.

Khrushchev told the welcoming party that a peace treaty with Germany is now "most necessary." His words were relayed by the official East German ADN news agency.

He said his talks with Macmillan were fruitful. Naturally the viewpoints were not the same but in any case each now knew better the standpoint of the other, he said.

Grotewohl welcomed the Soviet leader with a declaration that his visit "will provide the opportunity to discuss questions connected with the conclusion of a peace treaty and other problems affecting Germany, such as the Berlin question."

Grotewohl demanded "the creation of democratic conditions in West Berlin"—meaning the Soviet plan to end the city's four-power status to cut it off from protection of the United States, Britain and France.

There were indications that the Soviet premier would use the trip to the Red-ruled half of divided Germany to insist once more on summit talks to write peace treaties for East and West Germany.

In London, responsible British sources foresaw the possibility the U.S.S.R. might negotiate a separate peace treaty with East Germany even before the proposed East-West foreign ministers' meeting in April. One authoritative informant said this would create a highly dangerous situation.

East German Communist leaders prepared a warm welcome for the Soviet premier and predicted he would make major policy pronouncements during his stay.

Khrushchev's visit ostensibly is to attend the Leipzig spring trade fair.

An East German spokesman said the Soviet leader would deliver one open-air speech in a stadium holding 100,000 persons.

Khrushchev's program has not been announced, but he was expected to remain over the weekend, with plenty of time for talks with top East German officials. Moscow sources indicated he would go on to East Berlin.

Veteran Committee Pushes Plans For New City Memorial

Planning chairmen were selected when a joint committee from veterans' organizations met Tuesday night in the home of American Legion Post 374 to further plans for erecting a permanent memorial honoring veterans of all wars.

The 13 representatives also briefly discussed a fund raising campaign and selection of a name for the memorial.

Probate Judge Louis Tobin of American Legion Post 4 was named honorary chairman of the committee, with Wilbur Harmon of Post 374 as chairman.

Others named are Ralph Twyford of the Marine Corps League, vice chairman; Louis Krawiec of Post 374, secretary; Christ Pallis of Post 4, names chairman, and Al Caruso of the Disabled American Veterans, and Ferrall Martin of Veterans of Foreign Wars, publicity chairmen. Judge Tobin was also named finance chairman.

It was announced that Robert Beatty, architect, has agreed to donate his services in preparing plans for the proposed memorial, which would replace a wooden honor roll honoring World War II veterans and now standing in front of City Hall.

The location and type of memorial have not been decided, the committee said. Members plan to view memorials in other cities before making the final decision.

Bob Poynter of Post 374, who was temporary chairman, presided. Date for the next meeting will be announced later. Others on the memorial committee include Carl M. Turk, Paul Brand, Robert M. Kelly, Louis Skvarka, John Ruhe and John Wright.

questions were posed" in connection with the proposal by both the Highway Department and the Bridge Commission. For instance, extending the length of the freeway's first stage would mean that more state and federal funds would have to be made available.

Another question, because of the separate jurisdictions of the Bridge Commission and the Highway Department, concerns the point at which the freeway would end technically and the approach section would begin.

Discussing the proposal for a 3rd St. route for the freeway, the mayor said if the 2nd St. area is used the four-lane road would cut off access to the Pennsylvania Railroad Co. tracks as well as the river. If the 3rd St. route is used, the large riverfront area would be open for potential industrial or commercial development, he added.

Michael Baker Jr., Inc., the Rochester engineering concern drawing the plans for the freeway, already has made a survey that indicates it would pass through W. 3rd and Monroe whether the balance of the route follows 2nd St. or 3rd St., the mayor said.

The 2nd St. route was shown in the Baker concern's "arterial highway survey" released in November 1955, which originally proposed the crosstown freeway as the major part of the solution of the city's traffic problems.

The mayor pointed out the City Planning Commission already has proposed 3rd St. "informally" as the route for the freeway in its path from W. 3rd and Monroe to the bridge.

The local delegation also turned over to Rep. Robert Longsworth of Carroll County copies of a tentative bill scheduled for introduction in the General Assembly restoring tolls to the bridge. He will introduce the measure in place of Rep. Clarence Wetzel of Columbiana County, who is in Salem City Hospital recovering from an appendectomy.

The mayor emphasized again that the bill is being introduced for use only in the event the city and the state agree to restore tolls to the bridge. But it must be filed by Thursday, which is the deadline for presenting any bill the legislature will consider in the next two years, the mayor said. If the city and the state drop or revise the toll plan, the bill can be withdrawn or amended, he explained.

full control of the Berlin supply routes.

One of the dangers in the situation, according to informed diplomats, is that both East and West have landed themselves in "prestige position" over Germany.

As far as the U.S.S.R. is concerned, the position on Germany is believed to be a personal policy of Khrushchev.

A ranking Communist diplomat was quoted: "the Soviet program on Germany and Berlin is Khrushchev's personal policy to the same extent as his drives to boost corn production and to reshuffle industrial management in this country."

Granite is one of the hardest rocks found on earth. A special cast iron containing nickel is necessary to cut granite.

Officers said Crowl, headed west, lost control of his car and skidded into the oncoming auto of Firestone. Crowl returned home before officers arrived, but had notified the post he will furnish a report today.

Charles Stroup, 21, of 512 Grant St., Newell, was cited after his car hit the rear of another on County Rd. 424 a half mile southeast of Glenmoor yesterday about noon.

Officers said Stroup hit the car driven by George Shuffert, 42, of R. D. 1, who was making a left turn. Stroup was charged with failure to stop in the assured clear distance.

Paula Hanselman, 6, of Lisbon R. D. 5 was treated for bruises and abrasions by a physician after she ran against the rear wheels of a passing dump truck on County Rd. 419 near Brookside Park on Route 7 yesterday morning. Officers said the truck was operated by William Shinton, 26, of near East Liverpool.

Cinder Truck Skids Into Auto In Ditch

An auto which had skidded into a ditch was struck by a state truck when it slid from an icy road three miles northeast of Rochester about 2 a. m. today.

Pennsylvania State Police at Rochester said the motorist, George Yute, 21, of Industry R. D. had landed in the ditch and a cindering truck of the State Highway Department came by then slid into the car as the driver, Ernest Vallecorsa of Baden, attempted to stop to help the stranded motorist. Police estimated $200 damage.

On top of the box they buried four sticks of dynamite which they hoped would discourage anyone from digging farther in event the burial site was located.

They added they dug up ground in the nearby chapel cemetery to divert anyone seeking the buried box. They said the dynamite was obtained from a farmer one of them had worked for last summer.

During the burying project, the girl was blindfolded and one of the men played the piano in the chapel, they told deputies. The men said the project was not done "on the spur of the moment" and said none of them had been drinking. They said they had been considering the "time capsule" project for a couple of years.

The decided on the burial Sunday because Kinney is scheduled to enter the service shortly. They went to Pittsburgh later Sunday to study Greek and Roman architecture, and reported to the sheriff's office when they learned they were being sought.

The investigation of the burial stemmed from a report from a man in the chapel neighborhood, who said he saw the group digging at the site. They were traced by the name of one of the trio found on the cards in the box.

New Trial Slated In Snooper Case

A retrial March 23 was set Tuesday in Hancock County Circuit Court at New Cumberland for a $50,000 suit filed by Mrs. Adeline Roach of Chester, involving an alleged listening device in her apartment. She claims damages for invasion of privacy.

The action was brought against William W. Harper, from whom she said she rented a Carolina Ave. apartment in Chester three years ago.

The suit was dismissed last year by the Hancock court, but the State Supreme Court disagreed and sent the case back to the lower court.

The Chester woman contends that sometime before Aug. 1, 1956, a listening device had been installed in an electric receptacle box in a room in her apartment with a receiver in Harper's quarters. Mrs. Roach said she did not learn of the situation until Feb. 12, 1957.

The decree dismissing the case in Hancock Court sustained Harper's contention that the suit was insufficient because there was no allegation that any conversation was repeated or published.

The Supreme Court held that eavesdropping on private conversation in a person's room by means of a hidden listening device is grounds for suit for invasion of privacy, and reinstated the case.

A. F. Laneve Re-elected Head Of Retarded Children Council

Anthony F. Laneve of Newell was returned as president of the North Hancock County Council for Retarded Children at a meeting Tuesday night in the Newell American Legion home.

Others elected were Mrs. Twyla Finley, vice president; Mrs. Thelma Merriman, recording secretary; Mrs. Ann Smusz, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Nancy Laneve, treasurer; Mrs. Priscilla Wellington, historian, and John Brown, chaplain.

Officers were elected by acclamation from a list prepared by a nominating committee headed by Mrs. Leah Willison.

In other business, the president reported that the County Board of Education has approved attendance of four children—three from Newell and one from New Cumberland—at a special class being held in Weirton.

Expenses of transporting the children in private autos and the salary of a teacher's assistant are being paid by the Council, Laneve reported.

Mrs. Smusz read a letter from Miss Callie Tsapis, county representative in the House of Delegates at Charleston, pledging support of an educational bill when it arrives on the floor in the legislature. The bill carries a clause with regard to education for the mentally retarded.

Installation of officers was set for April 7 at 8 p. m. in the Chester American Legion home. Mrs. Steve Kondik of Weirton, an assistant teacher for the special class there, will serve as installing officer.

Mrs. Dorothy Smith and Mrs. Willison were appointed in charge of refreshments for the next meeting. Prayer was offered by Mrs. Finley.

26 Are Killed, Scores Wounded In Africa Strife

BLANTYRE, Nyasaland (AP) — Strong security forces today tried to crush a wave of militant African nationalism the British government charged was instigated to massacre white settlers.

Screaming vampire jets and armored cars were called out to break up riots Tuesday that resulted in 26 African dead and scores of wounded, including 32 nationalists and several policemen.

Crowds gathered menacingly all over this sprawling British East African protectorate — roused to a fighting temper by the arrest of nationalist leader Dr. Hastings Banda.

The rioters were accused of using women and children as human shields in a raid on a prison at Mzimba to free a number of African nationalists.

The uprising shook the British government in London. Opposition Laborites in the House of Commons warned of "another Cyprus."

Colonial Secretary Alan Lennox-Boyd defended the proclamation of a state of emergency in the protectorate populated by 3 million blacks and only 6,000 whites. He declared the government had uncovered African plans for a massacre.

The arrest of Banda, 54, who describes himself as "the extremist of the extremists" but against violence, was followed by the roundup of more than 100 nationalist leaders. The government banned their organization, the African National party.

Lawrence Rudder presided in the absence of Dr. William Banfield, president, who is vacationing in Florida. The next meeting will be April 6.

Simple Grammar Rules Often Violated

Most adults speak and write with grammatical correctness. If we know a person very well, we may hardly notice if he or she should violate some simple rules of grammar. If we observe a grammatical error in the speech of a new acquaintance, we incline to classify this person as having very little education. So likely are we to jump at this conclusion that we may classify some persons who have had considerable education — a college degree or higher — as nearly or wholly illiterate. The kind of error he might make is use of the nominative case instead of the objective case after a preposition, a common error.

AS AN example, consider the following:

Among we three girls. That's what they said to he and I.

This should read: Among us three girls. That's what they said to her and me.

On almost any day one can hear this type of error from eminent radio and TV announcers, even statesmen. It seems to be the chief grammatical error that years of college and university education have not exterminated. From such eminent persons you hardly would hear such statements as: Him and me did it. Them and us waited. Her and me were glad.

THE CHILD 8 or 10 may make this type of error but he might easily avoid this mistake if he heard the correct form repeated often. The radio announcer or statesman could correct himself in a jiffy if he realized that a preposition is followed by an object, something he should know.

I propose that one of the TV networks put on a national program on this subject and thus improve literacy on the air.

The child over 8 or 10 who cares to acquire correct grammar usage, could, in a few lessons, master some basic rules to guide himself. Subject and verb number-agreement and when to use the nominative or objective case are the most he would need to learn.

PARENTS UNSURE of their own grammar might quietly master these simple rules and thus be able to aid the child who really wanted their help.

My bulletin, "Common Grammatical Mistakes by Parents and Children," may be had by sending a self - addressed, stamped envelope to me in care of this newspaper.

Khrushchev responded to a welcome from East Germany's Premier Otto Grotewohl and Communist party leader Walter Ulbright. Officially he is here to visit the trade fair in Leipzig, 110 miles from Berlin.

Khrushchev told the welcoming party that a peace treaty with Germany is now "most necessary." His words were relayed by the official East German ADN news agency.

He said his talks with Macmillan were fruitful. Naturally the viewpoints were not the same but in any case each now knew better the standpoint of the other, he said.

Grotewohl welcomed the Soviet leader with a declaration that his visit "will provide the opportunity to discuss questions connected with the conclusion of a peace treaty and other problems affecting Germany, such as the Berlin question."

Grotewohl demanded "the creation of democratic conditions in West Berlin"—meaning the Soviet plan to end the city's four-power status to cut it off from protection of the United States, Britain and France.

There were indications that the Soviet premier would use the trip to the Red-ruled half of divided Germany to insist once more on summit talks to write peace treaties for East and West Germany.

In London, responsible British sources foresaw the possibility the U.S.S.R. might negotiate a separate peace treaty with East Germany even before the proposed East-West foreign ministers' meeting in April. One authoritative informant said this would create a highly dangerous situation.

East German Communist leaders prepared a warm welcome for the Soviet premier and predicted he would make major policy pronouncements during his stay.

Khrushchev's visit ostensibly is to attend the Leipzig spring trade fair.

An East German spokesman said the Soviet leader would deliver one open-air speech in a stadium holding 100,000 persons.

Khrushchev's program has not been announced, but he was expected to remain over the weekend, with plenty of time for talks with top East German officials. Moscow sources indicated he would go on to East Berlin.

Veteran Committee Pushes Plans For New City Memorial

Planning chairmen were selected when a joint committee from veterans' organizations met Tuesday night in the home of American Legion Post 374 to further plans for erecting a permanent memorial honoring veterans of all wars.

The 13 representatives also briefly discussed a fund raising campaign and selection of a name for the memorial.

Probate Judge Louis Tobin of American Legion Post 4 was named honorary chairman of the committee, with Wilbur Harmon of Post 374 as chairman.

Others named are Ralph Twyford of the Marine Corps League, vice chairman; Louis Krawiec of Post 374, secretary; Christ Pallis of Post 4, names chairman, and Al Caruso of the Disabled American Veterans, and Ferrall Martin of Veterans of Foreign Wars, publicity chairmen. Judge Tobin was also named finance chairman.

It was announced that Robert Beatty, architect, has agreed to donate his services in preparing plans for the proposed memorial, which would replace a wooden honor roll honoring World War II veterans and now standing in front of City Hall.

The location and type of memorial have not been decided, the committee said. Members plan to view memorials in other cities before making the final decision.

Bob Poynter of Post 374, who was temporary chairman, presided. Date for the next meeting will be announced later. Others on the memorial committee include Carl M. Turk, Paul Brand, Robert M. Kelly, Louis Skvarka, John Ruhe and John Wright.

questions were posed" in connection with the proposal by both the Highway Department and the Bridge Commission. For instance, extending the length of the freeway's first stage would mean that more state and federal funds would have to be made available.

Another question, because of the separate jurisdictions of the Bridge Commission and the Highway Department, concerns the point at which the freeway would end technically and the approach section would begin.

Discussing the proposal for a 3rd St. route for the freeway, the mayor said if the 2nd St. area is used the four-lane road would cut off access to the Pennsylvania Railroad Co. tracks as well as the river. If the 3rd St. route is used, the large riverfront area would be open for potential industrial or commercial development, he added.

Michael Baker Jr., Inc., the Rochester engineering concern drawing the plans for the freeway, already has made a survey that indicates it would pass through W. 3rd and Monroe whether the balance of the route follows 2nd St. or 3rd St., the mayor said.

The 2nd St. route was shown in the Baker concern's "arterial highway survey" released in November 1955, which originally proposed the crosstown freeway as the major part of the solution of the city's traffic problems.

The mayor pointed out the City Planning Commission already has proposed 3rd St. "informally" as the route for the freeway in its path from W. 3rd and Monroe to the bridge.

The local delegation also turned over to Rep. Robert Longsworth of Carroll County copies of a tentative bill scheduled for introduction in the General Assembly restoring tolls to the bridge. He will introduce the measure in place of Rep. Clarence Wetzel of Columbiana County, who is in Salem City Hospital recovering from an appendectomy.

The mayor emphasized again that the bill is being introduced for use only in the event the city and the state agree to restore tolls to the bridge. But it must be filed by Thursday, which is the deadline for presenting any bill the legislature will consider in the next two years, the mayor said. If the city and the state drop or revise the toll plan, the bill can be withdrawn or amended, he explained.

full control of the Berlin supply routes.

One of the dangers in the situation, according to informed diplomats, is that both East and West have landed themselves in "prestige position" over Germany.

As far as the U.S.S.R. is concerned, the position on Germany is believed to be a personal policy of Khrushchev.

A ranking Communist diplomat was quoted: "the Soviet program on Germany and Berlin is Khrushchev's personal policy to the same extent as his drives to boost corn production and to reshuffle industrial management in this country."

Officers said Crowl, headed west, lost control of his car and skidded into the oncoming auto of Firestone. Crowl returned home before officers arrived, but had notified the post he will furnish a report today.

Charles Stroup, 21, of 512 Grant St., Newell, was cited after his car hit the rear of another on County Rd. 424 a half mile southeast of Glenmoor yesterday about noon.

Officers said Stroup hit the car driven by George Shuffert, 42, of R. D. 1, who was making a left turn. Stroup was charged with failure to stop in the assured clear distance.

Paula Hanselman, 6, of Lisbon R. D. 5 was treated for bruises and abrasions by a physician after she ran against the rear wheels of a passing dump truck on County Rd. 419 near Brookside Park on Route 7 yesterday morning. Officers said the truck was operated by William Shinton, 26, of near East Liverpool.

Cinder Truck Skids Into Auto In Ditch

An auto which had skidded into a ditch was struck by a state truck when it slid from an icy road three miles northeast of Rochester about 2 a. m. today.

Pennsylvania State Police at Rochester said the motorist, George Yute, 21, of Industry R. D. had landed in the ditch and a cindering truck of the State Highway Department came by then slid into the car as the driver, Ernest Vallecorsa of Baden, attempted to stop to help the stranded motorist. Police estimated $200 damage.

pair of pedal pushers, a pair of glasses, cordovan shoes, a pair of levies, a merchandise stamp book, a clock set at 2:43, a March 1 proof page of the Canton Repository, a can of beer, a whisky glass, a white belt, a knob from a car radio and cards with printing.

On top of the box they buried four sticks of dynamite which they hoped would discourage anyone from digging farther in event the burial site was located.

They added they dug up ground in the nearby chapel cemetery to divert anyone seeking the buried box. They said the dynamite was obtained from a farmer one of them had worked for last summer.

During the burying project, the girl was blindfolded and one of the men played the piano in the chapel, they told deputies. The men said the project was not done "on the spur of the moment" and said none of them had been drinking. They said they had been considering the "time capsule" project for a couple of years.

The decided on the burial Sunday because Kinney is scheduled to enter the service shortly. They went to Pittsburgh later Sunday to visit the Carnegie Museum to study Greek and Roman architecture, and reported to the sheriff's office when they learned they were being sought.

The investigation of the burial stemmed from a report from a man in the chapel neighborhood, who said he saw the group digging at the site. They were traced by the name of one of the trio found on the cards in the box.

Macmillan is expected to fly here late next week. He told newsmen in London Tuesday he hoped to talk with Eisenhower by the middle of the month.

Hagerty, queried about the purpose of the meeting, said "it certainly is to talk about the situation in Berlin." He added "And I would assume his trip to Moscow."

New Trial Slated In Snooper Case

A retrial March 23 was set Tuesday in Hancock County Circuit Court at New Cumberland for a $50,000 suit filed by Mrs. Adeline Roach of Chester, involving an alleged listening device in her apartment. She claims damages for invasion of privacy.

The action was brought against William W. Harper, from whom she said she rented a Carolina Ave. apartment in Chester three years ago.

The suit was dismissed last year by the Hancock court, but the State Supreme Court disagreed and sent the case back to the lower court.

The Chester woman contends that sometime before Aug. 1, 1956, a listening device had been installed in an electric receptacle box in a room in her apartment with a receiver in Harper's quarters. Mrs. Roach said she did not learn of the situation until Feb. 12, 1957.

The decree dismissing the case in Hancock Court sustained Harper's contention that the suit was insufficient because there was no allegation that any conversation was repeated or published.

The Supreme Court held that eavesdropping on private conversation in a person's room by means of a hidden listening device is grounds for suit for invasion of privacy, and reinstated the case.

A. F. Laneve Re-elected Head Of Retarded Children Council

Anthony F. Laneve of Newell was returned as president of the North Hancock County Council for Retarded Children at a meeting Tuesday night in the Newell American Legion home.

Others elected were Mrs. Twyla Finley, vice president; Mrs. Thelma Merriman, recording secretary; Mrs. Ann Smusz, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Nancy Laneve, treasurer; Mrs. Priscilla Wellington, historian, and John Brown, chaplain.

Officers were elected by acclamation from a list prepared by a nominating committee headed by Mrs. Leah Willison.

In other business, the president reported that the County Board of Education has approved attendance of four children—three from Newell and one from New Cumberland—at a special class being held in Weirton.

Expenses of transporting the children in private autos and the salary of a teacher's assistant are being paid by the Council, Laneve reported.

Mrs. Smusz read a letter from Miss Callie Tsapis, county representative in the House of Delegates at Charleston, pledging support of an educational bill when it arrives on the floor in the legislature. The bill carries a clause with regard to education for the mentally retarded.

Installation of officers was set for April 7 at 8 p. m. in the Chester American Legion home. Mrs. Steve Kondik of Weirton, an assistant teacher for the special class there, will serve as installing officer.

Mrs. Dorothy Smith and Mrs. Willison were appointed in charge of refreshments for the next meeting. Prayer was offered by Mrs. Finley.

26 Are Killed, Scores Wounded In Africa Strife

BLANTYRE, Nyasaland (AP) — Strong security forces today tried to crush a wave of militant African nationalism the British government charged was instigated to massacre white settlers.

Screaming vampire jets and armored cars were called out to break up riots Tuesday that resulted in 26 African dead and scores of wounded, including 32 nationalists and several policemen.

Crowds gathered menacingly all over this sprawling British East African protectorate — roused to a fighting temper by the arrest of nationalist leader Dr. Hastings Banda.

The rioters were accused of using women and children as human shields in a raid on a prison at Mzimba to free a number of African nationalists.

The uprising shook the British government in London. Opposition Laborites in the House of Commons warned of "another Cyprus."

Colonial Secretary Alan Lennox-Boyd defended the proclamation of a state of emergency in the protectorate populated by 3 million blacks and only 6,000 whites. He declared the government had uncovered African plans for a massacre.

The arrest of Banda, 54, who describes himself as "the extremist of the extremists" but against violence, was followed by the roundup of more than 100 nationalist leaders. The government banned their organization, the African National party.

Out Of The Air

By JOHN CROSBY

An Exciting, Invigorating Experiment

John Crosby

In fact, it has been noticed that he harbors some of the best qualities (and some of the worst, too) of both those guys. Herridge was the producer and the fount of ideas for "Camera 3," which fashioned some tremendously exciting and brilliant programs on virtually no money.

Later he was producer on "Seven Lively Arts," which also did some exciting and brilliant programs with much too much money. He's had it both ways.

HE RUNS to opposites in a lot of other ways. During an evening with Herridge, he'll drown you in cascades of shattering eloquence punctuated by minutes of strangled incoherence when the sheer beauty of life almost silences him altogether.

It is at those times when Herridge talks in a kind of shorthand—sentences that have no predicates and virtually no meaning to anyone but himself—that some of his finest flights of televised fancy occur.

However, getting the ideas out of him and into the possession of more prosaic realists like directors and cameramen and actors has been a problem no one has quite solved yet.

At round-table conferences, when the sheer too-muchness of life and television overwhelm him, Herridge may drop his head on his arms and moan to the utter bewilderment of his assistants who frequently have no idea what's eating him.

IN SPITE of these picturesque idiosyncrasies and agonizing problems of sheer communication, Herridge is today one of the finest and most honest and most genuinely original producers in television.

Herridge productions, such as "The World of Nick Adams" or "The Sound of Jazz" for "Seven Lively Arts," or "Fifty Grand" for Kraft, or "The Ballad of Yermo Red" for "Studio 1," have an aura of taste and discrimination about them, as well as a fresh feel of genuine originality about them, which is extremely rare in television.

Herridge has just been made producer for a new experimental series called "A Theater for a Story," which will be taped and syndicated by CBS Films—and already it sounds like one of the most exciting new ideas to come along.

"THE REASON we're calling 'Theater for a Story' is because I'm in love with the short story form," he said. "A half hour always is leaping between character and situation—too long and too short. The short story fits into it perfectly and it has not begun to be exploited."

It'll be a small-budget show and nobody can do them better. Herridge bristles with experimental ideas.

"I have absolute freedom," he said. "That means a lot not only to the authors and directors but to actors. Bob Josephs already has called in to say he's interested. He and Bob Mulligan, Chris Plummer, and Jason Robards—they're all interested and they know we haven't much money."

Freedom is a powerful lure.

"WE CAN TAKE a chance because we can afford to take a chance," he continued. "We don't have that much money involved. The first show will be a jazz show like the 'Sound of Jazz.' I want to do a wild swinging show like the Fred Astaire show—originals and classics.

"I do feel there is a place on television for classics. Also I agree with you about repeating great TV shows. There have been a few really great shows that no one saw—they ought to be repeated. I'd like to try some of the things from the old Columbia Radio workshop for instance.

"If we succeed," he said, the words tumbling out, "maybe we can push television forward an inch or two. Now, television is no longer a means of expression. It is too expensive and too slick. It must be a means of expression for young writers and actors.

"Maybe I've got my head in a noose and don't know it. If this fails it will be my fault because I've always believed there can't be art by round table; art has to be an individual's single vision."

Fire Barriers In 2 Schools Cost $8,902

Board In Hancock Lets Jobs In Newell, Weirton Buildings

A bid of $8,902 for supplying additional fire and smoke barriers in two schools being renovated was accepted when the Hancock County Board of Education met Monday night in New Cumberland High School.

The board also acted on requests of high school principals for teachers to attend various meetings, employed a new school bus driver and set June 6 as the date for a picnic at Rock Springs Park in Chester.

The MacAnnallen Co. of Washington, Pa., was awarded the contract for furnishing additional fire protection at the Jefferson School in Newell and the Broadview building in Weirton, being remodeled.

The board also authorized a changed order for the Newell school, stipulating that ceramic tile be installed in all classrooms to locker height on the walls. The plan cost $587.

The builder's risk insurance was authorized for the construction of the new Pughtown elementary school. The policy includes fire and extended coverage and vandalism. Ground was broken at the site Monday by the Harry Turls firm of Weirton, general contractor.

Among requests authorized for principals were for Burdell Carey of Weirton, Max Tuttle of Chester, John Robison and Peter Horoszko of Newell and Charles Miller of New Cumberland, all athletic coaches, to attend a Coaches Association session in Huntington March 20.

Charles Morris, teacher at Chester High School, was granted permission to be absent from classes March 19-20. John Giannini of New Cumberland was authorized permission to attend a Guidance Association meeting in Cleveland March 23-24.

Miss Helen Petrakis, county 4-H club agent, was granted use of the New Cumberland High School auditorium April 25 for a program on health.

Employed as a full-time bus driver was Harry May of Chester.

Boilers in respective schools in the system were found to be in satisfactory condition following a recent inspection by the Hartford Steam Boiler firm, it was reported.

Tabloid-Sized Paper Slated In Columbus Strike

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Residents of this newspaper-famished city can expect limited distribution of a tabloid-sized newspaper this weekend and for the duration of a strike against the three Columbus dailies.

The Columbus Newspaper Guild announced plans to publish each weekday 25,000 copies of "The Daily News." The first distribution is tentatively scheduled for Friday morning.

The Dispatch and Citizen, afternoon newspapers, and the Journal, a morning paper, entered the sixth day today without publication due to a strike by some 70 members of the Columbus Web Pressmen's Local 15 over a contract dispute.

Profits from the Guild daily will be used to supplement strike benefits to Guild members who are furloughed because of the strike, the Guild said.

Meanwhile, publishers' and union representatives have agreed to meet Thursday to discuss a resumption of contract negotiations.

Publishers are offering a 9 per cent package wage increase in a two - year contract. The union wants a 12 per cent package increase and a one-year contract. But the main stumbling block appears to be the union's demand for extra premium pay for Saturday night work.

Dies Of Bullet Wound

CLEVELAND (AP) — Rudolph Carruthers, 25, shot in the back Sunday by a delicatessen owner who said Carruthers was trying to break into the shop, died Tuesday in Polyclinic Hospital. Frelon Adams, 51, owner of the delicatessen, told police he fired his .22-caliber revolver when he saw Carruthers trying to break into a rear door.

4 Persons Killed In Crash Of Plane

LEXINGTON, N.C. (AP) — A single-engine plane went into a spin and carried four persons to their deaths Tuesday.

The occupants were Ben E. Rudisill, 42, president and treasurer of the Carlton Yarn Mills at Cherryville; his wife, 37; Jack H. Scott, 35, general sales manager of the three Carlton mills; and Mrs. F. D. Quinn Jr., wife of the general manager of the Dora Yarn Mill at Cherryville.

Rudisill, who frequently flew on business trips, was a member of the board of directors of the American Cotton Manufacturers Institute. He was a past president of the Combed Yarn Spinners Assn.

Art Pioneer Claimed

ORLANDO, Fla. (AP) — Andre Smith, 79, who designed the Distinguished Service Cross for the U.S. government and was one of the pioneers of American art, died Tuesday. He was a director of the Art Research Studio at nearby Maitland. He was born in Hong Kong.

Gold was discovered in Montana in 1861.

Franklin Township Man New Chairman

LISBON — Carl N. Blake of Franklin Township was named chairman of the Columbiana County Health Advisory Council at the annual meeting Monday at the Courthouse at which the 1960 budget of $54,748 was approved as recommended by the County Health Board.

Blake succeeds Mayor Karl Lindner of Salineville.

Glenn Hawkins of near Rogers, a plumbing contractor, was named to complete the term of Fred Hopper of Glenmoor, Health Board member who recently resigned.

Johnson of Summitville was reappointed as a board member for a second 5-year term.

Mayor E. L. Calvin of Columbiana was elected vice chairman of the council, and R. R. Barber of Butler Township was retained as secretary.

The council approved the recommended budget of the Health Board, which calls for some $10,000 more than the present budget to hire a nurse and a plumbing inspector. Two have been laid off.

A 2-mill levy will be submitted, if commissioners consent, to provide the extra funds. If the levy fails, the nurse and inspector will not be hired.

Girl Killed By Car

HAMILTON, Ohio (AP)—Police say Joyce Lykins, 8, ran into Ohio 126 from behind a stopped car Tuesday and was struck and killed by another auto. The accident occurred in front of the girl's Morgan Twp. home.

Investigation Opens In Dive Of School Bus

TIFTON, Ga. (AP)—State and county investigators sought today to learn why a school bus tumbled from a dirt road into a pond, causing the drowning deaths of nine children.

It was not the bus Doyer Jones usually drove but a preliminary check showed the county-owned vehicle had no mechanical defects. Officials were baffled as to the reason the veteran 40-year-old driver lost control.

The bus careened off a road in south Georgia Tuesday. Nine Negro children perished before they could be lifted from the vehicle as it lay on its side in the shallow, muddy farm pond. Five of the victims were girls, four were boys. Their ages ranged from 7 to 14.

Jones' regular bus had seats for 54 students. The one he drove Tuesday could seat 48. Estimates as to the actual number of passengers varied from 60 to 90.

"It is virtually impossible to determine how many were aboard," said H. B. Allen, county school superintendent. "The driver normally would not take a count until the bus arrived at school."

Lisbon Hi-Y To Send 18 To Luncheon Event

LISBON — The Hi-Y Club will send 18 members to the 21st annual Civic Day luncheon March 10 at the Central YMCA in Youngstown. Some 825 youths and sponsors will hear Dr. Carl C. Bracy, president of Mt. Union College.

Civic Day is sponsored annually by the United Veterans' Council, the Board of Education and the Youngstown Y.

Some Ponderous Thoughts

Hail To The Fat Ones!

By HAL BOYLE

We are stirred to these questions by a letter from a reader with a problem.

The letter:

"Dear Sir:

"Recently you wrote in defense of fat men. Well, what about fat women?

"My girl friends criticize me because, according to their standards, I am 40 pounds overweight. But I feel fine and my husband says he likes me the way I am.

"Why do people laugh at fat ladies: What's so funny about them?"

It was signed: "Fat Lady."

The answer, of course, is there is nothing funny about fat ladies. They are delightful. Those who laugh at fat ladies, like those who laugh at fat men, are envious idiots.

They don't know what they are missing. You should laugh right back at them, fat lady.

The present vogue for slender dames is only a passing passion, a fad of the last quarter century. It was originated by beanpole male couturiers, many of whom hate women anyway and do their best to make them look ridiculous.

The natural man looks for an angle in everything in life except the ladies. But them he instinctively prefers in the round.

The Turkish sultans, noted connoisseurs in these matters, filled their harems with ladies who were living symbols of padded plenty.

What about Helen of Troy? Does anyone think that a Greek, then or now, would launch a thousand ships to go after a married gal who was built like a fence post?

And what about Cleopatra? It is true that she herself rolled up into a rug in order to get in to see Julius Caesar. But that doesn't argue she was thin. They had mighty big carpets in Egypt in those days.

And who have the most famous artists and sculptors preferred to immortalize in paint and stone? Chubby lasses, almost always. In the world of the arts—from Venus di Milo to Kate Smith and Mary Margaret McBride — the plump girls have been standouts.

A skinny dame has no more secrets than a goldfish. It is the plump dame who is a dimpled mystery and holds depths of unplumbed allure.

Let us admire fat ladies, not jeer at them or their girdle problems. To paraphrase Abraham Lincoln, God must have loved fat ladies—he made so many of them.

North Side Firehouse Will Reopen Tonight

The North Side fire station is expected to reopen tonight after being closed since Wednesday while repairs were made to a pumper assigned to Central station.

The station was closed so the truck could fill in at Central while Asst. Chief Alfred VanDyne installed a new clutch in the LaFrance pumper.

The department answered two minor alarms yesterday morning It was called to the home of Mrs. Ralph Tice, 1707 Idaho Ave., at 6:55 a. m. when a furnace motor burned out, filling the home with smoke.

Unavoidable Accident Ruled In Boy's Death

A coroner's jury ruled Monday night at an inquest that the death of a young Pughtown cyclist struck by an auto Saturday was an "unavoidable accident."

The victim, Sidney Allen Grimm, a fourth grade pupil in Pughtown school, was hit by an auto operated by George Arehart, 40, also of Pughtown. The accident occurred at an intersection near the Hancock County community. The youth died of injuries in the Weirton General Hospital.

The six-member panel was in session about an hour and heard testimony of James Reed, an eyewitness, Dr. George Naymick, county coroner, and Constable Joseph Manypenny of New Cumberland.

By JOHN CROSBY

An Exciting, Invigorating Experiment

John Crosby

In fact, it has been noticed that he harbors some of the best qualities (and some of the worst, too) of both those guys. Herridge was the producer and the fount of ideas for "Camera 3," which fashioned some tremendously exciting and brilliant programs on virtually no money.

Later he was producer on "Seven Lively Arts," which also did some exciting and brilliant programs with much too much money. He's had it both ways.

HE RUNS to opposites in a lot of other ways. During an evening with Herridge, he'll drown you in cascades of shattering eloquence punctuated by minutes of strangled incoherence when the sheer beauty of life almost silences him altogether.

It is at those times when Herridge talks in a kind of shorthand—sentences that have no predicates and virtually no meaning to anyone but himself—that some of his finest flights of televised fancy occur.

However, getting the ideas out of him and into the possession of more prosaic realists like directors and cameramen and actors has been a problem no one has quite solved yet.

At round-table conferences, when the sheer too-muchness of life and television overwhelm him, Herridge may drop his head on his arms and moan to the utter bewilderment of his assistants who frequently have no idea what's eating him.

IN SPITE of these picturesque idiosyncrasies and agonizing problems of sheer communication, Herridge is today one of the finest and most honest and most genuinely original producers in television.

Herridge productions, such as "The World of Nick Adams" or "The Sound of Jazz" for "Seven Lively Arts," or "Fifty Grand" for Kraft, or "The Ballad of Yermo Red" for "Studio 1," have an aura of taste and discrimination about them, as well as a fresh feel of genuine originality about them, which is extremely rare in television.

Herridge has just been made producer for a new experimental series called "A Theater for a Story," which will be taped and syndicated by CBS Films—and already it sounds like one of the most exciting new ideas to come along.

"THE REASON we're calling 'Theater for a Story' is because I'm in love with the short story form," he said. "A half hour always is leaping between character and situation—too long and too short. The short story fits into it perfectly and it has not begun to be exploited."

It'll be a small-budget show and nobody can do them better. Herridge bristles with experimental ideas.

"I have absolute freedom," he said. "That means a lot not only to the authors and directors but to actors. Bob Josephs already has called in to say he's interested. He and Bob Mulligan, Chris Plummer, and Jason Robards—they're all interested and they know we haven't much money."

Freedom is a powerful lure.

"WE CAN TAKE a chance because we can afford to take a chance," he continued. "We don't have that much money involved. The first show will be a jazz show like the 'Sound of Jazz.' I want to do a wild swinging show like the Fred Astaire show—originals and classics.

"I do feel there is a place on television for classics. Also I agree with you about repeating great TV shows. There have been a few really great shows that no one saw—they ought to be repeated. I'd like to try some of the things from the old Columbia Radio workshop for instance.

"If we succeed," he said, the words tumbling out, "maybe we can push television forward an inch or two. Now, television is no longer a means of expression. It is too expensive and too slick. It must be a means of expression for young writers and actors.

"Maybe I've got my head in a noose and don't know it. If this fails it will be my fault because I've always believed there can't be art by round table; art has to be an individual's single vision."

Fire Barriers In 2 Schools Cost $8,902

Board In Hancock Lets Jobs In Newell, Weirton Buildings

A bid of $8,902 for supplying additional fire and smoke barriers in two schools being renovated was accepted when the Hancock County Board of Education met Monday night in New Cumberland High School.

The board also acted on requests of high school principals for teachers to attend various meetings, employed a new school bus driver and set June 6 as the date for a picnic at Rock Springs Park in Chester.

The MacAnnallen Co. of Washington, Pa., was awarded the contract for furnishing additional fire protection at the Jefferson School in Newell and the Broadview building in Weirton, being remodeled.

The board also authorized a changed order for the Newell school, stipulating that ceramic tile be installed in all classrooms to locker height on the walls. The plan cost $587.

The builder's risk insurance was authorized for the construction of the new Pughtown elementary school. The policy includes fire and extended coverage and vandalism. Ground was broken at the site Monday by the Harry Turls firm of Weirton, general contractor.

Among requests authorized for principals were for Burdell Carey of Weirton, Max Tuttle of Chester, John Robison and Peter Horoszko of Newell and Charles Miller of New Cumberland, all athletic coaches, to attend a Coaches Association session in Huntington March 20.

Charles Morris, teacher at Chester High School, was granted permission to be absent from classes March 19-20. John Giannini of New Cumberland was authorized permission to attend a Guidance Association meeting in Cleveland March 23-24.

Miss Helen Petrakis, county 4-H club agent, was granted use of the New Cumberland High School auditorium April 25 for a program on health.

Employed as a full-time bus driver was Harry May of Chester.

Boilers in respective schools in the system were found to be in satisfactory condition following a recent inspection by the Hartford Steam Boiler firm, it was reported.

Tabloid-Sized Paper Slated In Columbus Strike

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Residents of this newspaper-famished city can expect limited distribution of a tabloid-sized newspaper this weekend and for the duration of a strike against the three Columbus dailies.

The Columbus Newspaper Guild announced plans to publish each weekday 25,000 copies of "The Daily News." The first distribution is tentatively scheduled for Friday morning.

The Dispatch and Citizen, afternoon newspapers, and the Journal, a morning paper, entered the sixth day today without publication due to a strike by some 70 members of the Columbus Web Pressmen's Local 15 over a contract dispute.

Profits from the Guild daily will be used to supplement strike benefits to Guild members who are furloughed because of the strike, the Guild said.

Meanwhile, publishers' and union representatives have agreed to meet Thursday to discuss a resumption of contract negotiations.

Publishers are offering a 9 per cent package wage increase in a two - year contract. The union wants a 12 per cent package increase and a one-year contract. But the main stumbling block appears to be the union's demand for extra premium pay for Saturday night work.

Dies Of Bullet Wound

CLEVELAND (AP) — Rudolph Carruthers, 25, shot in the back Sunday by a delicatessen owner who said Carruthers was trying to break into the shop, died Tuesday in Polyclinic Hospital. Frelon Adams, 51, owner of the delicatessen, told police he fired his .22-caliber revolver when he saw Carruthers trying to break into a rear door.

Health Group Picks Officers

Franklin Township Man New Chairman

LISBON — Carl N. Blake of Franklin Township was named chairman of the Columbiana County Health Advisory Council at the annual meeting Monday at the Courthouse at which the 1960 budget of $54,748 was approved as recommended by the County Health Board.

Blake succeeds Mayor Karl Lindner of Salineville.

Glenn Hawkins of near Rogers, a plumbing contractor, was named to complete the term of Fred Hopper of Glenmoor, Health Board member who recently resigned.

Johnson of Summitville was reappointed as a board member for a second 5-year term.

Mayor E. L. Calvin of Columbiana was elected vice chairman of the council, and R. R. Barber of Butler Township was retained as secretary.

The council approved the recommended budget of the Health Board, which calls for some $10,000 more than the present budget to hire a nurse and a plumbing inspector. Two have been laid off.

A 2-mill levy will be submitted, if commissioners consent, to provide the extra funds. If the levy fails, the nurse and inspector will not be hired.

Investigation Opens In Dive Of School Bus

TIFTON, Ga. (AP)—State and county investigators sought today to learn why a school bus tumbled from a dirt road into a pond, causing the drowning deaths of nine children.

It was not the bus Doyer Jones usually drove but a preliminary check showed the county-owned vehicle had no mechanical defects. Officials were baffled as to the reason the veteran 40-year-old driver lost control.

The bus careened off a road in south Georgia Tuesday. Nine Negro children perished before they could be lifted from the vehicle as it lay on its side in the shallow, muddy farm pond. Five of the victims were girls, four were boys. Their ages ranged from 7 to 14.

Jones' regular bus had seats for 54 students. The one he drove Tuesday could seat 48. Estimates as to the actual number of passengers varied from 60 to 90.

"It is virtually impossible to determine how many were aboard," said H. B. Allen, county school superintendent. "The driver normally would not take a count until the bus arrived at school."

Lenders Lose Enthusiasm

Government's Borrowing Poses Serious Problems

There is increasing talk in Washington that the Treasury's current borrowing problems may be the prelude to more serious trouble. The possibilities are canvassed in this, the third of four articles on financing the national debt.

By FRANK CORMIER

WASHINGTON (AP) — Managing a record national debt is like walking a high wire without the consolation of a safety net.

The footing is treacherous because lenders have lost much of their enthusiasm for Treasury securities — Uncle Sam's I.O.U.'s. Fearing rising interest rates and the possibility of inflation, they're reluctant to make loans on anything but a short term basis.

Unfortunately, Uncle Sam now has to borrow more money than ever before—just when lenders are balky. The national debt already has reached about 286 billion dollars and is headed higher, if only temporarily.

Real trouble could develop out of the fact that the Treasury has had to do most of its recent borrowing on a short term basis. This is the type of borrowing which holds the greatest inflation potential because bank credit is the biggest single source of short-term loans.

Perhaps more important, short-term loans have to be refinanced (that is, the money has to be borrowed again) almost before Uncle Sam can draw a breath.

Since last July, the Treasury has raised new cash and renewed old loans amounting to 53¾ billion dollars. Except for about 2¼ billion dollars, all of this was obtained on a short term basis.

More than 33 billion dollars of the loans obtained or renewed since last July will come due between now and Dec. 31.

Adding to the problem, about two billion dollars of loans obtained before last July also will come due. And the government will have to raise about 10 billion dollars in new cash—more if the budget for the fiscal year beginning July 1 is in the red.

What if the Treasury has to do all this 1959 borrowing on a short term basis?

At the end of 1958, the Treasury figured that 72½ billion dollars of the national debt would come due within one year. That includes regular weekly issues of Treasury securities not counted in the figures given earlier.

If, during the rest of 1959, the government could obtain no loans for a period longer than one year, this figure would mount to 82½ billion dollars by next Dec. 31. If such a situation persisted through 1962, with more of the present longer term bonds becoming due, the debt due in one year would soar to 129½ billion dollars. And that is assuming balanced budgets from now on.

Under present conditions, the government couldn't hope to borrow 129 billion dollars in a single year without inviting disaster. In fact, it would be in deep trouble before that point was reached.

Some observers, however, see yet another source of trouble ahead. They believe the government will strain the supply of money available for short-term loans in 1959. Here is their argument:

In 1958, the recession helped the Treasury borrow huge sums on a short term basis. Businessmen had reduced their inventories sharply and, with most firms operating below capacity, didn't spend money expanding their plants on a vast scale.

Corporations had idle cash which went into short-term Treasury securities. In effect, businessmen rescued the government from having to do most of its borrowing through inflationary bank loans.

This year, the argument goes, inventories will be rebuilt because of economic recovery and businessmen will spend more on their businesses. They won't be able to help out as they did last yar.

2 County Men Jailed For Coal Mine Theft

Two area men have been bound over to the April term of the Jefferson County Grand Jury in Steubenville on theft charges filed by one of the few women coal mine owners in Columbiana County.

Alvin Palmer, 27, of Salineville, and Ernest Dillon, 51, of Lisbon R. D. 5, were released on bond pending action of the next term of court.

Mrs. Geannetta Welch of Salineville, operator of the Welch Coal Mine, about six miles south of Monroeville, charged the pair stole more than $1,000 worth of equipment.

They were arrested in Carroll County and arraigned in Steubenville Municipal Court.

REBEKAH

"And it came to pass, before he had done speaking, that, behold, Rebekah came out . . . with her pitcher upon her shoulder."

—Genesis 24:15

Rebekah, whose name in Hebrew meant "a rope with a noose," signifying "a young woman whose beauty ensnares," was the daughter of Bethuel.

Scripture tells us nothing of her early childhood. But there is little doubt that it followed the social pattern of those times. Girls joined in the labors in the fields, watched their fathers' flocks, gleaned the harvest, and carried water.

It was when Rebekah came to a well with a pitcher on her shoulder that she met the servant Abraham had sent out to find a wife for his son Isaac.

The servant knew that all the young girls of the town would come to the well to draw water. So he made his ten camels kneel down a little distance away, and waited.

He had prayed to God: "Let it come to pass, that the damsel to whom I shall say, Let down thy pitcher, I pray thee, that I may drink; and she shall say, Drink, and I will give thy camels drink also: let the same be she that thou hast appointed for thy servant Isaac."

Even while Abraham's servant was still making this request to God, Rebekah appeared at the well. She drew water, not only for the stranger, but for his camels.

"As the camels had done drinking, the man took a golden earring of half a shekel weight, and two bracelets for her hands of ten shekels weight of gold."

After he had given these to the beautiful young girl, and she had put them on, Abraham's messenger asked her who she was. He was already certain she was the bride he sought for Isaac. He had asked God for guidance, and he believed in guidance when it was given.

Rebekah took him to her father's house, where he was received with cordial hospitality and given lodging.

That night, the stranger told Rebekah's father and her brother, Laban, of his mission. He also related his experience at the well.

"And now," he said "if ye will deal kindly and truly with my master, tell me: and if not, tell me; that I may turn to the right hand or to the left."

But Bethuel and Laban also believed in God's guidance. They replied:

"The thing proceedeth from the Lord: we cannot speak unto thee bad or good. Behold, Rebekah is before thee, take her, and go, and let her be thy master's son's wife, as the Lord hath spoken."

The committee, headed by Gay Billingsley, drafted amendments to include rules for operation of the recently completed fire station.

Firemen also made plans to install outside lights for a parking lot. It was announced that nomination of officers will be completed March 16, with the election March 30. Norman Neal, president, presided.

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. (AP)—The Air Force announced here that it has fired nuclear-designed nose cones down into the atmosphere at speeds of more than 17,000 m.p.h.

Spokesmen at Kirtland Air Force Base said the speeds had been obtained with the use of rockets and firing the cones from B57 bombers of the 4925th Test Group. Nuclear warheads and nose cones are designed at Kirtland, the spokesman said.

Bleininger Award Dinner Scheduled By Ceramic Group

Roman F. Geller of Bethesda, Md., retired chief of the porcelain and pottery section of the National Bureau of Standards, will receive the 1959 Albert Victor Bleininger Memorial Award Friday night, March 13, at a dinner meeting of the Pittsburgh Section of the American Ceramic Society.

Presentation of the 12th annual award for "distinguished achievement in the field of ceramics" will be made at a program starting at 7 at the Pittsburgh Athletic Association.

Geller was selected for the award in December. It is symbolized by a gold medal and a scroll. The award is made in memory of the late Dr. A. V. Bleininger, who was research director of the Homer Laughlin China Co. The award is the highest of its kind conferred in the United States.

Geller is the author of 65 published papers in the refractories and whitewares fields, many of which have appeared in American Ceramic Society publications. He also holds a patent for a thoria resistor heating element. He retired from the Bureau of Standards in 1956.

Dinner reservations are limited to 250. H. M. Kraner of the Bethlehem Steel Co. will be toastmaster and brief remarks will be made by Dr. Herbert Insley, a consulting mineralogist.

State's Attorney Upsets Baltimore Mayor In Primary

BALTIMORE (AP) — J. Harold Grady, a young state's attorney in his first election fight, wrecked one of the last old-time political machines Tuesday night by defeating Mayor Thomas D'Alesandro in Baltimore's Democratic primary.

The 42-year-old prosecutor carried his running mates for comptroller and City Council president with him to victory as he turned back D'Alesandro's bid for nomination to a fourth straight term.

Grady candidates also were nominated to 7 of 20 City Council seats. Only one seat was held by an anti-D'Alesandro man on the present all-Democratic council.

Complete returns from 572 polling places gave Grady 103,358 votes, D'Alesandro 70,341. Three other candidates totaled 6,520.

In the May 5 general election Grady will oppose Theodore R. McKeldin, the city's mayor from 1943-47 and the only Republican ever to serve two consecutive terms as governor of Maryland.

Some Ponderous Thoughts

Hail To The Fat Ones!

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—Did Helen of Troy diet? Did Cleopatra count her calories?

We are stirred to these questions by a letter from a reader with a problem.

The letter:

"Dear Sir:

"Recently you wrote in defense of fat men. Well, what about fat women?

"My girl friends criticize me because, according to their standards, I am 40 pounds overweight. But I feel fine and my husband says he likes me the way I am.

"Why do people laugh at fat ladies: What's so funny about them?"

It was signed: "Fat Lady."

The answer, of course, is there is nothing funny about fat ladies. They are delightful. Those who laugh at fat ladies, like those who laugh at fat men, are envious idiots.

They don't know what they are missing. You should laugh right back at them, fat lady.

The present vogue for slender dames is only a passing passion, a fad of the last quarter century. It was originated by beanpole male couturiers, many of whom hate women anyway and do their best to make them look ridiculous.

The natural man looks for an angle in everything in life except the ladies. But them he instinctively prefers in the round.

The Turkish sultans, noted connoisseurs in these matters, filled their harems with ladies who were living symbols of padded plenty.

What about Helen of Troy? Does anyone think that a Greek, then or now, would launch a thousand ships to go after a married gal who was built like a fence post?

And what about Cleopatra? It is true that she herself rolled up into a rug in order to get in to see Julius Caesar. But that doesn't argue she was thin. They had mighty big carpets in Egypt in those days.

And who have the most famous artists and sculptors preferred to immortalize in paint and stone? Chubby lasses, almost always. In the world of the arts—from Venus di Milo to Kate Smith and Mary Margaret McBride — the plump girls have been standouts.

A skinny dame has no more secrets than a goldfish. It is the plump dame who is a dimpled mystery and holds depths of unplumbed allure.

Let us admire fat ladies, not jeer at them or their girdle problems. To paraphrase Abraham Lincoln, God must have loved fat ladies—he made so many of them.

Unavoidable Accident Ruled In Boy's Death

A coroner's jury ruled Monday night at an inquest that the death of a young Pughtown cyclist struck by an auto Saturday was an "unavoidable accident."

The victim, Sidney Allen Grimm, a fourth grade pupil in Pughtown school, was hit by an auto operated by George Arehart, 40, also of Pughtown. The accident occurred at an intersection near the Hancock County community. The youth died of injuries in the Weirton General Hospital.

The six-member panel was in session about an hour and heard testimony of James Reed, an eyewitness, Dr. George Naymick, county coroner, and Constable Joseph Manypenny of New Cumberland.

Lift Sales Tax Exemption

DiSalle Believes He Has Answer To Financial Needs

COLUMBUS, Oho (AP) — Gov. Michael V. DiSalle believes he has the answer to Ohio's financial needs for several years to come, but he presented it warily Tuesday night in his budget message to the Legislature.

He suggested—but avoided a direct recommendation—that the historic sales tax exemption on materials "directly used" in manufacturing and agriculture be lifted.

The governor told newsmen in advance of delivery of the message that lifting of the exemption might actually attract new industry to Ohio rather than drive it away.

He reasoned that such action might assure prospective industries of a stable tax structure in Ohio and remove the fear of some unexpected and drastic tax on industry in the future. He added:

"If this would bring tax stability, they ought to buy it."

DiSalle estimated that the removal of the "directly used" exemptions would give the state government another 110 million dollars in a two-year period—enough money to meet the needs for the foreseeable future. But, indicating his wariness, he added:

"Yet I am quite aware that it is not always the realities of the situation that are governing, but indeed psychological factors also are of importance.

"That there would be considerable opposition to the repeal of the direct use exceptions is known. The fact that this opposition would be quite vocal is of little moment in my personal feelings if the action is proper and necessary.

"But should this clamor of itself create an atmosphere of hindrance to our economic growth it would then be of real concern to me."

DiSalle warned that if the suggested step is not taken it will be necessary to find new revenue sources in a short time. But, he added:

"If it is your decision to remove these exceptions I will stand with you. If your decision is to retain them, I will not be critical of you."

Senate Minority Leader C. Stanley Mechem (R-Athens) commented:

"We must try to keep the tax climate in Ohio favorable to attract new industry. And if the governor's proposal includes agricultural material, as I am sure it does, I am sure the farmers are not going to like it."

February Showed Warming Trend After Siege Of Winter

Winter, which placed an icy grip on the district way back in November, finally eased its hold in February with a promising warmer trend, Edwin Copeland, U. S. Weather observer at Millport, reported in his monthly summary.

Temperatures last month averaged 30.7 degrees, compared to the normal 26.9 degrees for February in his 65-year records. The average was almost 10 degrees warmer than the 1957 average of 21.1 degrees, Copeland added.

The mercury went up to 64 degrees Feb. 10, within 8 degrees of an all-time high of 72 for February. The temperature dipped to a low of 8 degrees below zero Feb. 20.

Sunshine totaled 46 per cent, compared to the normal 35 per cent for the month.

Rainfall amounted to 3.2 inches, well above the normal 2.25 inches for February. Snow totaled 3 inches, compared to the normal 8 inches.

The extra rainfall, along with abnormal rain in February, put the precipitation for the two months at 3.03 inches above the average of 5.05 inches for the period. A rainfall of 1.5 inches Feb. 10 caused high water and heavy erosion on land not in sod crops, Copeland said.

Despite the severe early cold weather, winter crops are looking good, he added, and farmers are anticipating a warm March in which to start spring planting ahead of time.

Board Supports Electrical Union In Ohio Strike

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The State Board of Electrical Utility Workers, a union group, has thrown its support behind 1,300 workers, now in the fourth day of their strike against Columbus & Southern Ohio Electric Co.

The board represents more than 5,000 Ohio utility workers belonging to the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers.

Strikers are members of IBEW Locals 1466 and 832.

The company, the board said, forced its workers out on strike "by its adamant refusal to bargain in good faith."

It said the company has started a back-to-work movement but that it has fallen "flat on its back."

The company said several strikers have returned to work, but gave no figures.

The electrical workers walked out at midnight Saturday when their old contract expired.

The company has offered a 3½ per cent wage increase. The union demands a 6 per cent general increase plus an additional 10-cent hourly boost for top linemen.

Pay scales for the 247 job classifications within the company range from $1.69 to $3.28 an hour.

Air Force Building New Launching Pads

INGLEWOOD, Calif. (AP)—The Air Force is building launching facilities at Edwards Air Force Base on the Mojave Desert for Minuteman missiles that have a range of up to 10,000 miles.

The Corps of Engineers will open bids March 19 for construction of two deep pits from which the ICBMs will be fired. Total cost will be about $1,770,000.

The Minuteman, a multiple-stage rocket, uses a solid propellant, enabling it to be launched without the long countdown required for missiles using liquid fuels.

Young people of the local First church were in charge of the program, using Rev. Tomb's theme.

U.S. Embassy Staff Moves

Americans Gather Outside La Paz Fearing New Riots

LA PA, Volivia (AP) — Some 700 Americans in La Paz gathered outside Bolivia's capital today in fear that the funeral for a victim of Bolivia's anti-U.S. riots might touch off further violence.

State Department spokesman Lincoln White said in Washington that Americans in the capital, including the U.S. Embassy staff, had been moved to the suburbs for better protection by the Bolivian army.

Reinforced police patrolled the tense mountain capital to avert any repetition of Monday's angry outbreak over an article in Time magazine, when rioters stoned the U.S. Embassy and burned an American flag.

The riots claimed a second victim Tuesday night. Police fired to break up a group of demonstrators trying to rush the apparently deserted U.S. Embassy building. A Bolivian dentist standing nearby was killed by a stray bullet.

The riots followed circulation of Time's current Latin-American edition quoting a U.S. Embassy official as saying jokingly that Bolivia's economic woes could be cured by splitting up the country. The embassy denied that any official had made such a suggestion.

In New York, Henry R. Luce, editor-in-chief of Time, expressed regret that a story in his magazine had "been the occasion for expressions of unfriendliness toward the United States." He said the story "was a factual analysis of Bolivia's economic difficulties."

Luce's statement made no mention of the quote about splitting up Bolivia.

Motorcycle Club Plans Activities For March

Plans for two activities in March were made by the Flying Wheels Motorcycle Club when it met Monday night at Cattrell's shop on Wells Ave., Wellsville.

Lenders Lose Enthusiasm

Government's Borrowing Poses Serious Problems

There is increasing talk in Washington that the Treasury's current borrowing problems may be the prelude to more serious trouble. The possibilities are canvassed in this, the third of four articles on financing the national debt.

By FRANK CORMIER

WASHINGTON (AP) — Managing a record national debt is like walking a high wire without the consolation of a safety net.

The footing is treacherous because lenders have lost much of their enthusiasm for Treasury securities — Uncle Sam's I.O.U.'s. Fearing rising interest rates and the possibility of inflation, they're reluctant to make loans on anything but a short term basis.

Unfortunately, Uncle Sam now has to borrow more money than ever before—just when lenders are balky. The national debt already has reached about 286 billion dollars and is headed higher, if only temporarily.

Real trouble could develop out of the fact that the Treasury has had to do most of its recent borrowing on a short term basis. This is the type of borrowing which holds the greatest inflation potential because bank credit is the biggest single source of short-term loans.

Perhaps more important, short-term loans have to be refinanced (that is, the money has to be borrowed again) almost before Uncle Sam can draw a breath.

Since last July, the Treasury has raised new cash and renewed old loans amounting to 53¾ billion dollars. Except for about 2¼ billion dollars, all of this was obtained on a short term basis.

More than 33 billion dollars of the loans obtained or renewed since last July will come due between now and Dec. 31.

Adding to the problem, about two billion dollars of loans obtained before last July also will come due. And the government will have to raise about 10 billion dollars in new cash—more if the budget for the fiscal year beginning July 1 is in the red.

What if the Treasury has to do all this 1959 borrowing on a short term basis?

At the end of 1958, the Treasury figured that 72½ billion dollars of the national debt would come due within one year. That includes regular weekly issues of Treasury securities not counted in the figures given earlier.

If, during the rest of 1959, the government could obtain no loans for a period longer than one year, this figure would mount to 82½ billion dollars by next Dec. 31. If such a situation persisted through 1962, with more of the present longer term bonds becoming due, the debt due in one year would soar to 129½ billion dollars. And that is assuming balanced budgets from now on.

Under present conditions, the government couldn't hope to borrow 129 billion dollars in a single year without inviting disaster. In fact, it would be in deep trouble before that point was reached.

Some observers, however, see yet another source of trouble ahead. They believe the government will strain the supply of money available for short-term loans in 1959. Here is their argument:

In 1958, the recession helped the Treasury borrow huge sums on a short term basis. Businessmen had reduced their inventories sharply and, with most firms operating below capacity, didn't spend money expanding their plants on a vast scale.

Corporations had idle cash which went into short-term Treasury securities. In effect, businessmen rescued the government from having to do most of its borrowing through inflationary bank loans.

This year, the argument goes, inventories will be rebuilt because of economic recovery and businessmen will spend more on their businesses. They won't be able to help out as they did last yar.

2 County Men Jailed For Coal Mine Theft

Two area men have been bound over to the April term of the Jefferson County Grand Jury in Steubenville on theft charges filed by one of the few women coal mine owners in Columbiana County.

Alvin Palmer, 27, of Salineville, and Ernest Dillon, 51, of Lisbon R. D. 5, were released on bond pending action of the next term of court.

Mrs. Geannetta Welch of Salineville, operator of the Welch Coal Mine, about six miles south of Monroeville, charged the pair stole more than $1,000 worth of equipment.

They were arrested in Carroll County and arraigned in Steubenville Municipal Court.

REBEKAH

"And it came to pass, before he had done speaking, that, behold, Rebekah came out . . . with her pitcher upon her shoulder."

—Genesis 24:15

Rebekah, whose name in Hebrew meant "a rope with a noose," signifying "a young woman whose beauty ensnares," was the daughter of Bethuel.

Scripture tells us nothing of her early childhood. But there is little doubt that it followed the social pattern of those times. Girls joined in the labors in the fields, watched their fathers' flocks, gleaned the harvest, and carried water.

It was when Rebekah came to a well with a pitcher on her shoulder that she met the servant Abraham had sent out to find a wife for his son Isaac.

The servant knew that all the young girls of the town would come to the well to draw water. So he made his ten camels kneel down a little distance away, and waited.

He had prayed to God: "Let it come to pass, that the damsel to whom I shall say, Let down thy pitcher, I pray thee, that I may drink; and she shall say, Drink, and I will give thy camels drink also: let the same be she that thou hast appointed for thy servant Isaac."

Even while Abraham's servant was still making this request to God, Rebekah appeared at the well. She drew water, not only for the stranger, but for his camels.

"As the camels had done drinking, the man took a golden earring of half a shekel weight, and two bracelets for her hands of ten shekels weight of gold."

After he had given these to the beautiful young girl, and she had put them on, Abraham's messenger asked her who she was. He was already certain she was the bride he sought for Isaac. He had asked God for guidance, and he believed in guidance when it was given.

Rebekah took him to her father's house, where he was received with cordial hospitality and given lodging.

That night, the stranger told Rebekah's father and her brother, Laban, of his mission. He also related his experience at the well.

"And now," he said "if ye will deal kindly and truly with my master, tell me: and if not, tell me; that I may turn to the right hand or to the left."

But Bethuel and Laban also believed in God's guidance. They replied:

"The thing proceedeth from the Lord: we cannot speak unto thee bad or good. Behold, Rebekah is before thee, take her, and go, and let her be thy master's son's wife, as the Lord hath spoken."

Bleininger Award Dinner Scheduled By Ceramic Group

Roman F. Geller of Bethesda, Md., retired chief of the porcelain and pottery section of the National Bureau of Standards, will receive the 1959 Albert Victor Bleininger Memorial Award Friday night, March 13, at a dinner meeting of the Pittsburgh Section of the American Ceramic Society.

Geller was selected for the award in December. It is symbolized by a gold medal and a scroll. The award is made in memory of the late Dr. A. V. Bleininger, who was research director of the Homer Laughlin China Co. The award is the highest of its kind conferred in the United States.

Geller is the author of 65 published papers in the refractories and whitewares fields, many of which have appeared in American Ceramic Society publications. He also holds a patent for a thoria resistor heating element. He retired from the Bureau of Standards in 1956.

Dinner reservations are limited to 250. H. M. Kraner of the Bethlehem Steel Co. will be toastmaster and brief remarks will be made by Dr. Herbert Insley, a consulting mineralogist.

State's Attorney Upsets Baltimore Mayor In Primary

BALTIMORE (AP) — J. Harold Grady, a young state's attorney in his first election fight, wrecked one of the last old-time political machines Tuesday night by defeating Mayor Thomas D'Alesandro in Baltimore's Democratic primary.

The 42-year-old prosecutor carried his running mates for comptroller and City Council president with him to victory as he turned back D'Alesandro's bid for nomination to a fourth straight term.

Grady candidates also were nominated to 7 of 20 City Council seats. Only one seat was held by an anti-D'Alesandro man on the present all-Democratic council.

Complete returns from 572 polling places gave Grady 103,358 votes, D'Alesandro 70,341. Three other candidates totaled 6,520.

In the May 5 general election Grady will oppose Theodore R. McKeldin, the city's mayor from 1943-47 and the only Republican ever to serve two consecutive terms as governor of Maryland.

Red Cross Flood Aid Told By Speaker At Rotary Club

Services provided by the American Red Cross to flood - stricken families in Warren and an overall picture of the organization's role in emergency relief in disasters were outlined by Milton Jackson of Alexandria, Va., assistant director of the Eastern Area headquarters, at Tuesday's luncheon meeting of the Rotary Club in the Travelers Hotel.

Jackson has been supervising emergency relief activities in Warren and Trumbull County since late January when the Mahoning River overflowed its banks, leaving 837 persons homeless.

The Red Cross immediately moved in and set up four shelters for the homeless, but freezing weather and a second wave of high water in February prolonged Red Cross emergency service.

Jackson listed difficulties encountered due to the three - fold weather blitz which hit hardest at lower-income families, and also briefly discussed policies of emergency relief.

The principal problem at Warren, after the flood waters had subsided, was "attempting to get the families to work up enough initiative to return to their homes and leave the warmth and comforts of the shelters," Jackson explained.

Disaster units set up shelters and provided three meals a day, entertainment and comfort items, "with some having a better life than before," he added.

Approximately $160,000 was spent at the Warren flood disaster scene, and most of the residents will have returned to their homes soon, Jackson said.

Citing the use of Red Cross funds, Jackson explained that "the Red Cross" acts on need—not loss—in determining allocations for persons suffering from fires, floods or tornados."

"The organization investigates a person's financial capacity to replace any losses and the Red Cross merely supplements a person's resources," he said.

"People are hesitant about asking for help, but Red Cross services are outright gifts through a law passed in 1906," Jackson pointed out.

He cited the false belief that the federal government allots funds to disaster areas for stricken families to use personally.

"When a disaster area is declared and the government allots money, it may be spent only on property owned by the people through taxation, such as highways and dikes, and not directly by the persons affected," Jackson explained.

Business firms desiring emergency fund allotments must contact the Small Business Association for aid, Jackson said,

He discussed other disaster scenes he has visited, including flooded areas in the Eastern part of the country, California and parts of West Virginia.

Jackson was introduced by W. A. Harris, who was program chairman.

Charles Taylor, vice president, introduced two new members, Frank Dawson Jr. and John Duffy. It was announced by Frank Dawson that "Rotary Ann Night" will be held March 24 at the Country Club. Dinner will be served at 7.

Robert Peters of Salem and two from Midland were guests. Dean Wilhelm, president, was absent as he is vacationing in Florida.

Trucker Claims Slugging By Hiker

The "missing" tank-type trailer of a rig driven by a Kittaning trucker was found near Florence, Pa., Tuesday night after he reported to the Wintersville State Highway Patrol near Steubenville that he had been slugged by a hitchhiker and "dumped along the highway."

James M. Scanlon, 33, told officers that he picked up the hitchhiker yesterday at 5 p. m. on Route 28 near Aspinwall. A few minutes later, as the truck was moving, the hitch-hiker told him to look at something out the left side of the truck and struck him on the head.

Scanlon said he came to near the Miller Motel on Route 22 about seven miles west of Wintersville. He flagged a motorist who took him to the patrol barracks. Officers said he came to them about 7:27 p. m. with the story.

Sailors Cut Drinking

RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — Virginia liquor sales are declining and at least a part of the slump is believed due to a change in the drinking habits of sailors. The most significant decline has been in the Hampton Roads area, headquarters of the Navy's Atlantic fleet.

Lift Sales Tax Exemption

DiSalle Believes He Has Answer To Financial Needs

COLUMBUS, Oho (AP) — Gov. Michael V. DiSalle believes he has the answer to Ohio's financial needs for several years to come, but he presented it warily Tuesday night in his budget message to the Legislature.

He suggested—but avoided a direct recommendation—that the historic sales tax exemption on materials "directly used" in manufacturing and agriculture be lifted.

The governor told newsmen in advance of delivery of the message that lifting of the exemption might actually attract new industry to Ohio rather than drive it away.

He reasoned that such action might assure prospective industries of a stable tax structure in Ohio and remove the fear of some unexpected and drastic tax on industry in the future. He added:

"If this would bring tax stability, they ought to buy it."

DiSalle estimated that the removal of the "directly used" exemptions would give the state government another 110 million dollars in a two-year period—enough money to meet the needs for the foreseeable future. But, indicating his wariness, he added:

"Yet I am quite aware that it is not always the realities of the situation that are governing, but indeed psychological factors also are of importance.

"That there would be considerable opposition to the repeal of the direct use exceptions is known. The fact that this opposition would be quite vocal is of little moment in my personal feelings if the action is proper and necessary.

"But should this clamor of itself create an atmosphere of hindrance to our economic growth it would then be of real concern to me."

DiSalle warned that if the suggested step is not taken it will be necessary to find new revenue sources in a short time. But, he added:

"If it is your decision to remove these exceptions I will stand with you. If your decision is to retain them, I will not be critical of you."

Senate Minority Leader C. Stanley Mechem (R-Athens) commented:

"We must try to keep the tax climate in Ohio favorable to attract new industry. And if the governor's proposal includes agricultural material, as I am sure it does, I am sure the farmers are not going to like it."

U.S. Embassy Staff Moves

LA PA, Volivia (AP) — Some 700 Americans in La Paz gathered outside Bolivia's capital today in fear that the funeral for a victim of Bolivia's anti-U.S. riots might touch off further violence.

State Department spokesman Lincoln White said in Washington that Americans in the capital, including the U.S. Embassy staff, had been moved to the suburbs for better protection by the Bolivian army.

Reinforced police patrolled the tense mountain capital to avert any repetition of Monday's angry outbreak over an article in Time magazine, when rioters stoned the U.S. Embassy and burned an American flag.

The riots claimed a second victim Tuesday night. Police fired to break up a group of demonstrators trying to rush the apparently deserted U.S. Embassy building. A Bolivian dentist standing nearby was killed by a stray bullet.

The riots followed circulation of Time's current Latin-American edition quoting a U.S. Embassy official as saying jokingly that Bolivia's economic woes could be cured by splitting up the country. The embassy denied that any official had made such a suggestion.

In New York, Henry R. Luce, editor-in-chief of Time, expressed regret that a story in his magazine had "been the occasion for expressions of unfriendliness toward the United States." He said the story "was a factual analysis of Bolivia's economic difficulties."

Luce's statement made no mention of the quote about splitting up Bolivia.

Parents Will Pay $20 For Door Youth Broke

Parents of a boy who threw a rock through a heavy glass door in the main entrance to City Hall Saturday night agreed to pay $20 in restitution when they appeared with their son before Probation Officer Chris Pusey at City Hall Tuesday afternoon.

The boy surrendered himself to police a few minutes after breaking the large pane. He said he did it in hopes of being "sent away" because he is unhappy with his home life. The 12-year-old resides on the Irish Ridge Rd., police said.

The parents agreed to pay for the damage in four monthly installments of $5.

February Showed Warming Trend After Siege Of Winter

Winter, which placed an icy grip on the district way back in November, finally eased its hold in February with a promising warmer trend, Edwin Copeland, U. S. Weather observer at Millport, reported in his monthly summary.

Temperatures last month averaged 30.7 degrees, compared to the normal 26.9 degrees for February in his 65-year records. The average was almost 10 degrees warmer than the 1957 average of 21.1 degrees, Copeland added.

The mercury went up to 64 degrees Feb. 10, within 8 degrees of an all-time high of 72 for February. The temperature dipped to a low of 8 degrees below zero Feb. 20.

Sunshine totaled 46 per cent, compared to the normal 35 per cent for the month.

Rainfall amounted to 3.2 inches, well above the normal 2.25 inches for February. Snow totaled 3 inches, compared to the normal 8 inches.

The extra rainfall, along with abnormal rain in February, put the precipitation for the two months at 3.03 inches above the average of 5.05 inches for the period. A rainfall of 1.5 inches Feb. 10 caused high water and heavy erosion on land not in sod crops, Copeland said.

Despite the severe early cold weather, winter crops are looking good, he added, and farmers are anticipating a warm March in which to start spring planting ahead of time.

Board Supports Electrical Union In Ohio Strike

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The State Board of Electrical Utility Workers, a union group, has thrown its support behind 1,300 workers, now in the fourth day of their strike against Columbus & Southern Ohio Electric Co.

The board represents more than 5,000 Ohio utility workers belonging to the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers.

Strikers are members of IBEW Locals 1466 and 832.

The company, the board said, forced its workers out on strike "by its adamant refusal to bargain in good faith."

It said the company has started a back-to-work movement but that it has fallen "flat on its back."

The company said several strikers have returned to work, but gave no figures.

The electrical workers walked out at midnight Saturday when their old contract expired.

The company has offered a 3½ per cent wage increase. The union demands a 6 per cent general increase plus an additional 10-cent hourly boost for top linemen.

Pay scales for the 247 job classifications within the company range from $1.69 to $3.28 an hour.

The company supplies power to customers in 23 central and southern Ohio counties. Supervisory personnel are manning installations.

Reshuffling Of Counties

Bills Would Revamp Ohio Congressional Districts

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Two bills were introduced in the Legislature Monday to revamp Ohio congressional districts.

One, submitted by Reps. Thomas J. Barrett (D-Mahoning) and William M. Carney (D-Trumbull) was a proposal to reshuffle the counties in nine of the state's 23 districts.

Cuyahoga County's Democratic delegation in the House sponsored a measure to revise the four districts in that county. Two Republicans and two Democrats represent Cuyahoga in Congress.

The Cuyahoga proposal would divide Ohio's most populous county with two districts in the western section and two in the eastern area. Shifts in wards and suburbs would give Democrats a better chance in all four districts under the proposal.

Republicans hold congressional seats in seven of the nine districts up for revision in the other measure. Fifteen districts would remain untouched under that bill.

Democrats hold nine of the 23 seats in Ohio's congressional delegation. They gained three seats from Republicans in the election last November.

The governor also sent up a message calling for strengthening of the "conflict of interests" law designed to prevent public officials acting in dual capacities. DiSalle called for a ban to prevent an elected official from receiving anything of value from any state agency, corporation or individual for work done with a state agency.

The congressional redistricting bill headed toward some revision by legislative committees but majority Democrats appeared confident that revision is likely this session.

Congressional districts were last revised by the Republican-controlled General Assembly in 1951. The new proposal would undo some of those changes.

Districts in Cuyahoga, Hamilton and Franklin counties would be unchanged. But Republican strongholds were targets in the 4th, 5th 7th, 8th, and 13th districts.

3rd District—Montgomery County.

5th — Allen, Defiance, Fulton, Henry, Paulding, Putnam, Van Wert, Williams and Wood.

7th — Butler, Clinton, Greene, Preble and Warren.

8th — Crawford, Hancock, Hardin, Logan, Seneca, Marion, Morrow, Union and Wyandot.

11th — Ashtabula, Geauga, Lake, Portage and all of Trumbull.

13th — Erie, Huron, Lorain, Medina, Ottawa, and Sandusky.

14th — Summit only.

19th—Mahoning only.

The revision would eliminate the split in Trumbull County between two districts. The southern part of Trumbull County is in the 19th District with Mahoning County. All of Trumbull County would go into the 11th District.

Red Cross Flood Aid Told By Speaker At Rotary Club

Services provided by the American Red Cross to flood - stricken families in Warren and an overall picture of the organization's role in emergency relief in disasters were outlined by Milton Jackson of Alexandria, Va., assistant director of the Eastern Area headquarters, at Tuesday's luncheon meeting of the Rotary Club in the Travelers Hotel.

Jackson has been supervising emergency relief activities in Warren and Trumbull County since late January when the Mahoning River overflowed its banks, leaving 837 persons homeless.

The Red Cross immediately moved in and set up four shelters for the homeless, but freezing weather and a second wave of high water in February prolonged Red Cross emergency service.

Jackson listed difficulties encountered due to the three - fold weather blitz which hit hardest at lower-income families, and also briefly discussed policies of emergency relief.

The principal problem at Warren, after the flood waters had subsided, was "attempting to get the families to work up enough initiative to return to their homes and leave the warmth and comforts of the shelters," Jackson explained.

Disaster units set up shelters and provided three meals a day, entertainment and comfort items, "with some having a better life than before," he added.

Approximately $160,000 was spent at the Warren flood disaster scene, and most of the residents will have returned to their homes soon, Jackson said.

Citing the use of Red Cross funds, Jackson explained that "the Red Cross" acts on need—not loss—in determining allocations for persons suffering from fires, floods or tornados."

"The organization investigates a person's financial capacity to replace any losses and the Red Cross merely supplements a person's resources," he said.

"People are hesitant about asking for help, but Red Cross services are outright gifts through a law passed in 1906," Jackson pointed out.

He cited the false belief that the federal government allots funds to disaster areas for stricken families to use personally.

"When a disaster area is declared and the government allots money, it may be spent only on property owned by the people through taxation, such as highways and dikes, and not directly by the persons affected," Jackson explained.

Business firms desiring emergency fund allotments must contact the Small Business Association for aid, Jackson said.

He discussed other disaster scenes he has visited, including flooded areas in the Eastern part of the country, California and parts of West Virginia.

Jackson was introduced by W. A. Harris, who was program chairman.

Charles Taylor, vice president, introduced two new members, Frank Dawson Jr. and John Duffy. It was announced by Frank Dawson that "Rotary Ann Night" will be held March 24 at the Country Club. Dinner will be served at 7.

Robert Peters of Salem and two from Midland were guests. Dean Wilhelm, president, was absent as he is vacationing in Florida.

2 Cagers Ejected; Chacko Scores 25

By BOB DUFFY
Review Sports Editor

The Midland - Charleroi game Tuesday night had a little bit of everything in it except a victory for the Leopards, who bowed out of the WPIAL tournament to the tune of 69-32.

A near-riot in the third period, which saw a player from each team ejected, marked the semi-final contest which sent Charleroi into the WPIAL final against Farrell on March 11.

A crowd of 4,140, second largest turnout for the tournament at the Pitt Fieldhouse, watched the Leopards fall completely apart as they succumbed to a tight defense thrown up by Charleroi and the scoring of Jimmy Chacko, top point-maker in the WPIAL.

The fist-swinging incident came with 2:16 left in the third period and the score reading 44-21.

The first signs of trouble came over a jump ball when Gene Lake and Chacko went after each other. The ensuing loose ball touched off a brief melee.

Smith and Charleroi's Mickey Bitsko pushed each other and the brawl was under way. It took about 10 Pittsburgh policemen along with the officials and coaches to restore order. The incident held up the game about five minutes.

As a result, Smith and Bitsko were ejected and technical fouls were awarded each team.

The technical fouls were just two of five called during the contest.

Later Charleroi coach Henry Pennline was penalized for using signal cards to call plays.

The fifth technical was called on Lake when he talked back to one of the officials later in the third quarter.

The near riot late in the third period didn't have anything to do with Midland's loss. The game was pretty well out of reach at this point.

The boy responsible was Chacko, who is rated the most fabulous scorer since Pitt's Don Hennon played high school ball.

After the game Hamilton called Chacko "a great ballplayer; there is just no way to defense him."

If Midland played him close, he drove around his guard. And if he wasn't checked close enough, he pumped in long one-hand jump shots.

CHACKO, who had scored 663 points in 25 games before last night's contest, tallied 25 against the Leopards. His specialty was the one-hand jump that whistled through the nets time after time.

He collected eight field goals and 9 of 12 fouls. His 25 points came in three quarters. The Charleroi star fouled out with 4:12 remaining in the fourth quarter.

The 5-foot-11 performer scored seven points each in the first and second periods and dropped in 11 when Charleroi pulled away to its greatest lead in the third quarter.

Midland, which had shot 40 per cent or better in its two previous tourney starts, fired a poor 26 per cent last night, making only 12 field goals in 46 attempts.

Charleroi turned in a 40 per cent mark with 22 of 54.

Charleroi enjoyed a height advantage with 6-foot-6 Al Thiry doing most of the rebounding along with Bob Coulter, 6-foot-3, and substitute Ed Rader, 6-foot-5.

Behind Chacko in the scoring was Art Artis, 5-foot-8 guard, who chipped in with 10 points. Coulter had eight and Thiry and Rader seven each.

MOVIE SMITH, Midland's top scorer who led his team into the semi-finals, was held to only one field goal and that came on a tip early in the first period.

A tight zone thrown up by the Cougars kept the ball away from Smith. And when the 6-foot-2 pivot man would get it he frequently was called for traveling under the basket.

Steve Yetso, who has been ill, failed to score and not one Midland cager reached the double figures.

About the most consistent scorer of the evening was Frank Aloi, who dropped in nine points, hitting on long one-hand push shots from outside.

Lake followed with seven points, while Barney Silverman, a substitute, added the same number. Nick Vuckovich had five.

Midland jumped off to a good start. After Artis converted a foul, Vuckovich hit on a set and Smith tipped for two points.

Coulter made it 4-3 with a basket from under, but Lake upped the count to 6-3 with a jump shot.

Chacko's two jump shots with five minutes remaining in the first period put Charleroi in front 7-6 and Coulter followed with a charity toss.

With 3:45 remaining, Aloi provided the game's only tie with a push shot to make it 8-8. Neither team scored until 1:52 showed on the fieldhouse clock when Chacko hit again and sent his team into a lead it never relinquished.

LAKE followed with a foul, but Thiry tipped for a bucket and Chacko added a foul as the first period ended, 13-9, with Charleroi on top.

Midway through the second quarter with the score 19-14, Chacko made the technical foul called on Hamilton and Artis followed with two more fouls before Bitsko hit to make it 24-14 with 3:26 remaining.

A six-point spree by Charleroi followed and sent the score to 30-16 at halftime.

Chacko opened the second half with two quick jump shots as the Cougars began moving out of reach, 34-16. Midland didn't get much closer than this and the riot-marred third quarter ended, 50-23.

Both coaches cleared their benches in the fourth period.

Valdes Picked Over Powell

Valdes is favored to beat the ex-San Francisco 49ers pro football player and snap his five fight winning streak.

But at least four boxing figures openly give Powell a good chance. One, trainer Lou Gross, flatly predicts Powell will take Valdes. Siding with Gross were Charley Goldman, who trained Rocky Marciano to the heavyweight championship; Joe Netro, co-manager of Carmen Basilio; and Miami Beach's Angelo Pastrano, corner man for Basilio.

Valdes' manager, Bobby Gleason, says the fight is considered a championship match. "If Nino loses, we're ex-champions."

If Valdes loses, he also will be an ex-top contender for Floyd Patterson's heavyweight crown.

"Patterson is a commission-made champion," Gleason said. "How did he get the title anyway? In 1956 he defeated Jimmy Walls, Alvin Williams, Hurricane Jackson and then was awarded the title by beating Archie Moore.

"Since then he defended his so-called title by beating Jackson again, Pete Rademacher and Roy Harris. You won't find Valdes' name on his record."

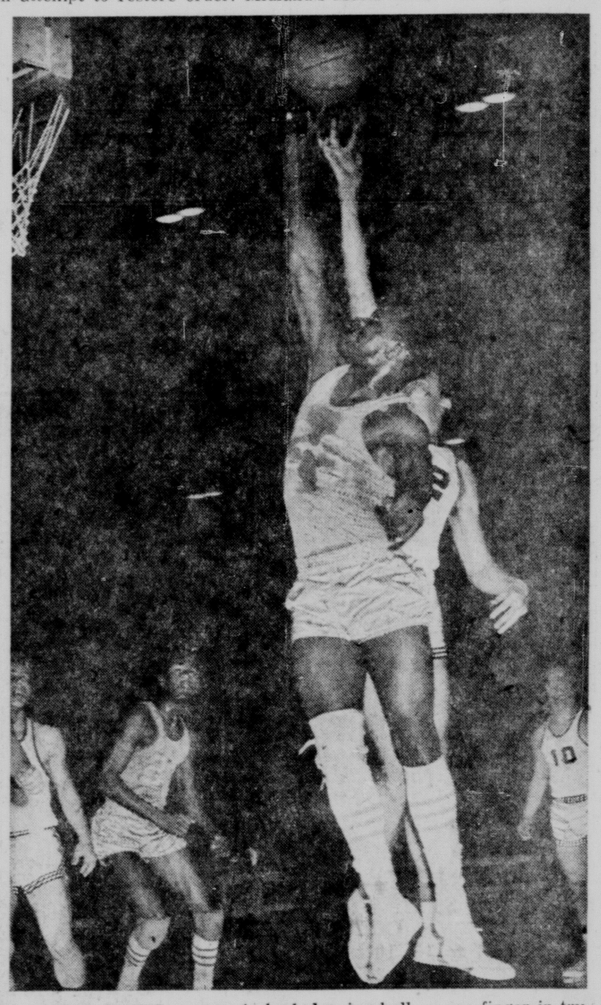
The fight will be televised nationally over the ABC network at 10 p.m. (EST).



MOVIE SMITH appears to be balancing ball on one finger in try for rebound in the first quarter of Tuesday night's Midland-Charleroi game at the Pitt Fieldhouse. Charleroi advanced to the finals of the WPIAL tournament by defeating Midland, 69-32.

Three Teams Post Victories In 'Y' League

Glenn's, Reed's and Hale's picked up opening night victories in the YMCA-Member League which got underway Tuesday on the "Y" floor.

Glenn's, paced by Ted Robinson's 30 points, outlasted Scafidi's, 56-50. Keith Bishop topped the losers with 21 points.

Jim Conrad scored 23 for Migliore's.

Reed's picked up a 57-50 victory over Anderson's as Allen Dawson tossed in 19 points for the winners. Carl Anderson's 24 points came in a losing cause for his team.

Pittsburgh's Mel Barnwell set an American record in the 1959 Michigan State relays, running 300 yards in 30 seconds.

Lisbon Man To Operate Trout Fishing Show

LISBON — Francis H. Bezdek of R. D. will operate the trout fishing attraction at the American and Canadian Sportsmen's vacation and boat show March 13-21 in Cleveland, according to A. W. Newman, director.

Also featured with trout fishing will be arrangements of plants and flowers in their natural setting, fashioned from vinyl plastic, one of the business enterprises of Mr. and Mrs. Bezdek at their Boulder Spring farm near Signal.

Bezdek, a free-lance biologist and fish specialist, spent several years as a wildlife specialist with the Ohio Department of Natural Resources, the West Virginia Conservation Commission and as a field technician with the Soil Conservation Service in Lisbon.

Pro Cage Vet Hits 10,000

By The Associated Press

Vern Mikkelsen of the Minneapolis Lakers finally made it as the seventh player in the history of the National Basketball Assn. to score 10,000 points, but the New York Knickerbockers today still needed to clinch second place in the Eastern Division struggle with the Syracuse Nationals.

In his tenth season with the Lakers, Mikkelsen scored 11 points Tuesday night at Providence, R.I., as the Boston Celtics rallied to clip Minneapolis, 119-112. Mikkelsen fouled out in the second half after hitting the 10,000 mark on the nose.

Boston clicked for 13 consecutive points in the third period to draw away from the Lakers. The Celtics set a new team record of 50 victories in a season. Tommy Heinsohn got 30 points for Boston and Elgin Baylor scored 24 for Minneapolis.

After a nip and tuck duel for three periods, with Syracuse taking an 88-86 advantage, the Nats poured it on in the final stanza to win 127-120.

At St. Louis, the Hawks rang up their 15th straight win at Kiel Auditorium by downing Cincinnati 113-102 after the Royals led at halftime, 50-46.

Brookes Nets 27 In Final Contest

It marked the second year in a row that Chester has bowed out in its opener.

Last night Coach Max Tuttle's team failed to get started as a taller Benwood Union, paced by the scoring of Porter and Butts, pulled away in the second period.

The score at the end of the first quarter was deadlocked at 9-9, but Benwood Union picked up a 30-20 margin at halftime and 56-36 after three periods.

Porter tossed in 25 points and his running mate Butts poured in 22 to lead Benwood Union to the semi-finals of the Sectional "AA" tournament.

Brookes, a senior, shattered the 400-point mark with his performance last night. The 27 markers gave him a total of 411 for the season and ended a brilliant high school career.

Behind Brookes in the scoring department was Bill Myers with 13 and Frank Kenny with nine.

Hoad Beats Gonzales In Pro Tennis Play

MONTREAL (AP) —Australian Lew Hoad, smashing cross-court placements with crisp accuracy, whipped Pancho Gonzales 6-3, 6-4 Tuesday night in the feature match of Jack Kramer's touring professional tennis show before 6,501.

Hoad combined with former Davis Cup mate Ashley Cooper to down Gonzales and Mal Anderson, another Australia, 8-5 in the doubles.

Cooper crushed Anderson 9-7, 6-4 in the second singles set.

The tour now moves to Philadelphia.

Spahn Shoots For 20 Games In '59 Season

BRADENTON, Fla. (AP)—Warren Spahn says he is going to win 20 games again this year. And when he says it you can bet that he will.

The more you talk with the lean lefthander from Milwaukee, the more you realize why the guy with the big bent nose and the big bent curve is the greatest pitcher in the National League, perhaps in both leagues. No one has a more intelligent approach to his trade.

"The biggest asset a pitcher can have is confidence," said Spahnie today. "When I'm out there on the mound, I make up my mind I'm the best pitcher in the league. And that I'm as good, if not better, than any hitter that comes up to face me. A pitcher has got to be a little arrogant out there. He's got to believe in himself. He's got to think, 'I can get this guy out anytime.'"

In 14 seasons with the Braves, Spahn has won 246 games. In nine of those he's won 20 or more games. But he's nearing 38 and there are those who say he won't win 20 any more. Only Cy Young, Ed Plank and Grover Alexander won 20 or more after 38.

"There's no reason why I shouldn't win 20 this season," said Spahn. "What the difference between this year and last year? One year? I don't feel old. I'm in good physical condition. My arm and legs feel fine.

"I've got the advantage of being with a good club. Also I've got the best catcher in baseball in Del Crandall.

"The old man (Manager Fred Haney) knows what I can do and he goes along with me a little bit longer. That helps a lot."

Reshuffling Of Counties

Bills Would Revamp Ohio Congressional Districts

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Two bills were introduced in the Legislature Monday to revamp Ohio congressional districts.

One, submitted by Reps. Thomas J. Barrett (D-Mahoning) and William M. Carney (D-Trumbull) was a proposal to reshuffle the counties in nine of the state's 23 districts.

Cuyahoga County's Democratic delegation in the House sponsored a measure to revise the four districts in that county. Two Republicans and two Democrats represent Cuyahoga in Congress.

The Cuyahoga proposal would divide Ohio's most populous county with two districts in the western section and two in the eastern area. Shifts in wards and suburbs would give Democrats a better chance in all four districts under the proposal.

Republicans hold congressional seats in seven of the nine districts up for revision in the other measure. Fifteen districts would remain untouched under that bill.

Democrats hold nine of the 23 seats in Ohio's congressional delegation. They gained three seats from Republicans in the election last November.

The governor also sent up a message calling for strengthening of the "conflict of interests" law designed to prevent public officials acting in dual capacities. DiSalle called for a ban to prevent an elected official from receiving anything of value from any state agency, corporation or individual for work done with a state agency.

The congressional redistricting bill headed toward some revision by legislative committees but majority Democrats appeared confident that revision is likely this session.

Congressional districts were last revised by the Republican-controlled General Assembly in 1951. The new proposal would undo some of those changes.

Districts in Cuyahoga, Hamilton and Franklin counties would be unchanged. But Republican strongholds were targets in the 4th, 5th 7th, 8th, and 13th districts.

Here are the counties proposed for revised districts:

3rd District—Montgomery County.

5th — Allen, Defiance, Fulton, Henry, Paulding, Putnam, Van Wert, Williams and Wood.

7th — Butler, Clinton, Greene, Preble and Warren.

8th — Crawford, Hancock, Hardin, Logan, Seneca, Marion, Morrow, Union and Wyandot.

11th — Ashtabula, Geauga, Lake, Portage and all of Trumbull.

13th — Erie, Huron, Lorain, Medina, Ottawa, and Sandusky.

14th — Summit only.

19th—Mahoning only.

The revision would eliminate the split in Trumbull County between two districts. The southern part of Trumbull County is in the 19th District with Mahoning County. All of Trumbull County would go into the 11th District.

The remaining winners were from Columbiana, United and East Palestine High Schools.

Twenty-eight essays were submitted in the county contest from East Liverpool High School, with all students of English classes participating, and they will receive bronze medals. The eight county winners will receive silver medals.

District winners will receive gold medals. John Rippeth of East Liverpool was county essay contest chairman and John Parsons was the city chairman.

Don't let garbage put you out!

INCINERATE IT! without smoke or smell

It's a Safer Way—to dispose of garbage than "canning" it for flies and germs to enjoy until collectors come. Just wrap it up and drop it in a tidy indoor gas incinerator, with or without other burnables. That ends it!

Trash Goes, Too—No need for papers, cartons, rags, etc., to accumulate. You can dispose of them immediately in the same clean unit. Even bones and gristle disappear silently! Just a little ash is all that remains!

No Fumes—The gas flame helps to intensify heat within the insulated chamber, to dry and burn the garbage. Fumes are drawn by the downdraft through a jet-like gas "afterburner" and are completely consumed. That's why the new gas incinerators are truly smokeless and odorless. End distasteful chores for pennies a day.

East Tech Rolling To Second Straight Ohio Cage Crown

Scarabs Move To Finals In District Play

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Cleveland East Tech rolled on toward its second straight Ohio Class AA high school basketball title Tuesday night.

The Scarabs swamped Cleveland Benedictine 88-44 for their 20th of the year and their 46th in a row over the last two seasons, moving into the district finals at Bedford. The champs go against Cathedral Latin (15-4) or St. Ignatius (17-2) in Saturdays finals, after the other two fight it out Thursday.

Newark's three-time state champions were the big victims in Tuesday night's district play. The Wildcats dropped a 64-58 verdict to Columbus Central.

Two unbeaten teams continued on the victory trail in Class A as Racine made it 24 straight by trouncing Crooksville 70-39 at Athens, and Old Washington ran its string to 26 with an 87-58 nod over Fort Frye at Marietta.

Some of the big ones see action tonight as Elyria (21-0) meets Berea (12-8) at Bedford; three-time champion Hamilton (17-4) goes against Princeton (16-3) at Middletown, and the seven - time champion Middletown squad (17-4) tangles with Wyoming (17-3) at Oxford.

Salem Local puts its 23-0 record on the line in the Class A frays at Springfield against Houston (18-5), and Pickerington (21-1) faces a tough foe in Licking Heights (16-6) at Westerville.

Tuesday night's sparse firing cut the Class AA list of survivors to 67 from the starting cast of 412—but nine former champions are still in the running in the "lose-and-out" play. Still on hand, in addition to Hamilton, Middletown and East Tech, are Columbus East, Springfield, New Philadelphia, Portsmouth and Xenia—plus Lorain which copped the inaugural Class AA laurels in 1923.

Four Class A champions remained in the race as the starting field of 601 was trimmed to 50. They are defending champ Northwestern of Wayne County, Castalia Margaretta, Columbiana and Arcanum.

This week's play will trim each class to 16 teams for next week's regionals, from which four in each division will emerge for the state meet here March 20-21.

151 Golfers Await $20,000 Orleans Open

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — With qualifying out of the way, a field of 151 golfers devoted today to getting used to the course for the $20,000 Gerater New Orleans Open Golf Tournament.

Dave Ragan, Chattanooga, Tenn., and Tony Holguin, Midlothian, Ill., turned in the best scores among the 122 golfers who competed for the 63 spots decided in Tuesday's qualifying. Ragan and Holguin carded four-under-par 68's.

Top Scorer As Sophomore.

Cunningham scored 265 points in the regular season and added 38 in two tournament games.

His highest total of the season set a new Memorial Auditorium record for a Potter when he scored 34 points Dec. 23 against Mansfield.

His next best effort was 27 against New Philadelphia.

Bob Mackall, a junior, was second in the scoring department with 212. He scored 189 in the regular season and added 23 in the pair of tournament games.

Rounding out the roster, Ray Bigelow finished with 79, Ken Miller 44, Ron Clark 16 and Phil Chan 12.

East Liverpool scored 898 points for an average of 49.8 per game. East Liverpool's opponents scored 1,907 points and averaged 60.9 a game.

The highest score rolled up against the Potters came in their 89-69 loss to New Philadelphia.

Mike Garcia Works Pair Of Scoreless Innings

By The Associated Press

Mike Garcia has pitched more than 2,000 innings in 11 big league seasons with the Cleveland Indians. In six of those years he topped 200 innings and in 1954 worked five against the New York Giants in the World Series.

At 35, the big right-hander must cherish many baseball memories, but today the thought of two innings pitched in a spring training intrasquad game undoubtedly overshadow his many great performances.

The game was Tuesday at Tucson, Ariz., and Garcia worked two scoreless innings. There was a time when such a March chore would have been routine for the "Big Bear" who along with Bob Feller, Early Wynn and Bob Lemon formed baseball's top pitching staff in the early 50s. But last season the once-powerful Garcia was forced out of baseball with a slipped disc. He appeared in only six 1958 games for the Indians, winning one and losing none before he was released on May 29.

The Indians signed him again this year and Tuesday he started the comeback, giving up only two singles.

Opposing him was a young lefthander of 25, Herb Score, who has had two years of fame and two years of hard luck in his four years with the Indians.

Score came along in 1955 and strung together 16-10 and 20-9 seasons while Garcia was posting his only two losing years with the Tribe.

But in 1957 Score was cut down by a line drive. For months it was doubtful if he would ever pitch again as doctors worked to restore the sight in his right eye.

He came back for the 1958 season, only to be hit by arm trouble. His record for those two seasons was a combined 4-4.

He, too, pitched two scoreless innings, retiring six of seven batters and hitting one. Al Cicotte, a Cleveland newcomer who has seen service with New York and Washington, was hit on the left knee by a batted ball after replacing Score. X-rays proved negative.

The two most valuable players in the majors, Jackie Jensen of the Boston Red Sox and Ernie Banks of the Chicago Cubs reported ailments. Banks, the National League MVP, has infected tonsils, and Jensen, his AL counterpart, a severe stiff neck.

Hancock Fishermen Donate $172 To Fund

The Hancock County Fishermen Club has donated $172 to the Dave Beatty fund. The money was derived from a dance held Saturday night at New Cumberland.

Beatty was injured in an auto accident several months ago. The money is being used to pay hospital expenses.

Although Cincinnati plays Pittsburgh in Cincinnati April 9, the National League's opening day is considered April 10 when the remainder of the teams swing into action. This is the earliest starting date for the league in 46 years.

Buds Falter Again In ABC

ST. LOUIS (AP) — The Budweiser, rated as the top tenpin unit in the country by most of the experts, failed again Tuesday to snag an American Bowling Congress championship.

Dick Weber, who helped bolster the Buds to a second place 3185 Monday night in the team event, collaborated with Ray Bluth for 1306 and a fourth place tie Tuesday in the doubles. The young pair opened with 420, faltered to 399, then jammed through a 487 finale, the highest doubles game of the 18-day - old tournament. Bluth scored 671 while Weber rolled 635.

Two Chicago brothers, Bob and Glenn Gersch, lead the two-man category with 1316.

Other members of the Buds made dents in the all-events standings. Bill Lillard's 622-653-666—1941 tied for fourth place while Weber's 1930 was worth six place and Tom Hennessey's 1905 took tenth.

Ed Lubanski's record-seting 2116 tally gives the Detroiter a strong hold on the all-events lead.

Wittenberg Spills Akron To Win Ohio Cage Crown

By The Associated Press

The home court advantage, which Wittenberg uses to the fullest, apparently was a major factor Tuesday night in the Tigers' 70-52 romp over Akron to win the Ohio Conference basketball crown.

Wittenberg, which now has won 28 straight home court contests broke the 20-game winning skein of the defending conference champions' 20-game winning streak and toppled Akron from the top rung of the Ohio college basketball standings. The Cincinnati Bearcats, who have a 22-2 record, take over first place as Akron's season mark fell to 21-2.

The Wittenberg victory gave the Tigers their first outright crown since 1938. As champs, they'll represent the conference at an NCAA tournament.

Wittenberg's conference record stands at 13-1 as both teams ended regular season play. The Tigers are 18-2 over-all.

In other Ohio cage action, Youngstown defeated Baldwin-Wallace 97-77 to win the District 22 playoffs of the National Assn. of Intercollegiate Athletics and earn a berth on the 32-team NAIA tournament at Kansas City March 9-14.

Xavier broke a seven-game losing streak to defeat Miami of Ohio 84-78 in a non-conference affair. Miami must beat Marshall Thursday night for undisputed possession of the Mid-American Conference crown.

If Miami loses, it will tie Bowling Green for the championship and a playoff will be necessary to determine which team gets an NCAA tourney spot.

Wooster downed Heidelberg 101-77, and Capital outlasted Ohio Wesleyan 74-67 in a pair of Ohio Conference clashes.

Howe Honored, But Ex-Teammate Foils Wing Star

DETROIT (AP) — It was Gordie Howe night and the Detroit Red Wing great received $10,000 worth of gifts. But Harry Lumley, an old teammate and friend, wasn't giving any gifts on the ice.

Instead, the Boston Bruins' emergency goalie was busy robbing Howe in Tuesday night's 2-2 stalemate.

The most flagrant act of larceny came in the second period with Detroit enjoying a 2-1 lead. Howe got a breakaway with teammate Warren Godfrey in the penalty box. He skated in on Lumley and fired a low 20-footer.

The veteran goalie, filling in for the ailing Don Simmons, came out and took the puck on his right pad. Moments later, he foiled Norm Ullman and Red Kelly on another break. Those two saves might turn into the most important made against Detroit all season.

The tie left the Wings wihin five points of the fourth-place New York Rangers in National Hockey League standings. A victory would have put them four points behind both New York and Boston. The Bruins now have undisputed control of third.

Practice Pays Off

ENID, Okla. (AP) — Capts. Tom Davis and Howard Everhart spent the afternoon simulating forced landings in their Air Force plane. Shortly before they had planned to land, the T28 trainer developed engine trouble and they landed in a wheat field. Neither was hurt in what officials said was a perfect emergency landing.

Coach John Yovicsin next fall expects to have his best backfield since he began at Harvard three years ago.

Reds' Manager Says Pinson Will Play Centerfield

TAMPA, Fla. (AP)—Remember Vada Edward Pinson Jr., the youngster with the speed of a neurotic gazelle? He started with Cincinnati's Reds last spring but didn't stay. But he aims to be in the majors this season.

Manager Mayo Smith has similar ideas. He figures Pinson can hold down center field while he shifts Frankie Robinson to permanent first base duty.

Smith said Tuesday: "I am not disturbed because the kid is not a holler guy. I want him to concentrate on his job, play center field the way I understand he can and hit .300.

Pinson, 20, started in right field on opening day last year and collected a hit off Robin Roberts. In his second game, at Pittsburgh, he whacked a grand-slam homer off Ron Kline.

But then he faded and was shipped off to Seattle where he heated up the Pacific Coast League. He won rookie of the year honors, batted .353 and led the league in stolen bases with 37.

2 Cagers Ejected; Chacko Scores 25

By BOB DUFFY
Review Sports Editor

The Midland - Charleroi game Tuesday night had a little bit of everything in it except a victory for the Leopards, who bowed out of the WPIAL tournament to the tune of 69-32.

A near-riot in the third period, which saw a player from each team ejected, marked the semi-final contest which sent Charleroi into the WPIAL final against Farrell on March 11.

A crowd of 4,140, second largest turnout for the tournament at the Pitt Fieldhouse, watched the Leopards fall completely apart as they succumbed to a tight defense thrown up by Charleroi and the scoring of Jimmy Chacko, top point-maker in the WPIAL.

The fist-swinging incident came with 2:16 left in the third period and the score reading 44-21.

The first signs of trouble came over a jump ball when Gene Lake and Chacko went after each other. The ensuing loose ball touched off a brief melee.

Smith and Charleroi's Mickey Bitsko pushed each other and the brawl was under way. It took about 10 Pittsburgh policemen along with the officials and coaches to restore order. The incident held up the game about five minutes.

As a result, Smith and Bitsko were ejected and technical fouls were awarded each team.

The technical fouls were just two of five called during the contest.

Later Charleroi coach Henry Pennline was penalized for using signal cards to call plays.

The fifth technical was called on Lake when he talked back to one of the officials later in the third quarter.

The near riot late in the third period didn't have anything to do with Midland's loss. The game was pretty well out of reach at this point.

The boy responsible was Chacko, who is rated the most fabulous scorer since Pitt's Don Hennon played high school ball.

After the game Hamilton called Chacko "a great ballplayer; there is just no way to defense him."

If Midland played him close, he drove around his guard. And if he wasn't checked close enough, he pumped in long one-hand jump shots.

CHACKO, who had scored 663 points in 25 games before last night's contest, tallied 25 against the Leopards. His specialty was the one-hand jump that whistled through the nets time after time.

He collected eight field goals and 9 of 12 fouls. His 25 points came in three quarters. The Charleroi star fouled out with 4:12 remaining in the fourth quarter.

The 5-foot-11 performer scored seven points each in the first and second periods and dropped in 11 when Charleroi pulled away to its greatest lead in the third quarter.

Midland, which had shot 40 per cent or better in its two previous tourney starts, fired a poor 26 per cent last night, making only 12 field goals in 46 attempts.

Charleroi turned in a 40 per cent mark with 22 of 54.

Charleroi enjoyed a height advantage with 6-foot-6 Al Thiry doing most of the rebounding along with Bob Coulter, 6-foot-3, and substitute Ed Rader, 6-foot-5.

Behind Chacko in the scoring was Art Artis, 5-foot-8 guard, who chipped in with 10 points. Coulter had eight and Thiry and Rader seven each.

MOVIE SMITH, Midland's top scorer who led his team into the semi-finals, was held to only one field goal and that came on a tip early in the first period.

A tight zone thrown up by the Cougars kept the ball away from Smith. And when the 6-foot-2 pivot man would get it he frequently was called for traveling under the basket.

Steve Yetso, who has been ill, failed to score and not one Midland cager reached the double figures.

About the most consistent scorer ot the evening was Frank Aloi, who dropped in nine points, hitting on long one-hand push shots from outside.

Lake followed with seven points, while Barney Silverman, a substitute, added the same number. Nick Vuckovich had five.

Midland jumped off to a good start. After Artis converted a foul, Vuckovich hit on a set and Smith tipped for two points.

Coulter made it 4-3 with a basket from under, but Lake upped the count to 6-3 with a jump shot.

Chacko's two jump shots with five minutes remaining in the first period put Charleroi in front 7-6 and Coulter followed with a charity toss.

With 3:45 remaining, Aloi provided the game's only tie with a push shot to make it 8-8. Neither team scored until 1:52 showed on the fieldhouse clock when Chacko hit again and sent his team into a lead it never relinquished.

LAKE followed with a foul, but Thiry tipped for a bucket and Chacko added a foul as the first period ended, 13-9, with Charleroi on top.

Midway through the second quarter with the score 19-14, Chacko made the technical foul called on Hamilton and Artis followed with two more fouls before Bitsko hit to make it 24-14 with 3:26 remaining.

A six-point spree by Charleroi followed and sent the score to 30-16 at halftime.

Chacko opened the second half with two quick jump shots as the Cougars began moving out of reach, 34-16. Midland didn't get much closer than this and the riot-marred third quarter ended, 50-23.

Both coaches cleared their benches in the fourth period.

Valdes Picked Over Powell

Valdes is favored to beat the ex-San Francisco 49ers pro football player and snap his five fight winning streak.

But at least four boxing figures openly give Powell a good chance. One, trainer Lou Gross, flatly predicts Powell will take Valdes. Siding with Gross were Charley Goldman, who trained Rocky Marciano to the heavyweight championship; Joe Netro, co-manager of Carmen Basilio; and Miami Beach's Angelo Pastrano, corner man for Basilio.

Valdes' manager, Bobby Gleason, says the fight is considered a championship match. "If Nino loses, we're ex-champions."

If Valdes loses, he also will be an ex-top contender for Floyd Patterson's heavyweight crown.

"Patterson is a commission-made champion," Gleason said. "How did he get the title anyway? In 1956 he defeated Jimmy Walls, Alvin Williams, Hurricane Jackson and then was awarded the title by beating Archie Moore.

"Since then he defended his so-called title by beating Jackson again, Pete Rademacher and Roy Harris. You won't find Valdes' name on his record."

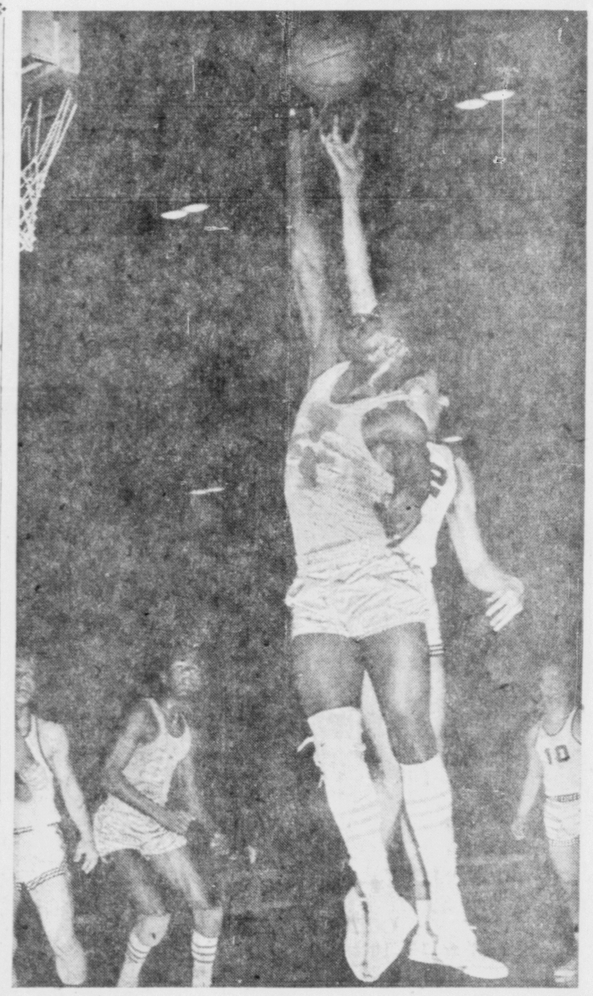
The fight will be televised nationally over the ABC network at 10 p.m. (EST).



MOVIE SMITH appears to be balancing ball on one finger in try for rebound in the first quarter of Tuesday night's Midland-Charleroi game at the Pitt Fieldhouse. Charleroi advanced to the finals of the WPIAL tournament by defeating Midland, 69-32.

Three Teams Post Victories In 'Y' League

Glenn's, Reed's and Hale's picked up opening night victories in the YMCA-Member League which got underway Tuesday on the "Y" floor.

Glenn's, paced by Ted Robinson's 30 points, outlasted Scafidi's, 56-50. Keith Bishop topped the losers with 21 points.

Jim Conrad scored 23 for Migliore's.

Reed's picked up a 57-50 victory over Anderson's as Allen Dawson tossed in 19 points for the winners. Carl Anderson's 24 points came in a losing cause for his team.

Pittsburgh's Mel Barnwell set an American record in the 1959 Michigan State relays, running 300 yards in 30 seconds.

Lisbon Man To Operate Trout Fishing Show

LISBON — Francis H. Bezdek of R. D. will operate the trout fishing attraction at the American and Canadian Sportsmen's vacation and boat show March 13-21 in Cleveland, according to A. W. Newman, director.

Also featured with trout fishing will be arrangements of plants and flowers in their natural setting, fashioned from vinyl plastic, one of the business enterprises of Mr. and Mrs. Bezdek at their Boulder Spring farm near Signal.

Bezdek, a free-lance biologist and fish specialist, spent several years as a wildlife specialist with the Ohio Department of Natural Resources, the West Virginia Conservation Commission and as a field technician with the Soil Conservation Service in Lisbon.

Pro Cage Vet Hits 10,000

By The Associated Press

Vern Mikkelsen of the Minneapolis Lakers finally made it as the seventh player in the history of the National Basketball Assn. to score 10,000 points, but the New York Knickerbockers today still needed to clinch second place in the Eastern Division struggle with the Syracuse Nationals.

In his tenth season with the Lakers, Mikkelsen scored 11 points Tuesday night at Providence, R.I., as the Boston Celtics rallied to clip Minneapolis, 119-112. Mikkelsen fouled out in the second half after hitting the 10,000 mark on the nose.

Boston clicked for 13 consecutive points in the third period to draw away from the Lakers. The Celtics set a new team record of 50 victories in a season. Tommy Heinsohn got 30 points for Boston and Elgin Baylor scored 24 for Minneapolis.

After a nip and tuck duel for three periods, with Syracuse taking an 88-86 advantage, the Nats poured it on in the final stanza to win 127-120.

At St. Louis, the Hawks rang up their 15th straight win at Kiel Auditorium by downing Cincinnati 113-102 after the Royals led at halftime, 50-46.

Brookes Nets 27 In Final Contest

It marked the second year in a row that Chester has bowed out in its opener.

Last night Coach Max Tuttle's team failed to get started as a taller Benwood Union, paced by the scoring of Porter and Butts, pulled away in the second period.

The score at the end of the first quarter was deadlocked at 9-9, but Benwood Union picked up a 30-20 margin at halftime and 56-36 after three periods.

Porter tossed in 25 points and his running mate Butts poured in 22 to lead Benwood Union to the semi-finals of the Sectional "AA" tournament.

Brookes, a senior, shattered the 400-point mark with his performance last night. The 27 markers gave him a total of 411 for the season and ended a brilliant high school career.

Behind Brookes in the scoring department was Bill Myers with 13 and Frank Kenny with nine.

Hoad Beats Gonzales In Pro Tennis Play

MONTREAL (AP) —Australian Lew Hoad, smashing cross-court placements with crisp accuracy, whipped Pancho Gonzales 6-3, 6-4 Tuesday night in the feature match of Jack Kramer's touring professional tennis show before 6,501.

Hoad combined with former Davis Cup mate Ashley Cooper to down Gonzales and Mal Anderson, another Australia, 8-5 in the doubles.

Cooper crushed Anderson 9-7, 6-4 in the second singles set.

The tour now moves to Philadelphia.

Spahn Shoots For 20 Games In '59 Season

BRADENTON, Fla. (AP)—Warren Spahn says he is going to win 20 games again this year. And when he says it you can bet that he will.

The more you talk with the lean lefthander from Milwaukee, the more you realize why the guy with the big bent nose and the big bent curve is the greatest pitcher in the National League, perhaps in both leagues. No one has a more intelligent approach to his trade.

"The biggest asset a pitcher can have is confidence," said Spahnie today. "When I'm out there on the mound, I make up my mind I'm the best pitcher in the league. And that I'm as good, if not better, than any hitter that comes up to face me. A pitcher has got to be a little arrogant out there. He's got to believe in himself. He's got to think, 'I can get this guy out anytime.'"

In 14 seasons with the Braves, Spahn has won 246 games. In nine of those he's won 20 or more games. But he's nearing 38 and there are those who say he won't win 20 any more. Only Cy Young, Ed Plank and Grover Alexander won 20 or more after 38.

"There's no reason why I shouldn't win 20 this season," said Spahn. "What the difference between this year and last year? One year? I don't feel old. I'm in good physical condition. My arm and legs feel fine.

"I've got the advantage of being with a good club. Also I've got the best catcher in baseball in Del Crandall.

"The old man (Manager Fred Haney) knows what I can do and he goes along with me a little bit longer. That helps a lot."

6 Teams Set In Tourney At Beaver Local

Drawings will be held after tomorrow night's games to determine the pairings for Friday. Three more games will be played Friday, including a consolation contest.

Finals will be held Saturday at 7 p. m.

9 Berths Left To Be Filled In NCAA Play

The NCAA basketball tournament, strictly a cliffhanger special with nine berths to fill in the next six days, can see its vacancies whittled to seven tonight.

But unless the right combination turns up, it can have two more backyard playoffs and even more suspense on its hands.

The Ivy League and the Yankee Conference come front and center-court with the NCAA hope of Ivies' Dartmouth and Princeton and Yankees' Connecticut and Maine on the line.

Dartmouth and Princeton share the Ivy lead with 12-1 records with one game remaining — Dartmouth at home against Brown and Princeton on the road at Penn, both tonight. If both win, the tie will be resolved in a playoff on Yale's neutral court Saturday night.

Connecticut (7-2) can nail its 10th undisputed Yankee title in 11 years with a victory over Rhode Island tonight. Failing, the UConns drop back into a first place tie with idle Maine (7-3)—and another playoff.

The NCAA already has a triple first place tie to settle in the Border Conference, with Arizona State U., New Mexico State and Texas Western involved. Of the other remaining tournament berths, competition is so close that playoffs may be needed in four more circuits before the 23-team field is set for next Tuesday's full-scale opening.

Of the nine, the only certainties are one at-large berth from the eastern section (Boston Univ. may get that if it beats Providence Thursday), and the winner of the Atlantic Coast Conference Tournament on Saturday.

There's still a chance for ties and playoffs to settle berths from the Pacific Coast, Skyline, Mid-American, and Missouri Valley Conference races now led by California, Utah, Miami (Ohio), and Cincinnati, respectively.

Among the major schools, it was generally warm-up night Tuesday night for three teams headed for tournament play. Texas Christian's Southwest Conference champs closed out league play with an 81-63 romp over Baylor, but St. Mary's West Coast A.C. titleholders lost to Santa Clara 67-66. It was St. Mary's first conference defeat and also ended the Gaels 13-game winning streak. Providence, an NIT team, made it 18-4 for the season with a 79-44 whipping of Siena.

Southern Methodist took second place in the Southwest, downing Texas A&M 70-66 and Texas Tech, behind the 20-point scoring of Gerry Myers, nailed third, 80-69 over Arkansas. Texas salvaged something from a woeful season, beating Rice 63-54 and ending a 13-game losing string.

Xavier of Ohio, the defending NIT champion that went sour, snapped a seven-game losing streak by topping Miami of Ohio 82-78. Balanced scoring (five players hit double figures) led Iowa State to a 67-62 Big 8 victory over Kansas, and Rutgers snapped Lafayette's eight-game winning streak, 77-72.

Minoso To Face $100 Fine Each Day Of Absence

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — Minnie Minoso will be fined $100 for each day that he does not report to the Cleveland Indians' training camp.

This was announced by General Manager Frank Lane when he arrived here Tuesday and found that the star left fielder was the only unauthorized absentee.

Minoso is the Tribe's highest paid player at a reported salary of $45,000.

Lane said he realized Minoso played baseball all winter, "but so did some of our other players and they managed to get here on time."

"We can't make an exception for Minoso," the general manager said. "If we did, the other players would feel that they could get away with reporting late next year."

GEARY, Okla. (AP) — For 42 years students have entered the Geary High School building through the rear door. The front faces vacant lots and a railroad track. Old timers said the school was built facing the tracks so passengers on passing trains would have a pleasant view.

FIELD AND STREAM

By R. L. LIDE

The mystery of the strange animal that was killed by a truck driven by Paul Jarvis of Salineville near Highlandtown has been partly cleared. It now can be reported it was a fox, although an unusual one in color.

Because of the cobby appearance of the animal, the three - quarter length tail and the overall silver-gray of the fur, everything seemed to point to it as a "coydog", or a cross between a coyote and a dog, which is fairly common in the state of New York. The animal had brown ears.

THE SLANTING eyes gave it a coyote look, along with the brownish smear around both eyes. One whiff of the animal should have told the story. No animal, to my knowledge, smells like a red fox, so I should have said "fox" and let it go at that.

What settled the argument was the fact that Robert Kessel of near Wellsville brought another animal to the sheriff's office very similar to the one Jarvis ran over.

Robert's fox has the full length fox tail, the body is silver-gray like the other fox, but it has black ears, blackish smears around the eyes and a darker spot on the tail.

SINCE THE second animal has shown up within the past week and it was taken within six miles of where the first one was killed, this seems to clinch the theory that they are just unusual colored foxes.

One was a male and the other a female and both full grown. Without a doubt more of these off-color animals will be taken in the area and it will be interesting to know how prevalent they may be.

If fox furs or the long hair furs were fashionable like they were at one time, these two animals would have been very valuable. As it stands the pelts have little value.

Here they are: 1952 — $1,848; 1953 — $1,179; 1954 — $1,224; 1955 —$1,738; 1956 — $1,662; 1957 — $1,518; and all-time high in 1958 of $2,190.

CERTAINLY, that proves that paying a fox bounty is having no control over the foxes whatsoever. I am not taking up for the fox as some people believe, but I do insist that hunting foxes is a sporting event and if there was no sport connected with it how many fellows would bother to hunt them?

As it stands, we are burning the candle at both ends. Losing more and more hunting territory to the various land uses such as superhighways, industry, housing developments, factories and strip mines, just to mention a few, while the population of Ohio is gaining by 250,000 annually and the hunting and fishing pressure increases annually.

You and I might not be around when the gap closes, but it does not take a smart person to see that losing all this land and the pressure increasing the future generation might be happy to have anything left to hunt. I'll agree it is not a happy thought.

Ice Hockey Fever Grips Czechoslovakia

PRAGUE (AP) — Ice hockey fever is gripping Czechoslovakia which plays host to the world championships beginning Thursday.

The preliminary round will be played in three provincial towns through March 7 while the final round will be held here March 9-15.

Western reporters are stopped in the streets by complete strangers and asked for tickets for the Winter Stadium here. It holds 15,000 with admission sought by several hundred thousand.

Favorite with experts and fans is Canada's Belleville McFarlands who will defend the title won last year by the Canadian Whitbys, who scored a 4-2 victory over Russia in the finals.

Other top favorites are Czechoslovakia, Sweden and Russia in that order.

IC4A Group To Sift Issue In Track Case

NEW YORK (AP) — The case of the reversed decision will go before the highest court in the IC4A, the executive committee, probably within a week, it was indicated today.

The case developed last Saturday night when Manhattan won the IC4A track and field championship with 21 points to 20 17-36 for second-place Penn State.

Manhattan got its key point when a judge reversed his original ruling in which he had placed the Jaspers' Henry White in fourth place in the 60-yard high hurdles behind New York University's Mike Herman. A couple of hours later, the same judge decided that White had beaten Herman and Manhattan collected one more point — the difference, as it turned out.

Penn State's coach, Chick Werner and his athletic director, Ernie McCoy, on Monday, demanded a "review" of the facts by the IC4A games committee. This committee looked into the matter decided it was out of its jurisdiction.

So Tuesday, McCoy issued an official protest, so IC4A Commissioner Asa Bushnell is going to call a meeting of the executive committee as soon as he can round up all the members.

Famed Waterloo Wonders To Attend State Tourney

By FRITZ HOWELL
Associated Press Sports Writer

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Just a quarter-century ago, the Waterloo Wonders came nonchalantly out of the Lawrence County hills to set Ohio agog with their basketball legerdemain.

At least a million Buckeye fans, in the interim, have boasted how they saw the colorful kids win the 1934 and 1935 Class B high school championships with a 29-0 record the first year and 22-3 the second.

The old Fairgrounds Coliseum seated only 7500, so some of the fans must be wrong about witnessing the legendary Wonders in action.

But, come Saturday, March 21, they'll have a chance to make their boast come true.

At the suggestion of Dick Burdette of the Portsmouth Times, High School Athletic Commissioner W. J. (Bill) McConnell today invited the Waterloo veterans to the state scholastic tournament as guests of the athletic association.

They'll be introduced at half-time of the state Class A championship contest—and perhaps put on a slightly slowed-down exhibition of their famed trickery.

In the 25 years since the five kids came from the village of 150 to capture the titles and the hearts of the fans, it's possible some frills and fancies have been added to their exploits. But all the frills and fancies of a faulty memory can't match the facts.

The Wonders had everything—class, poise, shooting ability, defensive strength and color in huge and gaudy gobs. No one who saw them will ever forget. Individually, there wasn't a standout in the lot—but as a team they were unbeatable.

That was in the days of the center jump, when scores were low. But Orlyn Roberts scored 69 points in three games as the Wonders raced to the 1934 title—still high for a three-game tourney in the state meet.

Orlyn, pensioned as the result of service-incurred injuries, still is a Waterloo resident. So is his cousin and former teammate, Wyman Roberts, now a construction worker.

The others were Stewart Wiseman, now a school teacher in Ross County; Beryl Drummond, a Dayton industrial worker, and Curt McMahan, now employed in Springfield. All but Wiseman made the 1935 all-tourney team.

Curly - haired Hairston, who coached the Wonders to the top of the world, has a garage and auto agency in Chesapeake.

Their entry to St. John Arena this time probably will lack some of the glamor of their descent on the old Fairgrounds Coliseum.

The Wonders went for a 58-29 win over Chandlersville in their debut, nicked Lowellville 43-32 and Mark Center 40-26 for the title. The scores could have been bigger.

The first point went to Drummond. He was fouled, and instead of tossing the ball, he bounced it off the floor and into the ring. That set the stage for basketball's greatest scholastic show.

From then on everything happened. When one of the Wonders tired, he walked over and chatted on the bench with Hairston while the other four carried on "Bunny" shots were passed up time after time as a Wonder donated, with a courtly bow, the ball to the frantic opposition.

Half the time no one knew who had the ball, so fast and intricate was the Waterloo passing attack.

Anyway, they're coming back, the most colorful, talked-about and improbable team Ohio has ever known.

Ex-Ring Champ Seriously Injured In Hit-Run Case

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Former world lightweight boxing champion Jimmy Carter was struck and seriously injured Tuesday night by a hit-run motorist, police reported.

Attendants at Central Receiving Hospital said the 35-year-old ex-champion was in a semi-conscious state and unable to give any details of the accident.

He was discovered by neighbors a block from his home. Investigators said evidence indicated he was struck by a driver who then drove off in a heavy fog.

Carter won the lightweight crown May 25, 1951 by stopping Ike Williams in 14 rounds at Madison Square Garden. Lauro Salas took it away from Carter by decision in May, 1952, only to lose it back to Jimmy in October of that year — also by decision.

Carter then reigned as lightweight king until Paddy DeMarco defeated him in 15 rounds at New York City March 5, 1954.

Col. George Simler, director of athletics at the Air Force Academy, was shot down in northern France a month after the Normandy invasion in 1944. He evaded capture, made his way back to the allied lines and was flown back to his base in England.

Lisbon Man Elected Archer Club President

LISBON — Paul Brownlee of Lisbon was elected president of the Columbiana County Archers Club at a meeting Monday night in the Village Hall. He succeeds Eric Gudat of Washingtonville.

Lewis Emelo and Valarie Emelo of Salem were elected vice president and treasurer, respectively. Tom Boyce of Lisbon was elected secretary.

The Early Bird Shoot will be held May 17 at the range near Willow Grove Park, just west of Lisbon.

Commission May Set Wheeling Downs Dates

The West Virginia State Racing Commission may set the dates for Wheeling Downs racing for the year — unless the State Supreme Court rules on the dispute by March 13.

The commission has a meeting slated that day in Charleston. Malcolm J. Lowe, chairman, said the group is anxious to settle the controversy since a source of state revenue is involved.

The Wheeling Racing Association in January obtained a writ against the commission, charging the regulatory group granted certain dates then refused a license for the periods. The commission replied it denied a license to Wheeling Downs after Waterford Park requested a re-hearing on its application for certain dates.

Circuit Court ruled in favor of Wheeling Downs and the commission appealed to the high court. Its ruling is now awaited. Under the disputed schedule, Wheeling Downs is due to begin racing June 1.

Real Pipe Dreams

ADAIR, Okla. (AP) — This northeastern Oklahoma hamlet whose chief claim to fame is the 1892 train robbery-gun battle by the Dalton gang will soon have running water. Plumbers expect their business to boom.

The leading money-winning race horse in Maryland in 1958 was Brookfield Farm's Intentionally, which ran in only one race. He earned $119,571 for winning the Pimlico Futurity.

East Tech Rolling To Second Straight Ohio Cage Crown

Scarabs Move To Finals In District Play

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Cleveland East Tech rolled on toward its second straight Ohio Class AA high school basketball title Tuesday night.

The Scarabs swamped Cleveland Benedictine 88-44 for their 20th of the year and their 46th in a row over the last two seasons, moving into the district finals at Bedford. The champs go against Cathedral Latin (15-4) or St. Ignatius (17-2) in Saturdays finals, after the other two fight it out Thursday.

Newark's three-time state champions were the big victims in Tuesday night's district play. The Wildcats dropped a 64-58 verdict to Columbus Central.

Two unbeaten teams continued on the victory trail in Class A as Racine made it 24 straight by trouncing Crooksville 70-39 at Athens, and Old Washington ran its string to 26 with an 87-58 nod over Fort Frye at Marietta.

Some of the big ones see action tonight as Elyria (21-0) meets Berea (12-8) at Bedford; three-time champion Hamilton (17-4) goes against Princeton (16-3) at Middletown, and the seven - time champion Middletown squad (17-4) tangles with Wyoming (17-3) at Oxford.

Salem Local puts its 23-0 record on the line in the Class A frays at Springfield against Houston (18-5), and Pickerington (21-1) faces a tough foe in Licking Heights (16-6) at Westerville.

Tuesday night's sparse firing cut the Class AA list of survivors to 67 from the starting cast of 412—but nine former champions are still in the running in the "lose-and-out" play. Still on hand, in addition to Hamilton, Middletown and East Tech, are Columbus East, Springfield, New Philadelphia, Portsmouth and Xenia—plus Lorain which copped the inaugural Class AA laurels in 1923.

Four Class A champions remained in the race as the starting field of 601 was trimmed to 50. They are defending champ Northwestern of Wayne County, Castalia Margaretta, Columbiana and Arcanum.

This week's play will trim each class to 16 teams for next week's regionals, from which four in each division will emerge for the state meet here March 20-21.

151 Golfers Await $20,000 Orleans Open

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — With qualifying out of the way, a field of 151 golfers devoted today to getting used to the course for the $20,000 Gerater New Orleans Open Golf Tournament.

Dave Ragan, Chattanooga, Tenn., and Tony Holguin, Midlothian, Ill., turned in the best scores among the 122 golfers who competed for the 63 spots decided in Tuesday's qualifying. Ragan and Holguin carded four-under-par 68's.

Mike Garcia Works Pair Of Scoreless Innings

By The Associated Press

Mike Garcia has pitched more than 2,000 innings in 11 big league seasons with the Cleveland Indians. In six of those years he topped 200 innings and in 1954 worked five against the New York Giants in the World Series.

At 35, the big right-hander must cherish many baseball memories, but today the thought of two innings pitched in a spring training intrasquad game undoubtedly overshadow his many great performances.

The game was Tuesday at Tucson, Ariz., and Garcia worked two scoreless innings. There was a time when such a March chore would have been routine for the "Big Bear" who along with Bob Feller, Early Wynn and Bob Lemon formed baseball's top pitching staff in the early 50s. But last season the once-powerful Garcia was forced out of baseball with a slipped disc. He appeared in only six 1958 games for the Indians, winning one and losing none before he was released on May 29.

The Indians signed him again this year and Tuesday he started the comeback, giving up only two singles.

Opposing him was a young lefthander of 25, Herb Score, who has had two years of fame and two years of hard luck in his four years with the Indians.

Score came along in 1955 and strung together 16-10 and 20-9 seasons while Garcia was posting his only two losing years with the Tribe.

But in 1957 Score was cut down by a line drive. For months it was doubtful if he would ever pitch again as doctors worked to restore the sight in his right eye.

He came back for the 1958 season, only to be hit by arm trouble. His record for those two seasons was a combined 4-4.

He, too, pitched two scoreless innings, retiring six of seven batters and hitting one. Al Cicotte, a Cleveland newcomer who has seen service with New York and Washington, was hit on the left knee by a batted ball after replacing Score. X-rays proved negative.

The two most valuable players in the majors, Jackie Jensen of the Boston Red Sox and Ernie Banks of the Chicago Cubs reported ailments. Banks, the National League MVP, has infected tonsils, and Jensen, his AL counterpart, a severe stiff neck.

Hancock Fishermen Donate $172 To Fund

The Hancock County Fishermen Club has donated $172 to the Dave Beatty fund. The money was derived from a dance held Saturday night at New Cumberland.

Beatty was injured in an auto accident several months ago. The money is being used to pay hospital expenses.

Although Cincinnati plays Pittsburgh in Cincinnati April 9, the National League's opening day is considered April 10 when the remainder of the teams swing into action. This is the earliest starting date for the league in 46 years.

Buds Falter Again In ABC

ST. LOUIS (AP) — The Budweiser, rated as the top tenpin unit in the country by most of the experts, failed again Tuesday to snag an American Bowling Congress championship.

Dick Weber, who helped bolster the Buds to a second place 3185 Monday night in the team event, collaborated with Ray Bluth for 1306 and a fourth place tie Tuesday in the doubles. The young pair opened with 420, faltered to 399, then jammed through a 487 finale, the highest doubles game of the 18-day - old tournament. Bluth scored 671 while Weber rolled 635.

Two Chicago brothers, Bob and Glenn Gersch, lead the two-man category with 1316.

Other members of the Buds made dents in the all-events standings. Bill Lillard's 622-653-666—1941 tied for fourth place while Weber's 1930 was worth six place and Tom Hennessey's 1905 took tenth.

Ed Lubanski's record-seting 2116 tally gives the Detroiter a strong hold on the all-events lead.

Wittenberg Spills Akron To Win Ohio Cage Crown

By The Associated Press

The home court advantage, which Wittenberg uses to the fullest, apparently was a major factor Tuesday night in the Tigers' 70-52 romp over Akron to win the Ohio Conference basketball crown.

Wittenberg, which now has won 28 straight home court contests broke the 20-game winning skein of the defending conference champions' 20-game winning streak and toppled Akron from the top rung of the Ohio college basketball standings. The Cincinnati Bearcats, who have a 22-2 record, take over first place as Akron's season mark fell to 21-2.

The Wittenberg victory gave the Tigers their first outright crown since 1938. As champs, they'll represent the conference at an NCAA tournament.

Wittenberg's conference record stands at 13-1 as both teams ended regular season play. The Tigers are 18-2 over-all.

In other Ohio cage action, Youngstown defeated Baldwin-Wallace 97-77 to win the District 22 playoffs of the National Assn. of Intercollegiate Athletics and earn a berth on the 32-team NAIA tournament at Kansas City March 9-14.

Xavier broke a seven-game losing streak to defeat Miami of Ohio 84-78 in a non-conference affair. Miami must beat Marshall Thursday night for undisputed possession of the Mid-American Conference crown.

If Miami loses, it will tie Bowling Green for the championship and a playoff will be necessary to determine which team gets an NCAA tourney spot.

Wooster downed Heidelberg 101-77, and Capital outlasted Ohio Wesleyan 74-67 in a pair of Ohio Conference clashes.

Howe Honored, But Ex-Teammate Foils Wing Star

DETROIT (AP) — It was Gordie Howe night and the Detroit Red Wing great received $10,000 worth of gifts. But Harry Lumley, an old teammate and friend, wasn't giving any gifts on the ice.

Instead, the Boston Bruins' emergency goalie was busy robbing Howe in Tuesday night's 2-2 stalemate.

The most flagrant act of larceny came in the second period with Detroit enjoying a 2-1 lead. Howe got a breakaway with teammate Warren Godfrey in the penalty box. He skated in on Lumley and fired a low 20-footer.

The veteran goalie, filling in for the ailing Don Simmons, came out and took the puck on his right pad. Moments later, he foiled Norm Ullman and Red Kelly on another break. Those two saves might turn into the most important made against Detroit all season.

The tie left the Wings wihin five points of the fourth-place New York Rangers in National Hockey League standings. A victory would have put them four points behind both New York and Boston. The Bruins now have undisputed control of third.

Practice Pays Off

ENID, Okla. (AP) — Capts. Tom Davis and Howard Everhart spent the afternoon simulating forced landings in their Air Force plane. Shortly before they had planned to land, the T28 trainer developed engine trouble and they landed in a wheat field. Neither was hurt in what officials said was a perfect emergency landing.

Coach John Yovicsin next fall expects to have his best backfield since he began at Harvard three years ago.

Reds' Manager Says Pinson Will Play Centerfield

TAMPA, Fla. (AP)—Remember Vada Edward Pinson Jr., the youngster with the speed of a neurotic gazelle? He started with Cincinnati's Reds last spring but didn't stay. But he aims to be in the majors this season.

Manager Mayo Smith has similar ideas. He figures Pinson can hold down center field while he shifts Frankie Robinson to permanent first base duty.

Smith said Tuesday: "I am not disturbed because the kid is not a holler guy. I want him to concentrate on his job, play center field the way I understand he can and hit .300.

Pinson, 20, started in right field on opening day last year and collected a hit off Robin Roberts. In his second game, at Pittsburgh, he whacked a grand-slam homer off Ron Kline.

But then he faded and was shipped off to Seattle where he heated up the Pacific Coast League. He won rookie of the year honors, batted .353 and led the league in stolen bases with 37.

Norman Attacks 2nd-Place Talk For His Tigers

LAKELAND, Fla. (AP)—"People are trying to put words into my mouth, about the second place chances of my ball club," said Manager Bill Norman.

Norman's Detroit Tigers once more have been picked by the odds makers as the second best team in the American League.

"Some people are trying—in a cute way—to get me to say great things about this team," Norman said. "I ain't going to get foot-in-mouth disease just because a bunch of so-called experts say we're second best to the Yankees."

Norman will say only that he is optimistic about the Tigers' first division chances.

The Tigers were picked during spring training last year to end second in the American League pennant race but finished fifth.

How Can I? ? ?

By ANNE ASHLEY

Q. How can I make mucilage?

A. A good mucilage can be made by mixing equal parts of gum arabic and tragacanth. Dissolve in hot water to the required consistency.

Q. How can I purify and whiten a sponge?

A. Soak it in milk and rinse thoroughly in warm water to which a little carbolic acid has been added. This will make it look like new.

Store Wins Verdict In Suit Over Injury

LISBON — A Common Pleas Court jury returned a verdict Tuesday noon for the Mayberry 5 & 10-cent store in the $5,000 personal injury action of Peter Pondello on behalf of his son, Albert Pondello, who claimed he was hurt in a fall on the stairs of the East Palestine store in August 1956.

The jury deliberated 45 minutes before returning the verdict against the Youngstown plaintiffs. Judge Raymond S. Buzzard presided for the trial, which began Monday. The jury included:

Fern F. Sheffler, Clara Thorne and Frank Miller of East Liverpool; May Needham and Ruth Greenwood of Salem, Mary Bell and Lucille Chestnut of Lisbon, Margaret Miller of Wellsville, Lela Horn of Columbiana, Hazel Elner of West Point, Wilma Smith of Leetonia and John Hartman of North Georgetown.

Ohio Motto Proposed

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—"With God, All Things Are Possible." That's the proposed official motto for Ohio. Suggested by 11-year-old Jim Mastarnado of Cincinnati, it received the endorsement Tuesday of the Ohio Senate State Government Committee. Ohio has not had an official motto since 1868.

Randall's New Congressman For Missouri

Returns from all but 11 of the 445 precincts in the west central Missouri district, including part of Kansas City, gave Randall 27,492 to 19,972 votes over Republican William R. McKee Jr., and lumber dealer from suburban Lee's Summit.

The district, normally Democratic, returned Christopher to office last November by nearly 64 per cent of the vote.

In a primary election in Kansas City, all nine Citizens Assn. candidates for City Council were nominated and all but two outdrew their opponents.

Six independent candidates for the council and one for mayor were eliminated in the voting.

Mayor H. Roe Bartle heads the ticket of the Citizens Assn., which has controlled City Hall since it beat the old Pendergast machine in 1940.

Open Door Policy

INDIANAPOLIS — The courthouse staff of the county's Democratic sheriff breathed a sigh of relief when a fellow party member was elected county recorder. The new recorder promised to unlock the door of a rest room the Republican incumbent had refused to share with the Democrats.

First non-stop Paris to New York flight was made by French Capt. D. Coste and Maurice Bellonte in 1930.

Social Security Changed For Wife

One provision of the 1958 amendments to the Social Security Act enables some newly married wives of men receiving Social Security benefits to qualify immediately for benefits on the husband's Social Security account.

In announcing this change in the law, William J. McCauley, manager of the Youngstown Social Security Office, pointed out that before the 1958 amendments a new wife had to wait 3 years before she could receive benefits as the wife of a man getting Social Security retirement benefits. Under the old law the three-year waiting period was waived only if the couple became the parents of a child.

Now, if the wife was eligible for widow's, parent's, or childhood disability benefits for the month before her marriage, she can qualify for wife's benefits immediately, providing she meets the other requirements for entitlement.

These other requirements include (1) being age 62 or more, or (2) having in her care a child entitled to Social Security benefits, and (3) not being entitled to a higher benefit on her own Social Security record.

Anyone who might possibly meet any of these qualifications should check with the Social Security office in the basement of the Post Office, or at the regional office, 123 W. Commerce St., Youngstown 3, Ohio.

9 Berths Left To Be Filled In NCAA Play

The NCAA basketball tournament, strictly a cliffhanger special with nine berths to fill in the next six days, can see its vacancies whittled to seven tonight.

But unless the right combination turns up, it can have two more backyard playoffs and even more suspense on its hands.

The Ivy League and the Yankee Conference come front and center-court with the NCAA hope of Ivies' Dartmouth and Princeton and Yankees' Connecticut and Maine on the line.

Dartmouth and Princeton share the Ivy lead with 12-1 records with one game remaining — Dartmouth at home against Brown and Princeton on the road at Penn, both tonight. If both win, the tie will be resolved in a playoff on Yale's neutral court Saturday night.

Connecticut (7-2) can nail its 10th undisputed Yankee title in 11 years with a victory over Rhode Island tonight. Failing, the UConns drop back into a first place tie with idle Maine (7-3)—and another playoff.

The NCAA already has a triple first place tie to settle in the Border Conference, with Arizona State U., New Mexico State and Texas Western involved. Of the other remaining tournament berths, competition is so close that playoffs may be needed in four more circuits before the 23-team field is set for next Tuesday's full-scale opening.

Of the nine, the only certainties are one at-large berth from the eastern section (Boston Univ. may get that if it beats Providence Thursday), and the winner of the Atlantic Coast Conference Tournament on Saturday.

There's still a chance for ties and playoffs to settle berths from the Pacific Coast, Skyline, Mid-American, and Missouri Valley Conference races now led by California, Utah, Miami (Ohio), and Cincinnati, respectively.

Among the major schools, it was generally warm-up night Tuesday night for three teams headed for tournament play. Texas Christian's Southwest Conference champs closed out league play with an 81-63 romp over Baylor, but St. Mary's West Coast A.C. titleholders lost to Santa Clara 67-66. It was St. Mary's first conference defeat and also ended the Gaels 13-game winning streak. Providence, an NIT team, made it 18-4 for the season with a 79-44 whipping of Siena.

Southern Methodist took second place in the Southwest, downing Texas A&M 70-66 and Texas Tech, behind the 20-point scoring of Gerry Myers, nailed third, 80-69 over Arkansas. Texas salvaged something from a woeful season, beating Rice 63-54 and ending a 13-game losing string.

Xavier of Ohio, the defending NIT champion that went sour, snapped a seven-game losing streak by topping Miami of Ohio 82-78. Balanced scoring (five players hit double figures) led Iowa State to a 67-62 Big 8 victory over Kansas, and Rutgers snapped Lafayette's eight-game winning streak, 77-72.

Minoso To Face $100 Fine Each Day Of Absence

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — Minnie Minoso will be fined $100 for each day that he does not report to the Cleveland Indians' training camp.

This was announced by General Manager Frank Lane when he arrived here Tuesday and found that the star left fielder was the only unauthorized absentee.

Minoso is the Tribe's highest paid player at a reported salary of $45,000.

Lane said he realized Minoso played baseball all winter, "but so did some of our other players and they managed to get here on time."

"We can't make an exception for Minoso," the general manager said. "If we did, the other players would feel that they could get away with reporting late next year."

GEARY, Okla. (AP) — For 42 years students have entered the Geary High School building through the rear door. The front faces vacant lots and a railroad track. Old timers said the school was built facing the tracks so passengers on passing trains would have a pleasant view.

FIELD AND STREAM

By R. L. LIDE

The mystery of the strange animal that was killed by a truck driven by Paul Jarvis of Salineville near Highlandtown has been partly cleared. It now can be reported it was a fox, although an unusual one in color.

Because of the cobby appearance of the animal, the three - quarter length tail and the overall silver-gray of the fur, everything seemed to point to it as a "coydog", or a cross between a coyote and a dog, which is fairly common in the state of New York. The animal had brown ears.

It weighed 12½ pounds, which is about as big as a fox gets.

THE SLANTING eyes gave it a coyote look, along with the brownish smear around both eyes. One whiff of the animal should have told the story. No animal, to my knowledge, smells like a red fox, so I should have said "fox" and let it go at that.

What settled the argument was the fact that Robert Kessel of near Wellsville brought another animal to the sheriff's office very similar to the one Jarvis ran over.

Robert's fox has the full length fox tail, the body is silver-gray like the other fox, but it has black ears, blackish smears around the eyes and a darker spot on the tail.

SINCE THE second animal has shown up within the past week and it was taken within six miles of where the first one was killed, this seems to clinch the theory that they are just unusual colored foxes.

One was a male and the other a female and both full grown. Without a doubt more of these off-color animals will be taken in the area and it will be interesting to know how prevalent they may be.

If fox furs or the long hair furs were fashionable like they were at one time, these two animals would have been very valuable. As it stands the pelts have little value.

Here they are: 1952 — $1,848; 1953 — $1,179; 1954 — $1,224; 1955 —$1,738; 1956 — $1,662; 1957 — $1,518; and all-time high in 1958 of $2,190.

CERTAINLY, that proves that paying a fox bounty is having no control over the foxes whatsoever. I am not taking up for the fox as some people believe, but I do insist that hunting foxes is a sporting event and if there was no sport connected with it how many fellows would bother to hunt them?

As it stands, we are burning the candle at both ends. Losing more and more hunting territory to the various land uses such as superhighways, industry, housing developments, factories and strip mines, just to mention a few, while the population of Ohio is gaining by 250,000 annually and the hunting and fishing pressure increases annually.

You and I might not be around when the gap closes, but it does not take a smart person to see that losing all this land and the pressure increasing the future generation might be happy to have anything left to hunt. I'll agree it is not a happy thought.

Ice Hockey Fever Grips Czechoslovakia

PRAGUE (AP) — Ice hockey fever is gripping Czechoslovakia which plays host to the world championships beginning Thursday.

The preliminary round will be played in three provincial towns through March 7 while the final round will be held here March 9-15.

Western reporters are stopped in the streets by complete strangers and asked for tickets for the Winter Stadium here. It holds 15,000 with admission sought by several hundred thousand.

Favorite with experts and fans is Canada's Belleville McFarlands who will defend the title won last year by the Canadian Whitbys, who scored a 4-2 victory over Russia in the finals.

Other top favorites are Czechoslovakia, Sweden and Russia in that order.

IC4A Group To Sift Issue In Track Case

NEW YORK (AP) — The case of the reversed decision will go before the highest court in the IC4A, the executive committee, probably within a week, it was indicated today.

The case developed last Saturday night when Manhattan won the IC4A track and field championship with 21 points to 20 17-36 for second-place Penn State.

Manhattan got its key point when a judge reversed his original ruling in which he had placed the Jaspers' Henry White in fourth place in the 60-yard high hurdles behind New York University's Mike Herman. A couple of hours later, the same judge decided that White had beaten Herman and Manhattan collected one more point — the difference, as it turned out.

Penn State's coach, Chick Werner and his athletic director, Ernie McCoy, on Monday, demanded a "review" of the facts by the IC4A games committee. This committee looked into the matter decided it was out of its jurisdiction.

So Tuesday, McCoy issued an official protest, so IC4A Commissioner Asa Bushnell is going to call a meeting of the executive committee as soon as he can round up all the members.

Famed Waterloo Wonders To Attend State Tourney

By FRITZ HOWELL
Associated Press Sports Writer

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Just a quarter-century ago, the Waterloo Wonders came nonchalantly out of the Lawrence County hills to set Ohio agog with their basketball legerdemain.

At least a million Buckeye fans, in the interim, have boasted how they saw the colorful kids win the 1934 and 1935 Class B high school championships with a 29-0 record the first year and 22-3 the second.

The old Fairgrounds Coliseum seated only 7500, so some of the fans must be wrong about witnessing the legendary Wonders in action.

But, come Saturday, March 21, they'll have a chance to make their boast come true.

At the suggestion of Dick Burdette of the Portsmouth Times, High School Athletic Commissioner W. J. (Bill) McConnell today invited the Waterloo veterans to the state scholastic tournament as guests of the athletic association.

They'll be introduced at halftime of the state Class A championship contest—and perhaps put on a slightly slowed-down exhibition of their famed trickery.

In the 25 years since the five kids came from the village of 150 to capture the titles and the hearts of the fans, it's possible some frills and fancies have been added to their exploits. But all the frills and fancies of a faulty memory can't match the facts.

The Wonders had everything—class, poise, shooting ability, defensive strength and color in huge and gaudy gobs. No one who saw them will ever forget. Individually, there wasn't a standout in the lot—but as a team they were unbeatable.

That was in the days of the center jump, when scores were low. But Orlyn Roberts scored 69 points in three games as the Wonders raced to the 1934 title—still high for a three-game tourney in the state meet.

Orlyn, pensioned as the result of service-incurred injuries, still is a Waterloo resident. So is his cousin and former teammate, Wyman Roberts, now a construction worker.

The others were Stewart Wiseman, now a school teacher in Ross County; Beryl Drummond, a Dayton industrial worker, and Curt McMahan, now employed in Springfield. All but Wiseman made the 1935 all-tourney team.

Curly - haired Hairston, who coached the Wonders to the top of the world, has a garage and auto agency in Chesapeake.

Their entry to St. John Arena this time probably will lack some of the glamor of their descent on the old Fairgrounds Coliseum.

The Wonders went for a 58-29 win over Chandlersville in their debut, nicked Lowellville 43-32 and Mark Center 40-26 for the title. The scores could have been bigger.

The first point went to Drummond. He was fouled, and instead of tossing the ball, he bounced it off the floor and into the ring. That set the stage for basketball's greatest scholastic show.

From then on everything happened. When one of the Wonders tired, he walked over and chatted on the bench with Hairston while the other four carried on "Bunny" shots were passed up time after time as a Wonder donated, with a courtly bow, the ball to the frantic opposition.

Half the time no one knew who had the ball, so fast and intricate was the Waterloo passing attack.

Anyway, they're coming back, the most colorful, talked-about and improbable team Ohio has ever known.

Ex-Ring Champ Seriously Injured In Hit-Run Case

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Former world lightweight boxing champion Jimmy Carter was struck and seriously injured Tuesday night by a hit-run motorist, police reported.

Attendants at Central Receiving Hospital said the 35-year-old ex-champion was in a semi-conscious state and unable to give any details of the accident.

He was discovered by neighbors a block from his home. Investigators said evidence indicated he was struck by a driver who then drove off in a heavy fog.

Carter won the lightweight crown May 25, 1951 by stopping Ike Williams in 14 rounds at Madison Square Garden. Lauro Salas took it away from Carter by decision in May, 1952, only to lose it back to Jimmy in October of that year — also by decision.

Carter then reigned as lightweight king until Paddy DeMarco defeated him in 15 rounds at New York City March 5, 1954.

Col. George Simler, director of athletics at the Air Force Academy, was shot down in northern France a month after the Normandy invasion in 1944. He evaded capture, made his way back to the allied lines and was flown back to his base in England.

Lisbon Man Elected Archer Club President

LISBON — Paul Brownlee of Lisbon was elected president of the Columbiana County Archers Club at a meeting Monday night in the Village Hall. He succeeds Eric Gudat of Washingtonville.

Lewis Emelo and Valarie Emelo of Salem were elected vice president and treasurer, respectively. Tom Boyce of Lisbon was elected secretary.

The Early Bird Shoot will be held May 17 at the range near Willow Grove Park, just west of Lisbon.

Commission May Set Wheeling Downs Dates

The West Virginia State Racing Commission may set the dates for Wheeling Downs racing for the year — unless the State Supreme Court rules on the dispute by March 13.

The commission has a meeting slated that day in Charleston. Malcolm J. Lowe, chairman, said the group is anxious to settle the controversy since a source of state revenue is involved.

The Wheeling Racing Association in January obtained a writ against the commission, charging the regulatory group granted certain dates then refused a license for the periods. The commission replied it denied a license to Wheeling Downs after Waterford Park requested a re-hearing on its application for certain dates.

Circuit Court ruled in favor of Wheeling Downs and the commission appealed to the high court. Its ruling is now awaited. Under the disputed schedule, Wheeling Downs is due to begin racing June 1.

Real Pipe Dreams

ADAIR, Okla. (AP) — This northeastern Oklahoma hamlet whose chief claim to fame is the 1892 train robbery-gun battle by the Dalton gang will soon have running water. Plumbers expect their business to boom.

The leading money-winning race horse in Maryland in 1958 was Brookfield Farm's Intentionally, which ran in only one race. He earned $119,571 for winning the Pimlico Futurity.

Norman Attacks 2nd-Place Talk For His Tigers

LAKELAND, Fla. (AP)—"People are trying to put words into my mouth, about the second place chances of my ball club," said Manager Bill Norman.

Norman's Detroit Tigers once more have been picked by the odds makers as the second best team in the American League.

"Some people are trying—in a cute way—to get me to say great things about this team," Norman said. "I ain't going to get foot-in-mouth disease just because a bunch of so-called experts say we're second best to the Yankees."

Norman will say only that he is optimistic about the Tigers' first division chances.

The Tigers were picked during spring training last year to end second in the American League pennant race but finished fifth.

How Can I? ? ?

By ANNE ASHLEY

Q. How can I make mucilage?

A. A good mucilage can be made by mixing equal parts of gum arabic and tragacanth. Dissolve in hot water to the required consistency.

Q. How can I purify and whiten a sponge?

A. Soak it in milk and rinse thoroughly in warm water to which a little carbolic acid has been added. This will make it look like new.

Store Wins Verdict In Suit Over Injury

LISBON — A Common Pleas Court jury returned a verdict Tuesday noon for the Mayberry 5 & 10-cent store in the $5,000 personal injury action of Peter Pondello on behalf of his son, Albert Pondello, who claimed he was hurt in a fall on the stairs of the East Palestine store in August 1956.

The jury deliberated 45 minutes before returning the verdict against the Youngstown plaintiffs. Judge Raymond S. Buzzard presided for the trial, which began Monday. The jury included:

Fern F. Sheffler, Clara Thorne and Frank Miller of East Liverpool; May Needham and Ruth Greenwood of Salem, Mary Bell and Lucille Chestnut of Lisbon, Margaret Miller of Wellsville, Lela Horn of Columbiana, Hazel Elner of West Point, Wilma Smith of Leetonia and John Hartman of North Georgetown.

Ohio Motto Proposed

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—"With God, All Things Are Possible." That's the proposed official motto for Ohio. Suggested by 11-year-old Jim Mastarnado of Cincinnati, it received the endorsement Tuesday of the Ohio Senate State Government Committee. Ohio has not had an official motto since 1868.

Randall's New Congressman For Missouri

Returns from all but 11 of the 445 precincts in the west central Missouri district, including part of Kansas City, gave Randall 27,492 to 19,972 votes over Republican William R. McKee Jr., and lumber dealer from suburban Lee's Summit.

The district, normally Democratic, returned Christopher to office last November by nearly 64 per cent of the vote.

In a primary election in Kansas City, all nine Citizens Assn. candidates for City Council were nominated and all but two outdrew their opponents.

Six independent candidates for the council and one for mayor were eliminated in the voting.

Mayor H. Roe Bartle heads the ticket of the Citizens Assn., which has controlled City Hall since it beat the old Pendergast machine in 1940.

Open Door Policy

INDIANAPOLIS — The courthouse staff of the county's Democratic sheriff breathed a sigh of relief when a fellow party member was elected county recorder. The new recorder promised to unlock the door of a rest room the Republican incumbent had refused to share with the Democrats.

First non-stop Paris to New York flight was made by French Capt. D. Coste and Maurice Bellonte in 1930.

Social Security Changed For Wife

One provision of the 1958 amendments to the Social Security Act enables some newly married wives of men receiving Social Security benefits to qualify immediately for benefits on the husband's Social Security account.

In announcing this change in the law, William J. McCauley, manager of the Youngstown Social Security Office, pointed out that before the 1958 amendments a new wife had to wait 3 years before she could receive benefits as the wife of a man getting Social Security retirement benefits. Under the old law the three-year waiting period was waived only if the couple became the parents of a child.

Now, if the wife was eligible for widow's, parent's, or childhood disability benefits for the month before her marriage, she can qualify for wife's benefits immediately, providing she meets the other requirements for entitlement.

These other requirements include (1) being age 62 or more, or (2) having in her care a child entitled to Social Security benefits, and (3) not being entitled to a higher benefit on her own Social Security record.

Anyone who might possibly meet any of these qualifications should check with the Social Security office in the basement of the Post Office, or at the regional office, 123 W. Commerce St., Youngstown 3, Ohio.

Flood Damage Claims Denied At Wellsville

Council Turns Down Bills For $503 For Water In 2 Cellars

Claims totaling $503.15 from William E. White and E. E. Daniels, both of 1st St., for damages to their cellars because of flooding, were rejected by Wellsville City Council Tuesday night.

The two entered the claims at the meeting Feb. 3. White, 316 1st St., and Daniels, 332 1st St., both said the cellars were flooded because of the city's negligence in closing a flood gate. White's claim was for $247 and Daniels' $256.15.

The city said the gate was closed but the the valve did not seat properly because of sulphur deposits. Councilman Dominick Dash, claims chairman, said there was no legal liability established and recommended the claims be rejected on advice of Solicitor William Bush.

In other business, volunteer firemen requested an increase in the hourly wage paid for installing the flood gates. The volunteers presently receive $1.50 an hour and asked for $2, the rate they are paid for fighting a fire. The request, signed by Jack Phillips, secretary, was refered to the finance committee.

Council also received a letter from IBOP Local 24 of Wellsville, stating the chinaware local opposes a city wage tax unless it is submitted to a referendum.

The letter, signed by Fred Leughmeyer, president, and Dan C. Fetterolf, recording secretary, said the local represents 700 persons either working or residing in Wellsville. No direct discussion has been held by Council on a wage tax although it has been mentioned briefly as a possibility.

Mayor William J. Shoub's report for February showed a total of $1,576.45 collected in fines and fees.

No action was taken on a letter from the Hammond Park Commission, suggesting Wayne Rose, 1513 Lincoln Ave., and Thomas E. Davidson, 327 Lisbon St., be named to the commission. The term of Fire Chief Robert Lewis, chairman, has expired and James Forbes of Broadway resigned.

Howard Westlake, 1702 Commerce St., was granted permission to cut the curbing at his place of business at 17th and Commerce Sts. Westlake operates a garage and plans to open a service station. The work is to be supervised by Safety-Service Director William S. Robinson.

Councilman Ancel Moore, street and light committee chairman, said repairs to damaged streets is progressing satisfactorily. More work will be done as weather permits, he said.

Councilman J. Frederick Russell, water chairman, said the request of Mr. and Mrs. George T. Wilson for an extension of water service to their property near the Springhill Cemetery, still is being studied. The Wilsons said they are about 1,000 feet from the city standpipes. The property is outside city limits and permission has to be granted by Council.

Ed Pugh spoke from the audience, outlining a proposed project by the Chamber of Commerce to beautify the Ohio River bank along Riverside Ave. between 3rd and 9th Sts. Some fraternal groups are interested in helping, he said.

The Rev. Philip Fletcher of the First Presbyterian Church gave the opening and closing prayers.

Britain Hails Macmillan As New Leader Of West

British observers said his visit to Moscow had made him the West's key figure in the future critical dealings with the Soviet Union on the issues of Germany and West Berlin.

Macmillan, on his return Tuesday, said Britain should "try to give a lead to find a way through."

The London Times commented: "With the American head of state a declining force, the German chancellor an old, unhappy man, and the French president fully preoccupied with other problems, the responsibility falling on the British prime minister to lead the alliance sensibly and yet strongly in the weeks ahead is paramount."

The Liberal News Chronicle said bluntly: "Macmillan arrived back in London from the Soviet Union and straightaway assumed the leadership of the West."

The Daily Telegraph said Macmillan was in a better position than any other Western statesman to assess the Soviet attitude.

"The skill and cool good sense he has shown in Moscow puts Macmillan in an enviable position of authority with which to fashion a united policy among the Western Allies," the Telegraph commented.

Macmillan appeared to have gained tremendous prestige as a result of his reconnaissance mission. Even opposition Laborite newspapers gave him a grudging slap on the back.

The Daily Herald, organ of the Labor party said the prime minister "has done a good job in Moscow within the limits of the present Western policy."

Flood Damage Claims Denied At Wellsville

Council Turns Down Bills For $503 For Water In 2 Cellars

Claims totaling $503.15 from William E. White and E. E. Daniels, both of 1st St., for damages to their cellars because of flooding, were rejected by Wellsville City Council Tuesday night.

The two entered the claims at the meeting Feb. 3. White, 316 1st St., and Daniels, 332 1st St., both said the cellars were flooded because of the city's negligence in closing a flood gate. White's claim was for $247 and Daniels' $256.15.

The city said the gate was closed but the the valve did not seat properly because of sulphur deposits. Councilman Dominick Dash, claims chairman, said there was no legal liability established and recommended the claims be rejected on advice of Solicitor William Bush.

In other business, volunteer firemen requested an increase in the hourly wage paid for installing the flood gates. The volunteers presently receive $1.50 an hour and asked for $2, the rate they are paid for fighting a fire. The request, signed by Jack Phillips, secretary, was refered to the finance committee.

Council also received a letter from IBOP Local 24 of Wellsville, stating the chinaware local opposes a city wage tax unless it is submitted to a referendum.

The letter, signed by Fred Leughmeyer, president, and Dan C. Fetterolf, recording secretary, said the local represents 700 persons either working or residing in Wellsville. No direct discussion has been held by Council on a wage tax although it has been mentioned briefly as a possibility.

Mayor William J. Shoub's report for February showed a total of $1,576.45 collected in fines and fees.

No action was taken on a letter from the Hammond Park Commission, suggesting Wayne Rose, 1513 Lincoln Ave., and Thomas E. Davidson, 327 Lisbon St., be named to the commission. The term of Fire Chief Robert Lewis, chairman, has expired and James Forbes of Broadway resigned.

Howard Westlake, 1702 Commerce St., was granted permission to cut the curbing at his place of business at 17th and Commerce Sts. Westlake operates a garage and plans to open a service station. The work is to be supervised by Safety-Service Director William S. Robinson.

Councilman Ancel Moore, street and light committee chairman, said repairs to damaged streets is progressing satisfactorily. More work will be done as weather permits, he said.

Councilman J. Frederick Russell, water chairman, said the request of Mr. and Mrs. George T. Wilson for an extension of water service to their property near the Springhill Cemetery, still is being studied. The Wilsons said they are about 1,000 feet from the city standpipes. The property is outside city limits and permission has to be granted by Council.

Ed Pugh spoke from the audience, outlining a proposed project by the Chamber of Commerce to beautify the Ohio River bank along Riverside Ave. between 3rd and 9th Sts. Some fraternal groups are interested in helping, he said.

The Rev. Philip Fletcher of the First Presbyterian Church gave the opening and closing prayers.

Britain Hails Macmillan As New Leader Of West

British observers said his visit to Moscow had made him the West's key figure in the future critical dealings with the Soviet Union on the issues of Germany and West Berlin.

Macmillan, on his return Tuesday, said Britain should "try to give a lead to find a way through."

The London Times commented: "With the American head of state a declining force, the German chancellor an old, unhappy man, and the French president fully preoccupied with other problems, the responsibility falling on the British prime minister to lead the alliance sensibly and yet strongly in the weeks ahead is paramount."

The Liberal News Chronicle said bluntly: "Macmillan arrived back in London from the Soviet Union and straightaway assumed the leadership of the West."

The Daily Telegraph said Macmillan was in a better position than any other Western statesman to assess the Soviet attitude.

"The skill and cool good sense he has shown in Moscow puts Macmillan in an enviable position of authority with which to fashion a united policy among the Western Allies," the Telegraph commented.

Macmillan appeared to have gained tremendous prestige as a result of his reconnaissance mission. Even opposition Laborite newspapers gave him a grudging slap on the back.

The Daily Herald, organ of the Labor party said the prime minister "has done a good job in Moscow within the limits of the present Western policy."

'Dishonorable Course'

Don't Appease Russians, Ike Says In Berlin Crisis

Emphasizes West Aim To Prevent War

Keeps Possibility Of Summit Open In Gettysburgh Speech

GETTYSBURG, Pa. (AP) — President Eisenhower cautioned today against any appeasement of the Soviet Union in the Berlin crisis. He said it would be a dishonorable course and "the most dangerous one we could pursue."

Appeasement, said Eisenhower, only would embolden the Reds to step up their world domination drive.

But the President re-emphasized anew that the Western powers want to avoid war over Berlin and negotiate a settlement. In keeping open the possibility of a summit conference with the Russians, Eisenhower said of the United States and its Allies: "They seek to substitute the rule of law for the rule of force, the conference table for the battlefield."

In a major address prepared for the Gettysburg College spring convocation, Eisenhower called the Soviet move to drive the Allies out of West Berlin "a part of the continuing effort of the Communist conspiracy to attain one overriding goal: world domination."

The college, a small liberal arts school located not far from Eisenhower's country estate, awarded the President a plaque for "service to the nation."

In his speech, Eisenhower underscored what he called the need for Americans to understand the U.S. role in "strengthening the free world's nations which, with us, see our concepts of freedom and human dignity threatened by atheistic dictatorship." The speech was carried nationwide on CBS radio.

Eisenhower coupled his appeal for firmness on Berlin with a new plea for the administration's $3,900,000,000 foreign aid program.

He singled out the free part of Viet Nam in Asia as an example of a country in urgent need of such aid to stave off the threat of Communist conquest.

He also spoke of Japan's economic problems as grave and called on Western countries to liberalize trade relations with that country—or risk Red domination of "the free world stake in the Pacific."

As for critics who want to cut the foreign aid program, Eisenhower referred to them as "uninformed Americans" who believe the United States should turn its back on its friends.

Eisenhower dealt at some length with the Berlin crisis, calling it part of a Soviet plot to win world domination.

"Against this background we understand that the mere handing over of a single city could not possibly satisfy the Communists, even though they would particularly like to eliminate what has been called the 'free world's show case behind the Iron Curtain,'" he added.

"Indeed, even if we should acquiesce in the unthinkable sacrifice of two million free Germans such a confession of weakness would dismay our friends and embolden the Communists to step up their campaign of domination.

"The course of appeasement is not only dishonorable, it is the most dangerous one we could pursue."

NATO Again Warns Reds About Berlin

Don't Try Force, Foreign Ministers Say As Talks End

WASHINGTON (AP) — NATO foreign ministers conclude their Berlin crisis conference today with a new solid-front warning to the Soviet Union against trying to force the Western powers out of West Berlin.

In three days of meetings here the 15-nation NATO Council was reported to have endorsed fully the determination of the Western Big Three to hold on in Berlin in the face of Soviet threats and pressures.

Just how the Western powers propose to resolve the Berlin dispute in negotiations with the Soviet Union beginning at Geneva May 11 remains undecided, however. The North Atlantic Treaty was signed here ten years ago today.

Sentiment within the NATO Council appeared to be growing in favor of assigning a prominent role in any arrangement to the United Nations.

Canadian Defense Minister George Pearkes proposed Friday that in preparing for negotiations with the Soviets the Allies consider advocating that U.N. personnel stand watch along the access routes between West Berlin and West Germany.

Both the United States and France were reported cool to the idea on the theory it might weaken their wartime rights in Berlin and Germany.

Pearkes said any new Berlin arrangement worked out with the Soviets should be based upon the presently existing right of the United States, Britain and France to keep forces in West Berlin as a result of their victory over Germany in World War II.

Soviet forces are in East Berlin on the same basis but the Soviet Union has proposed to end its occupation responsibilities and turn over full authority to the East German Communist regime. Since the Soviets have a veto in the United Nations, any plan such as that proposed by Canada would have to have Soviet approval to go into effect.

Diplomatic officials reported that in Friday's closed-door meeting of the Council, several points were stressed by various speakers.

But everyone who spoke, one informant said, used the word "firmness" to describe what he thought the basic Western attitude toward the Soviet Union should be. And the point was made repeatedly that any concessions given to the Soviets must be met by equal concessions from them and must not upset the balance of power in Europe.

Nehru Rushes Aides To Join Tibet's Lama

May Want To Keep Ruler Under Wraps During His Refuge

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — Prime Minister Nehru today rushed top Indian political advisers to join the Dalai Lama still on the march along the northeast frontier.

There were indications Nehru wants to keep the Tibetan ruler under wraps during his refuge in India to avoid any incident — or statement — that might lead to an open rift with Red China.

One government source said "no harassment" of the ruler would be permitted by newsmen hurrying to reach him for a direct story on his flight from the Chinese Communists.

P. N. Menon, the Indian government's foreign press chief, was reported to be one of the advisers Nehru dispatched.

The Tibetan party of 80 was reported on the march through rugged forests along the frontier with indications it would reach the small Indian city of Towang Sunday.

The Hindustan Standard, with close government ties, said the Nehru government was "not likely to appreciate a precipitate statement by the Dalai Lama, or itself make a statement on the precise conditions of the asylum given him before something about the Chinese reaction is known."

Several Indian newspapers expressed concern that Peiping radio broke the news that the Dalai Lama crossed the border into India before Nehru's official announcement.

"We must give serious thought," said the Hindustan Times, "to the possibility there exists in our sensitive border areas an espionage network rather more extensive than we should have believed possible."

Red China showed fears that the god-king's escape might spark a holy war against communism in the Far East.

Baby In Toy Accident In 'Good' Condition

Kenneth Self, 10-month-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward L. Self of the Valley Trailer Court on Pennsylvania Ave., is in "good" condition today at City Hospital after the metal axle of a toy truck penetrated his skull to the brain in a fall at play Friday morning.

The baby was clutching the toy to him when he fell at home and the rear axle penetrated his skull near the left ear. It was removed at the hospital emergency room. The attending physician said there was no apparent damage to the brain.

Cunningham Denied Motion For New Trial

A motion for a new trial for Ira Cunningham, 52, former East Liverpool policeman, convicted March 11 of attempting to bribe a prospective juror, was denied Friday afternoon by Common Pleas Judge Joel H. Sharp at Lisbon.

Cunningham was found guilty by a jury after a three - day trial. The penalty is 1 to 5 years in prison or up to a $500 fine.

Sentencing was continued pending possible appeal to the Appellate Court.

Cumberland's Mayor Not To Be Candidate

NEW CUMBERLAND — "Absolutely not" was the comment today by Mayor Albert (Jakie) Fuccy, regarding the possibility of his seeking another term in the June 9 biennial non - partisan municipal election.

Candidates for the offices of mayor and four councilmen will begin filing Wednesday at 9 a.m. at the Town Hall. Deadline is May 7 at 5 p. m.

Mayor Fuccy declared that "eight years as mayor is enough," adding he is stepping out "in order to devote more time to my family and business."

Mayor Fuccy has four young sons, and operates the Fuccy Hauling & Excavating Co. He has served four consecutive two - year terms.

Council offices at stake are those of the long and short terms from the Second Ward and the short terms from the First and Third Wards.

Mayor Fuccy was entitled to receive a salary of $225 a year in his tenure, but has always refused the money. The office of councilman pays $7.50 a month.

Candidates for mayor must pay a filing fee of $5 and those for councilman $1. A candidate must have been a citizen of New Cumberland for a year and must have paid taxes on at least $100 worth of real or personal property.

Town Council will meet Tuesday night to issue a proclamation for the election.

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — A B47 bomber from nearby Davis-Monthan Air Force Base crashed and burned today 30 miles south of Tucson in the vicinity of the Santa Rita Mountains.

Maj. William Abernathy of base operations at Davis-Monthan said the six-jet bomber went down at 1:20 a.m. MST.

There was no immediate word as to the fate of the crew. A rescue party was sent to the scene.

Flames from the burning wreckage were visible at the southeast side of Tucson.

44 Candidates To Start Soon On Campaign

Primary's Approach To Touch Off Drives For 26 Nominations

With the May 5 primaries just a month from tomorrow, 44 East Liverpool candidates are preparing to begin campaigning in earnest for nomination to 13 municipal offices.

Seventeen Republicans and 27 Democrats are in the field. They were required to file by Feb. 4, but local campaigns generally do not get into full swing until about 30 days before the election.

The two major parties will be voting in two separate elections next month, naming the men who will carry their standards in the general election Nov. 3.

With Mayor Fred P. Lawrence unopposed for nomination to a second term on the Republican ticket, voters' interest will center mainly on a three-way race for the Democratic mayoralty nomination and wide-open contests for three council-at-large nominations on both tickets.

The Democratic mayoralty aspirants are Bert H. Goodballet, for many years First Ward councilman and later Council president; Robert Owen, who served as First Ward representative in 1956-57, and James Moore, an electrician at the Midland Works of the Crucible Steel Co.

Five are running for the three GOP nominations as councilman-at-large, including all the incumbents, while Democrats have a six-way race for the same posts.

The GOP at-large members seeking new terms are A. Stanley Kidder, Robert W. Sample Jr. and George E. Willshaw. Others in the race are Harry Wilson, who formerly served four terms in Council, and J. E. Curry, former president of the Board of Education.

The Democratic at-large candidates are: John R. Weber, a retired potter; Benjamin Ziegler, Ohio Ave., plumber and former councilman; John Melvin, co-owner of J. K. Drugs, Inc.; Clinton Seevers, former Fourth Ward councilman; Donald Hancock of Monaca St., a Crucible employe, and Clarence E. Reagle of Cleveland Ave., also a Crucible employe.

Each party has a two-way race for Council president.

On the Republican slate are B. E. Warner, the incumbent, and H. A. Tullis, rounding out his first term as First Ward councilman. The Democratic candidates are Charles N. Edwards, a veteran Mulberry St. barber, and Rudolph E. Hallpate, Eagles Lodge secretary.

Republicans have an unopposed candidate for nomination to the First Ward seat which Tullis is vacating to enter the Council presidency contest. He is John W. Barrett of Ohio Ave., retired employment supervisor at Crucible.

Three are seeking the First Ward nomination on the Democratic ticket. They are Alonzo Spencer of Pennsylvania Ave., a Crucible employe; Herman L. (Bud) Steffen of 1st Ave., a sub-station operator at Crucible, and Clifford Cooper of

Crash-Hurt Patrolman Is Seen Serious

A State Highway Patrolman from the Lisbon barracks remains in "serious" condition today at Salem City Hospital with injuries received in a collision of his cruiser and a dump truck on Route 14 about two and a half miles east of Salem Friday. He was slightly improved, however.

Three motorists were cited in two other accidents investigated yesterday by the patrol.

Officers said Patrolman Richard Delagrange, 22, of Salem was apparently in pursuit of an unidentified car. He lost control on a curve and wet pavement, sliding sideways into the front of the truck driven by Glenn Zimmerman, 47, of Salem. The truck was loaded with pig iron and is owned by the Columbiana County Foundry Co. of Columbiana.

The cruiser was demolished. Officers said they have not been able to question Delagrange yet. He suffered a ruptured kidney, a crushed leg, fractured thigh and back injury and severe shock.

A car driven by Clarence May, 21, of Hanoverton R. D. 1 crashed through the side of a storage building on Route 644 a mile north of Summitville Friday afternoon at 3:45, officers said.

May had started to pass another car, which was turning left. He swerved to avoid a collision and crashed through the side of the building owned by Carl Blake of Kensington R. D. 1. The impact knocked a 10-foot hole through the side and the car continued on in, coming to a halt against piled cement and fertilizer. Twenty bags of cement and 10 of fertilizer were destroyed, officers said.

The entire front end of the car was demolished. May was cited for reckless operation.

Gene Barnes, 30, of Hanoverton R. D. 1 was arrested for failure to halt in the assured clear distance after his car crashed into an embankment on Route 164 two miles south of Gavers yesterday at 6:30 p. m.

Barnes swerved right to avoid hitting the rear of a car driven by William Nixon, 28, of Wellsville R. D. 1, who had slowed to make a turn. Nixon was cited for failure to signal a turn, officers said.

Communist Hungary Marks Liberation Day

BUDAPEST, Hungary (AP) — Communist Hungary today put on a military review to mark the 14th anniversary of "Liberation Day" when Soviet armies pushed the Nazis out of Hungary.

Ranks of black-booted soldiers marched stiff-kneed across what once was known as Stalin Square but is now named Dozsa Street after a 16th century rebel peasant leader.

Council Slates Tax Renewal's Final Reading

But Opposing Forces Have 30 Days To Ask Referendum

City Council is scheduled to give the third and final reading to new municipal income tax legislation at its meeting Monday night at 8, but the ordinance will not become effective for 30 days—allowing time for any opposing force to file for a referendum at the November general election and prevent collection of the tax in the meantime.

Mayor Fred P. Lawrence is expected to sign the ordinance shortly after it is enacted, but because the legislation does not contain an emergency clause it will not go into effect until about May 6. Opponents have that 30-day waiting period, under state law, to file petitions seeking a vote of the people.

If the opponents get under the wire with a legally valid referendum petition, effectiveness of the ordinance will be held up pending the test at the polls.

The ordinance was given first reading March 23 before a packed chamber after more than 4 hours of remarks pro and con from members of the audience. It went through second reading quickly on March 30, with remarks from only one citizen-speaker, although the chamber was packed again.

In both instances, the vote was 6-1, with Councilman H. A. Tullis of the First Ward casting the dissent.

Councilmen decided in advance to pass the legislation on three readings—and without an emergency clause—to leave the way open for a referendum test. It will levy a tax that amounts to 60 cents on each $100 of earnings and all other income.

A tax that was in effect for nearly 6 months in 1958 was enacted at a single reading and with an emergency clause, which precluded a referendum. The 1958 levy amounted to 80 cents on each $100 of income.

Trades and Labor Council forced a vote on the 1958 tax, despite the emergency clause, by initiating an ordinance to repeal the tax legislation. Voters repealed the tax at the November general election.

The new tax is designed to bring in approximately $260,000 a year to finance expanded city services and a capital improvements program—principally street rebuilding, surfacing and repaving.

As a companion to the 10-page tax ordinance, Council also will consider a 26-page resolution listing all the rules and regulations

He was executed at the State Penitentiary last night for the hammer slaying of Mrs. Ruby Miller in her Huntington home May 27, 1957.

Heart Attack Fatal At 78

Ohio Supreme Court Judge James G. Stewart Claimed

CINCINNATI (AP)—James Garfield Stewart, Ohio Supreme Court judge who combined great gusto and a scholar's mind in his life and work, said he never wanted to retire.

A dozen years ago, he told a newspaper friend, "I have noticed that in many cases a man's retirement—especially one who has been active in affairs—is soon followed by his obituary notice."

The 78-year-old Cincinnati jurist, who saw his son named to the U. S. Supreme Court, was on one of his favorite away-from-court ventures—a speaking trip—when he suffered a fatal heart attack Friday in Louisville.

And Judge Stewart had been active in affairs. After years as a leading Cincinnati trial lawyer, he decided to try his hand at politics.

In his mid-50's he was elected a city councilman, and in 1938 was named Cincinnati mayor. He held the mayor's post until named to the State Supreme Court in 1947.

He made an unsuccessful bid in 1944 as Republican candidate for governor against Frank J. Lausche.

The ebullient judge had a hard time keeping quiet the day last year his son, Potter Stewart, then a U. S. Appellate Court judge, was named to the U. S. Supreme Court.

He had been tipped off early about the appointment but was sworn to secrecy because the an-

130 At Traffic Safety Conference

Lt. Cowell, commanding officer of State Highway Patrol District 4 at Warren, told the youths that "A clear driving license is a feat to be proud of, as long as your conscience is clear with it. But, do not take that extra chance even though your driving career is clear."

Schools represented were Akron, Boardman, Beaver Local, East Palestine, Columbiana, South High of Youngstown, United High and East Liverpool.

Four group discussions were held and the youths went on record as favoring four resolutions.

The first was that a driver's license should be granted to youth under 18 only upon completion of an approved driver education course. They also agreed that the granting of credit would tend to upgrade driver's education in high school curriculum.

Another resolution states retesting for renewal of a license should not be required until the age of 45 and then every 3 years. The final resolution calls for the raising to at least $5,000 insurance for medical expenses for a driver education automobile.

Peggy Garey was in charge of registration and Barbara Radeschi was dinner chairman. Carl Doebler, past president of the Ohio Driver and Safety Education Association of Toledo, gave the invocation. Judy Geisse was in charge of entertainment.

Supt. Ralph W. Betts gave the welcome address. Principal George Hargraves made the driver education endorsement.

Austen B. Moore, faculty advisor for the driving club, introduced guests. Edgar, president, had the orientation preceding the group discussions and James G. Nesbitt, an East Palestine High School teacher, summarized the findings.

Land Vacating Is Authorized

LISBON — County Commissioners R. Max Gard and Walter A. Hunston authorized vacating of certain streets and alleys in the Lindesmith Allotment at Leetonia after a public hearing Friday.

This will clear the way for a flood control program in the vicinity of the sewage disposal plant. No one present expressed opposition.

The commissioners took under advisement a petition for annexation of a portion of Fairfield Township into Columbiana Village after hearing opponents and proponents for over three hours.

Commissioner Frank Wilson was unable to attend the hearing but will be given time to read transcripts of the testimony before the commissioners will decide.

Gard, chairman, presided. The petitioned area includes some 441 acres south of the village and west of the Youngstown & Southern Railroad. It was brought out that 117 persons in the territory signed the petition and 49 refused to sign.

All who wished were given time to speak for or against the annexation. Atty. John E. Bauknecht of East Palestine represented the proponents. The opponents had no counsel.

Stewart

nouncement would not come until later in the day.

He sat through the Ohio Supreme Court session, but said later he was "so excited, it was difficult for me to synchronize my throughts."

Judge Stewart did not confine himself to Ohio.

In 1944, he went to the GOP convention in Chicago to nominate Sen. John W. Bricker for president. He even took the unusual precaution of preparing a speech.

But he never got a chance to deliver it. Thomas E. Dewey was the big choice there. But Stewart's extemperaneous speech seconding Bricker's nomination as vice presidential candidate was a convention highlight.

Judge Stewart once flew to London to try to talk the United Nations into setting up its permanent headquarters in Cincinnati because he thought it would be a good place to get a world government started. He blamed the UN's polite refusal on "European claustrophobia."

Judge Stewart was born in Springfield. His father, a lawyer and newspaper publisher, died when the boy was eight but his mother made sure her son got an education — at Kenyon College where he made Phi Beta Kappa, and at the University of Cincinnati law school.

Judge Stewart made speeches in every city in Ohio and most of the 48 states.

In recent years he did a lot of world traveling. He addressed law students in Calcutta, the Rotary Club in Hong Kong and newspapermen in New Delhi.

PTA Fights School Closing

Plans to enter a protest to the Beaver Local Board of Education on a proposal to close the school were outlined at a meeting of the Oak Grove Parent - Teacher Association Friday night. The parents will attend the board's session.

The board has proposed that the two - room school on Route 170 about three miles from Fredericktown be closed and the pupils transported to Rogers School. Plans are being made to enlarge Rogers School to handle the extra students.

Four grades are taught at Oak Grove. The parents said they feel it will be too far to haul the pupils.

John Garey, president, will head the delegation. Anyone interested in attending is to meet at the school at 7:30 p. m. Anyone needing transportation is to contact Garey.

Garey gave the opening prayer. Urban Petros, district elementary supervisor, spoke on the school curriculum. The third grade won the attendance banner. Lunch was served by Mrs. Mary Lee and Miss Ruth Mackall.

Mrs. Mary Lou Garey will have the entertainment for the next meeting April 24. Mrs. Mary Pancake and Mrs. Hazel Suffolk will serve lunch.

Income Tax

computing, administering and collecting the tax. Reading of the two pieces of legislation alone is expected to require approximately an hour and a half.

A single reading of the tax ordinance requires about 30 minutes. To read the resolution on regulations, which is more than twice as long, will require at least an hour. The regulations evidently will be enacted on a single reading, as it will be the first time the lengthy resolution has been presented.

After the tax ordinance is read for the third time, approval of a simple motion will make it law.

A proponent will move: "Mr. President, I move that the ordinance be duly passed as read," clearing the way for the final vote.

Solicitor Joseph W. Cooper also is working on four more pieces of legislation which he expects to present.

There is a resolution authorizing the administration to purchase 100 new parking meters. Safety-Service Director Joseph F. Ross said they will be used mainly for routine individual replacement of some worn-out meters now on the streets. The city has over 500-most of them purchased in 1947. Council has plans to meter the east side of Market St. between E. 3rd and E. 4th Sts., but that will require only about a half dozen of the devices.

Two more purchases are authorized in other proposed legislation. The resolutions would enable the administration to call for bids on a new half-ton truck for the sewage department and machinery for clearing blocked sewers.

A resolution also will be presented raising from 75 cents to $1.50 the amount the city may spend for the daily meals of each jail inmate. The increase was proposed by Dan Maggianetti shortly before he left office as safety-service director.

An East Liverpool man, charged with intoxication, indecent exposure and trespassing, was scheduled to appear before Chester Mayor Burton Ward this afternoon.

Charles Walter Moore, 47, of Pleasant Heights was arrested Friday about 3:30 p. m. on Carolina Ave. by Police Chief Floyd Lyons and Patrolman Harold Davis.

According to police, Moore entered an apartment in the IOOF Building at Carolina Ave. and 5th St.

St. George St., an oil company employe at Columbiana.

Republicans have a three - way race for the Third Ward Council seat, which the incjmbent, W. E. Kaiser, did not seek again. The candidates are Lawrence J. Zollinger of W. 5th St., a Crucible worker for 35 years; William T. Kind of St. Clair Ave., who held the seat in 1956-57, and Vincent Laneve of Pickering St., a gas company worker.

Two Democrats seek the Third Ward nomination — Theodore Sell of Garfield St., a potter, and Donald E. Smith of Woodbine Ave., an employe of the Crucible transportation department.

William Y. Orr, the incumbent Second Ward councilman, is seeking renomination on the Republican ticket, opposed by Frank J. Youst Jr., 1051 Bradshaw Ave., a self-employed carpenter.

Samuel B. Webber, incumbent Fourth Ward councilman, is unopposed for renomination to a second term on the GOP ticket.

Democrats have a four-way race for the Second Ward council seat. The field includes: William J. Mount of Haywood St., an employe of the Homer Laughlin China Co.; John F. Kelly of Vine St., a hot strip mill heater at Crucible, Ralph J. Twyford of Beechwood St., a craneman in the blooming mill at Crucible, and Jack L. Fair of Riley Ave., also a Crucible worker.

There's a two - way contest for the Democratic nomination for Fourth Ward councilman. The candidates are James Flasco of Idaho Ave., an employe of a Midland dry cleaning establishment, and Robert B. Laughlin of W. 2nd St., a potter.

The Democratic primary will decide who will be East Liverpool's city solicitor for the next two years, as Republicans have no candidate. Solicitor Joseph W. Cooper, running for a fifth term, is opposed by Atty. Lawrence W. Smith Jr.

Both parties' candidates are unopposed for auditor and treasurer. On the Republican slate, Auditor H. J. Gallimore is asking for a second full term and Treasurer Bert A. Dawson, dean of boys at the high school, is running for a ninth term. Lawrence C. Applegate of St. George St., a pottery warehouseman, is the Democratic candidate for auditor. Owen D. Kountz of Erie St., a Mulberry St. grocer, is the party's treasurer aspirant.

A prelude to election of a Municipal Court judge in November, one candidate's name will be listed on the May ballot. Assured the nomination, he will run against two others who bypassed the primaries by filing as independent candidates for the November election.

The only judicial candidate in the primary is Atty. Samuel M. Chertoff, who is running on the Democratic ticket. Death Thursday removed the name of the other primary candidate, Atty. Andrew J. Coleman, who was running for the Republican nomination.

Atty. Chertoff will run in November against the incumbent, Judge George L. Brokaw, who is seeking a third term, and Atty. W. S. Foulks, who has sought the office previously.

Reopening Delayed In River Rd. Stretch

A short stretch of the River Rd. near the Chester Bridge will not be reopened until at least Monday night to allow time for a new section of concrete to set, Safety-Service Director Joseph F. Ross said.

Street department crews expected to pour the concrete today to complete replacement of a section of storm sewer underneath the highway. A broken vitrified clay pipe was replaced with a 12-inch corrugated metal pipe.

The ear is considered the most intricate organ of the human body.

Cancer In Men Seen Growing

With the cancer rate among men increasing, the need for men to have physical examinations yearly also is growing, Dr. John A. Fraser told the Lions Club Friday afternoon at the Travelers Hotel.

The medical advisor for the Columbiana County Unit of the American Cancer Society pointed out while the rate for men is increasing, that for women is declining.

Questioned about the effect of cigarette smoking, Dr. Fraser said latest statistics show the chance of lung cancer among those who smoke two or more packs a day is 1 in 10 while it is 1 in 36 for those who smoke less than one pack and drops to 1 in 270 for those who do not smoke.

The rate of lung cancer among pipe and cigar smokers is lower but still higher than among non-smokers, he continued.

Twenty - two studies in six countries shows excessive cigarette smoking is one of the principal causes of lung cancer, he said.

Thomas J. Doland, city chairman of the current Cancer Fund campaign, spoke briefly, urging financial support to provide for research needed to seek a cure.

Dr. Fraser and Doland were introduced by Leo C. Lawrence, program chairman.

Don Baxter, president, reminded members the Board of Directors will meet Monday night at 7:30 at Tice's Restaurant.

A Scarcity Of Five-Legged Bears

The reason the political parties never find a national chairman who can satisfy everybody is the same as the reason the hunter never shot a five-legged bear.

There ain't no such animal.

The Republican party, nevertheless, must go through the motions of looking for one, because Meade Alcorn has handed in his resignation as party chairman.

Replacements looking for a chance to walk the plank in Republican politics are not worth thinking about. Replacements who could do the job, on the other hand, are not looking for it.

The Republican National Committee will find someone; it always has found someone. If it is lucky, it may find someone with as much savvy as Alcorn, who did the best he could and even distinguished himself by refusing to grovel in the political guff that chairmen are supposed to dish out.

The job is no bargain in either party. The Democrats' Paul M. Butler, who has been nipped by the same meat-grinder that kept his Republican counterpart busy staying out of its reach, presumably will be among the first to congratulate Alcorn for getting back into something more congenial.

The meat-grinder is the partisanship inside partisanship — the internal squabbles of the parties themselves. If all a chairman had to do was raise money and set up an organization to keep his half of the two-party system going, the job would be tough and challenging but not impossible. But a chairman is the pulling-and-hauling point for all the squabbling, bickering and policy-clashing that feed the passions of partisanship. That makes the job nearly impossible.

He is supposed to keep his head while everybody else is going berserk. He is supposed to keep his eye on the ball while members of his team are keeping their eyes on the grandstand. He is supposed to qualify as an expert at winning elections while his associates are proving their expertness at grinding an infinite variety of personal and institutional axes.

A Republican Alcorn is supposed to reconcile the views of stalwarts who want their party to be the way it was in Mark Hanna's time with the views of stalwarts who insist that the world moves on and party politics should move with it.

A Democratic Butler must pretend to be equally at home with southern-fried old-line Democrats and eager-beaver boys who made good by getting the hang of Franklin D. Roosevelt's technique of taking sides in class warfare.

An outsider shakes his head and winds up wondering what makes men consent to be party chairmen. If they have any know-how, they are slandered and maligned as unscrupulous politicians. If they show up short on know-how, or even if they merely pan out as "nice guys" who didn't know how to drive for the jugular and play both ends against the middle, they are written off as incompetents who made things tough for their successors.

But men do consent to be party chairmen. If they didn't, there could be no two-party system. If there were no two-party system, there would be a one-party system, which is dictatorship.

That is why men consent to be party chairmen. It is why men and women all over the United States consent to do the chores of the two-party system. The way they look at it, someone has to work at it to keep the system going. They work because they believe in the system.

Meade Alcorn was one of the workers.

Ohio Relies On A Fair Shake

There is talk in Columbus of a compromise on amendments to the Ohio Unemployment Compensation Act.

The kind of compromise talked about might be somewhere between the AFL-CIO views embodied in SB 210 and the principal recommendations of the State Advisory Council on Unemployment Compensation. Therein lies a distinct danger to Ohio employers and their employes.

The recommendations of the State Advisory Council already represent as much compromise as is bearable — more in some respects. Any further compromise would take unemployment compensation too far too fast.

Gov. DiSalle has properly represented Ohio as being agreeable to bringing unemployment compensation into line with modern economic circumstances. The setup has been modernized repeatedly since it began in 1936, when it provided a maximum of only $15 for 16 weeks. It was revised most recently in 1955 to allow $33 plus $3 each for the first two dependent children for 26 weeks.

The State Advisory Council proposes a new scale of $47 maximum benefits plus $6 for dependents — a total of $53. The AFL-CIO scale would call for a $66 maximum plus $3 apiece for three dependents, counting a spouse. The unions also want to extend the payment period from 26 weeks to 39 weeks.

Any attempt to make a compromise between what the unions want and what the Advisory Council proposes would be a thumping rebuke to all the moderates in the state. They think the Advisory Council, which included union representatives, already has gone the limit.

The issue is not whether unemployment compensation shall or shall not be revised. Some revision is called for by changing times; it never was intended that payments should be frozen unrealistically.

The issue is whether Ohio should rely on the principle of a fair shake in revising the law, or whether it should be pushed into wholesale changes by the immoderate backers of SB 210.

Gov. DiSalle favors moderation. It is his view that Ohio must do everything in its power to make itself attractive to job-makers. Without solid employment, insurance against unemployment is a mockery.

Therefore, every detail of the revisions proposed should be double-checked to make certain no jokers or sleepers slip through to make trouble. It is still a relatively new idea for a whole state to be urged by a political administration to pull together in behalf of job-making, but that is what Ohioans are learning to do.

This is the state that tries to give everybody a fair shake. Its citizens are ready for moderate revision of unemployment compensation, but they want to see no attempt in Columbus to turn the revision into a revolution against employers who pay into the unemployment compensation fund.

The Once Over

By H. I. Phillips

Scores of towns, cities and states have at last awakened to pie-in-sky budget situations in which they are going over Niagara Falls in luxury-equipped barrels, complete with lush upholstery, automatic barrelhead busting, wide vision of the rocks below and push-button dizziness in whirlpool rapids. "Stop, Look and Listen" signs are coming back all over.

The old-fashioned American warning, "Don't bite off more than you can chew," seems to be doing a revival.

New York sent questionnaires which brought replies showing 17 large cities were up to their necks in debt and worried. The idea that money is birdseed seems to be shrinking a bit in city halls. Many a burgomaster who has been proceeding as if a city can be run on a credit card is putting skid chains on his impulses.

The "Go-for-broke" idea in federal, state, city, town and village seems to be fading.

THE DREARY FACT is that smaller communities, generally prudent, careful and prideful of horse sense, have been in the sky's-the-limit parade for the last decade or more. New England, which has always had David Harum sagaciousness is in deep trouble in many spots. Many papers all over the country are reprinting an editorial by Jim Comstock, a West Virginia editor, on what's wrong with state and nation.

"We're getting too much government help," he says. "We have had the blazes helped out of us.

"Our troubles began with the nothing-to-fear-but-fear-itself idea. What we had to fear was the loss of human dignity and we lost it for sure with the belief the government owes everybody a living.

"All we need is for government to let us alone. Let's get back to the day when there was spunk and the glory of a good day's work well done. Government, go home!"

THIS FELLOW is not far wrong. Yankee Doodle has been coming to town not on a pony but with a gravy train drawn by red, white and blue reindeer and flying a banner, "Every Day Is Christmas."

Government is a combination gift-package shop, slot machine, juke box, giveaway show, cornucopia, raffle and a free ride on the merry-go-round. It's the daddy of feather-bedding, underwriter of luxury living and advocate of more time to go fishing, with worms dug by city hall.

Uncle Sam is no longer pictured as a stern, square-jawed man standing for dignity, personal courage and rugged living but as a fat, grinning female impersonator of Lady Bountiful. He is looked upon as a four-headed Santa Claus.

AUTO DRIVERS' INSURANCE is being increased all over, with New York jumping up 18.4 per cent. It's getting so a fellow can afford a car but can't raise the money for insurance.

Nick Pietrosante, the famous Notre Dame grid star, was married the other day in Ansonia, Conn., and was in such fine shape he couldn't be stopped until he had reached Niagara Falls.

Pillsbury was split two for one the other day. That's the way we prefer to hear, "Let 'em eat cake."

Jimmy Cannon, back on the airwaves, did a tremendous job broadcasting from Fort Dix in the last world war. He showed personality, voice and natural ability and we never could understand why he was allowed to escape.

LET'S HAVE a Society of Perry Mason Fans To Help the District Attorney Win A Case. (Maybe he would settle for a dead heat.) The DA on this program rates an Oscar for Valor in the Face of Futility. He should get a medal for showing up in court.

It's made all the more pitiful to viewers because he seems to have been to a law school and has had some practice in regular courtrooms but is thrown for a loss each week by Mr. Mason, who must have gained his law education in a correspondence school of no standing and practiced in courts where the judge never heard of the rules of evidence.

The case is always going against Mason, until he employs the hidden ball, the quarterback sneak, the two-platoon system and the Dippledorper Theory of Triumph by Sudden Accusation.

Hamilton Burger, the DA who has retained his amateur status by never winning, has had a clear case against somebody else and is the most surprised man in the court when he finds his office, the police department, the homicide squad and FBI had no idea. Give the DA a break, say we.

The Power Of Faith

By Howard Brodie

THE FAITH AMERICANS LIVE BY—1

They call him "The Hoodlum Priest" because of his interest in helping convicts to find the road back.

For 20 years the Rev. C. Dismas Clark, S.J., has been more at home in prisons across the nation than in any parish rectory. He speaks the language of prisoners, knows their problems, and has had thousands of men released in his care.

"I want anyone to phone me collect when they think of doing anything wrong," said this dedicated Jesuit to me. "I am not a do-gooder and never preach. I think like a doctor who hates cancer but not the patient. I don't like crime but I like the criminal. He's a fellow human being, one of God's people, and I know what a speck of understanding will do in a dark hour."

Father Clark changed his middle name to Dismas, after the Good Thief whose entry into Paradise symbolizes the hope of all convicts and Christ's love for them. In his small bedroom in St. Louis, Mo., hang two pictures of the Good Thief on the cross next to Christ, both painted by convicts.

Now Father Clark is forming "Halfway House," an organization to provide shelter, job possibilities and counseling for convicts of all faiths after their release from prison.

Free China Winning 'Recruits'

By Don Frifield

TAIPEI, Taiwan

The 10 million people of this island are trying to add 14 million new recruits to the "Free China" idea. They are doing it through a "frankly political" program of education.

The 14 million are the overseas Chinese living in Southeast Asia, most of whom settled there centuries ago but never abandoned their language, culture or their identification with the homeland.

Traditionally, the Chinese have been the keenest merchants and businessmen of Asia and their communities invariably have been prosperous and self-supporting. Today, the overseas Chinese comprise an elite force of commercial and administrative talent in the newly independent nations of Southeast Asia.

For the past several years, ever since the Communist conquest of the mainland in 1949, one of the big questions in Asia has been which way the overseas Chinese will go: If they cast their lot with Mao Tse-tung's regime, then Southeast Asia would be so weakened that the entire region might go Communist.

If their loyalties could be won by the Chiang Kai-shek government, however, the West would be assured of a sturdy barrier against further Communist inroads in Southeast Asia.

UNTIL 1955, Red China was winning the biggest victories — or so they seemed — in the battle for the minds of these 14 million overseas Chinese. Thousands of them, just as they had done for centuries, continued sending their sons to the mainland for a university education.

But tremendous disillusionment resulted. Most of the Chinese students from Southeast Asia found that their education was nothing more than political indoctrination. They were forced into labor battalions to dig canals, irrigate farmland and build factories. This was an "education" they had not asked for.

Since 1955 the battle picture has changed. Red China now has great difficulty in attracting overseas Chinese students to its universities, and thousands who already were attending have dropped out and returned home.

Today it is Nationalist China that is winning the "cold war in the classrooms." Some 7,000 overseas Chinese students now are enrolled in the high schools, colleges and universities of Taiwan.

They come from vritually every country in the Far East: 2,500 from Hong Kong and Macao, 1,200 from South Viet Nam, 900 from Indonesia, 800 from Singapore and Malaya, 450 from Korea, 400 from Thailand. The remaining 750 hail from points as far apart as Denmark, Peru, Madagascar, Cambodia, the United States and Muritius.

NEARLY TWO-THIRDS of the students — 4,600 of them — are attending colleges and universities, the remaining 2,400 attend high schools, vocational schools and military academies.

Sixteen of the colleges and universities in Taiwan receive support from a joint U.S.-Chinese educational program. The program has helped finance the construction of new classroom buildings, dormitories, libraries and athletic facilities, as well as the financing of scholarships and faculty salaries.

Even with this support, and taking into account the relatively low standard of living here, the rigors of student life are extreme. Students who require financial help receive from $1.50 to $4.50 per month from U.S. aid funds.

Full professors fare little better. They receive $29 a month plus "charcoal, kerosene and some rice," according to an American official. This is despite the fact that Taiwan's university professors represent the intellectual elite of China; hundreds of experts in all fields fled the mainland during and after the Communist conquest.

OFFICIALS COMPLAIN of two main headaches regarding their program. One is the opposition of the countries of Southeast Asia to strengthening the ties between the overseas Chinese and Taiwan. Most of these countries right now are trying to break down the cohesiveness of the local Chinese communities. Some are fearful of their prosperity and power.

Malaya, for example, won't permit Chinese to hold public office. Indonesia, favoring close ties with Peiping, has forbidden its Chinese residents to study in Taiwan. Viet Nam has tried to enforce Vietnamese citizenship on all Chinese residents — whether they want it or not.

The other headache — according to both Taiwanese and American officials — is the lukewarm attitude taken toward the education program by U.S. embassies in Southeast Asia. The U.S. diplomats allegedly are hesitant to antagonize the governments they are accredited to and they say that the program encourages a system of "hyphenated nationalities" in Asia.

Nevertheless, the program is going ahead, faster and with more enthusiasm than ever before. The Nationalist government believes strongly that the overseas Chinese, by becoming "better" Chinese through education, can become better, more respected residents in Malaya, Viet Nam and the rest of Southeast Asia.

Through The Years

THIRTY YEARS AGO — William J. Bamer, grand knight of Carroll Council 509, Knights of Columbus, addressed members of Carroll Circle 28, Columbiana Squires.

Pupils of Mrs. Edna Gilson, music instructor in the East End schools, presented a program at a meeting of the Garfield Parent-Teacher League.

TEN YEARS AGO — A spring freeze sent the mercury to 22 degrees here.

Improvements to the Carnegie Library basement were discussed at a meeting of the Board of Trustees.

A giant supermarket furnished by the United States will be a major attracton of the International Fair in Barcelona, Spain in June.

Treasure Chest

The prosaic lump of coal is a veritable treasure chest yielding a seemingly endless variety of products.

The Germans even made ersatz butter from coal during World War II. And a scientist predicted recently that synthetic food will become a major by - product of coal.

Other products derived in whole or part from coal include aspirin, phonograph records, laughing gas, the flavoring in most vanilla ice cream, perfume, embalming fluid, laxatives, synthetic vitamins, dyes, TNT, moth balls, indelible pencils, clay pigeons, paint, synthetic rubber, saccharin and fingernail polish.

This is just a sampling. There are believed to be more than 200,000 chemical by - products of bituminous coal. Relatively few, however, are marketed commercially.

The multitude of substances are part of the rich yield from coking ovens, which release the "buried sunshine" in coal. When coal is heated to high temperatures in the absence of air, the solid residue is carbon - rich coke, essential in producing steel.

The gases produced in the coking process are equally important. In recent years special plants have been built to distill and process chemicals from the gases. Coke is simply the by - product.

Strength Of Unity

By David Lawrence

NATO Marks 10 Years Of Effectiveness

In unity there is strength — and a dramatic example of it was noted in the tenth anniversary meeting here last week of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization's council.

David Lawrence

The speeches were significant of a common purpose. They were symbolic of a cause that offers the counsel of moral force but at the same time, in the background, displays a firm intention to use military force to resist aggression.

President Eisenhower's address gave warning that the Western world must "always avoid substituting illusions for reality" in dealing with East-West disputes. He pleaded for the "sacrifice needed to maintain and improve our collective strength over a long period of time." But he also pledged that "we shall always keep open the door of honest discussion — even to those whose creed is world domination."

MR. EISENHOWER said the West would "never cease to encourage" the "abandonment of the Communist purpose of world domination." He did not say how this could be accomplished but he was doubtless expressing the hope of the many believers in moral force that somehow in due time the truth will penetrate behind the Iron Curtain and the peoples there will themselves either change their rulers or cause them to abandon their aggressive purposes.

It was interesting to note throughout all the speeches a recognition of the gravity of the whole situation.

Christian Herter, the acting secretary of state of the United States, said that the threat of aggression is "no less dangerous" than it was when NATO was organized a decade ago. He pointed to the accomplishments of that period — the economic as well as military progress of the West. He said:

"If we are to meet the old challenge under new conditions, we must continue to remind ourselves that military strength, and the courage to employ that strength if required, were necessary to permit a decade of political and economic advancement and is the indispensable condition for further progress."

IT IS SIGNIFICANT to observe that some of the strongest warnings against apathy or appeasement came from the two top men in the NATO council itself.

Thus the president of the council, Joseph F. Luns, the able foreign minister of The Netherlands, appealed to the other Western representatives to avoid any feeling of defeatism. He said this has never been able to preserve peace. He added:

"We should not assume that our peoples are wholly immune against a state of mind to be described as weariness, if we wish to be kind or as defeatism, if we prepare to put it strongly.

"There have always been people questioning the value and vitality of our civilization. They are prophets of woe. . . . Some are honest men with noble hearts unable to face the idea of conflict and sincere in their pacifism. Some, on the other hand, are crypto-Communists or fellow travelers. But most of them are just frightened men, whose will and stamina are not strong enough to endure the continuous tensions of the cold war."

Another statesman of the West, Paul-Henri Spaak, council chairman and secretary - general of NATO, was also unequivocal in his statements. He said:

"Ten years ago, the North Atlantic Treaty gave practical expression to the union of 12 countries and to their common determination to resist any act of aggression.

"Today, this union and this determination appear to us so natural and so necessary, that we can no longer conceive for our peoples a free and peaceful existence without them. Yet we did not seek this union when the war ended. It was imposed on us by the dangerous, unacceptable policy followed by the Soviet Union."

MR. SPAAK pointed proudly to NATO's achievement in bringing within its framework West Germany and France in a system of joint defense.

He declared that, due to the political consciousness developed by NATO in western Europe, the "major accomplishment of reconciling France and Germany has proved possible."

But there was no specific mention of the overwhelming support of both parties in the United States Senate which, by a vote of 82 to 13, brought about on July 21, 1949, the ratification of the North Atlantic Treaty.

This pact is unlike any ever signed before by this country, for it commits the United States to defend instantly — without a declaration of war by Congress — any one of the 15 countries now in NATO which come under attack. This alone is a momentous development in an atomic age of common danger as a one-man dictatorship, like that which started World War II, again threatens world peace.

Cotton Corners

By Truman Twill

Dear Nephew: To tell the truth, I have nothing to write to you about this time. I am not sore at anybody or anthing. Nor am I enthusiastic about anybody or anything.

This is, I suppose, the state of most human beings most of the time. Most of us live on the borderline of boredom. We are in a mood to shut the cat's tail in the refrigerator door to break the monotony of sameness in our existence.

Whether we look at it from the start or the finish, it is "just another day."

We know what the routine is going to be.

We know what people we are likely to see and what they will say and what we will say.

We know what we are going to eat and what we are going to do. No matter how happily reconciled we may be to all this, it is life on the borderline of boredom.

If someone would suggest that we fly away to Outer Mongolia to have yak-milk curds for lunch and watch a camel race in the afternoon before returning to home base via atomic-powered submarine, we'd join the expedition without a murmur.

There is scarcely anything legitimate we wouldn't be willing to do to put some space between us and the borderline of boredom.

But the inescapable fact is that no one is going to invite us to go to Outer Mongolia. We are going to stay where we are. This is the state of no less than 9,999 out of 10,000 of us, and it has a considerable influence on our thinking.

We have heard about distant places and exotic experiences. We even see them in animation and television. But we are never going to be anything but distant spectators of the things that are "out of this world."

Whatever enjoyment is in store for us will have to be found in our own minds and habits. We are not going to travel anywhere or do anything out of the ordinary. The only scenery we are going to see is the vertical sides of the rut we travel in.

It is our lot to be provincial.

Moreover, we have been provincial so long that even if we escaped from it we wouldn't know how to be anything else, because you cannot teach an old hunting dog to be at home on a fancy leash among showoffs. We are stuck with what we are.

This may not be the way we thought it was going to be but this is the way it finally turns out for most of us. It may even turn out this way for the Duke and Duchess of Windsor, if you could know what they think about as they visit first here, then there, in plush spots on this continent, then that continent, then this island, then that island.

Their rut is fancier than mine, but it has sides on it too and it is running in the same direction.

But as I said at the beginning, I have nothing to write to you about this time. There are no issues.

Except I wonder what yak-milk curds would taste like. Maybe like cottage cheese, do you suppose? I would worry about whether they had been made under sanitary conditions. I always do when I eat outlandish dishes. It is one of the things that mark me as a hick from 'way back.

Your aunt says to tell you I can say that again. All right, "hick from 'way back." I said it and while I am not glad I said it, am not sorry.

Dedication Set In Spring

Volunteers From Church Complete Addition

Plans are going ahead for dedication of this addition to the Fredericktown Christian Church, completed by men of the congregation after 18 months work.

The L-shaped extension includes five classrooms, kitchen and two bathrooms and the church's first baptistry, which the pastor, Robert Dyke, is painting personally.

Lacking sufficient funds, the congregation was not able to undertake the project, so the men decided to go ahead on voluntary basis. With approval of the general board and congregation, a building committee was elected.

Bill Allen, chairman, who is also a building contractor, designed and prepared the plans for the addition. Others on the committee include Jay Lyons, John Craig, Emmett Ward and Charles Burgess. Ground was broken Oct. 25, 1957.

The church was also rewired, painted and a new furnace installed.

The classrooms, which will also be used for outside activities, will be divided by folding partitions.

The minister, who is also an artist, is painting the walls of the bapistry and may take about a year to complete.

Officers of the church are John Russell, John Craig and Frank Huston, elders; Jay Lyons, Donald Lipp, Charles Burgess, Bill Allen, Ralph Miller and Emmett Ward, deacons; Jay Lyons, Charles Burgess, John Craig, Bill Allen and James Craig, trustees; Mrs. Martha Burgess, treasurer; Mrs. Roberta Allen, clerk, and Miss Nell Toland, Sunday School superintendent.

The official dedication is being planned for spring when the lawn is graded and finished.

HUMANITY CALLING

By

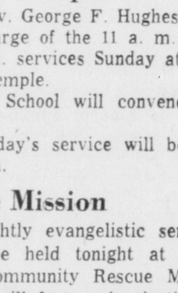
The Salvation Army



William Booth—Prophet of the Poor

General William Booth, Founder of The Salvation Army, was born in Nottingham, England, on April 10th, 1829. As a fiftteen-year old lad, he consecrated his life to God and Humanity, by affirming, "God shall have all there is of William Booth"! The results of that consecration are known around the world.

In the year 1865, William Booth, led by a divine compulsion and compassion for the unchurched, the erring, the bewildered and unfortunate, went out from home and salary, with a delicate wife and four children, and left behind almost every friend in order to preach the Gospel as he felt God had called him to do.

On Mile-End Waste, London, the first open-air meeting was held. Here, surrounded by outcasts, drunkards, the despised, the neglected, the poor, the hungry, The Salvation Army came into being.

Souls came to Christ in almost every service. Within a fortnight, William Booth felt his heart being strongly and strangely drawn out on behalf of a million people living within a mile of his preaching place. The heavenly vision overcame him, and he yielded himself to the life-long service of needy humanity. The development and romance of The Salvation Army which followed that single consecration is a miracle of the first order. It shows what can be accomplished for God and man by a people however humble in station, who are actuated by one single purpose; that purpose was the lifting and saving of the masses and the devotion of those thus helped to the services of their fellows.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Day	Book	Chapter	Verses
Sunday	Psalms	42	1-4
Monday	Psalms	55	14
Tuesday	Psalms	84	1-12
Wednesday	John	21	1-14
Thursday	John	21	15-25
Friday	I Corinthians	15	1-28
Saturday	Revelation	1	1-20

Mother's wearing her smart new hat, Susan's curls are brushed till they shine, and Dad's looking pretty sharp, himself, in that pale gray suit.

If the Browns look like a family starting out on a pleasure ride — well, that's exactly what they're about to do. They're going to church.

The Browns are regular churchgoers. But this is their secret. They go to church not only because they feel they should, but because they want to. Church, for them, is one of the most joyous occasions of the week.

No one ever said that going to church had to be a glum, long-faced affair. Going to church isn't a duty. It's a privilege.

Make church your destination this Sunday. And go joyfully.

12 Teams Remain To Vie For 34th Tri-State Cage Title

Scafide's, Bloor's Alex's, Joe's Win

By BOB DUFFY
Review Sports Editor

The field was cut to 12 teams in the 34th annual Tri-State Tournament after four more quints were sidelined Friday night at Memorial Auditorium.

Bloor's, Scafide's Alex's-American Billiards and Joe's All-Stars posted victories last night.

Scafide's and Bloor's proved the most formidable by romping to easy decisions. Scafide's trounced Thorofare, 82-48, while Bloor's coasted to a 72-41 victory over Newell News.

Alex's-American Billiards were pressed for a while before moving out to a final edge of 70-58. Joe's knocked Midway (Pa.) from the running with a 78-56 victory.

Gengarella's will take the court tonight in defense of its Tri-State title. The Midland entry has won the crown for the past two years and a victory this year would set a tourney record.

Gengarella's, featuring Duquesne and St. Francis stars, line up against Shelly Speed Queen of Canton in the 9:30 contest tonight.

It is one of four games tonight. In the opener, St. Paul Sports of Cleveland, with Gerald Wartield and Jim Stone of East Tech fame in the lineup, goes against Bloor's at 7:30.

Scafide's will be after its second win in the 8 o'clock tilt against the Wigwam Restaurant of London, Ohio.

The finale pits the Lee Stockton Collegians of Canton against the home town favorite, Chuck Kennedy's. This game is set for 10.

Denny Elliott's 19 points topped the Newell five.

Scafide's became the team to watch with the addition of two Pitt stars in Dave Sawyer, a regular for the Panthers this past season, and Wosnicki, who played there two years ago.

In addition to this pair, Scafide's have Joe Maddrey, who was high point man in the Junior Tourney last week.

Sawyer was the big scorer for Scafide's with 22 points while Maddrey was close behind with 20.

Dennis Adkins scored 15 points and Jan Allen contributed to the Thorofare attack.

Jim Tucker, the former star at Duquesne University, pushed through 29 points to advance the Alex's Carry-Out-American Billiards entry.

O'Toole, former West Virginia Wesleyan star, followed Tucker in the scoring with 21 points.

The sparse crowd that attended Friday night's session saw a familiar face in Jim Harris, the former Potter great, who performed with the Alex's-American Billiards entry.

Jim Jenkins again sparked Local 5047 with 19 points for the evening.

Joe's All-Stars, of Akron, a team that looks like a sure thing to make the semi-final round, started slow last night but finished strong to oust Midway.

A former Louisville standout, Jerry Doupont, scored 25 points to lead Joe's. Prior to playing here last night, Joe's gained the finals of the United Boosters tournament and will be shooting for that title tonight.

After tonight's games, eight teams will mark time until Thursday night when action resumes. Finals are set next Friday.

Chester's Brookes Named To Class AA First Team

BLUEFIELD (AP) — Although state championsip teams grabbed the major share of the laurels, it was Princeton's Rod Thorn who dominated the 23rd annual official All-State High School Basketball selections announced today.

Bonus Rule May Rob Indians Of Rookie Star

SALT LAKE CITY (AP)—A new bonus rule may keep rookie sensation Gene Leek from playing with the Cleveland Indians this season.

Leek quit the University of Arizona baseball team to sign a contract with San Diego, the Tribe's farm club in the Pacific Coast League. He received a reported $35,000 bonus.

Joe Gordon, Indians' manager, said a new bonus rule is worded so that a player who is signed to a minor league contract may not be moved up until the end of his first season.

"We'll have to get a ruling from the commissioner," Gordon said. He referred to baseball commissioner Ford Frick.

"I can't believe that a player would be denied advancement to the majors," Gordon said.

Leek, a third baseman, has been impressive in spring training. And the Indians are in desperate need of a third baseman.

He hit three singles Friday as the Indians dropped a 6-4 decision to the San Francisco Giants at Phoenix. All were grounders that bounced over the mound just above the reach of Jack Sanford, who went the distance for the National Leaguers.

Rocky Colavito hit his eighth homer of the spring to win the Arizona home run championship. He had been tied with Andre Rodgers, San Francisco Shortstop.

Eddie Bressound, Orlando Cepeda and Leon Wagner hit homers for the Giants. All of them came off Cal McLish, who yielded six runs in three innings.

Southpaw Don Ferrarese blanked the Giants in the last five innings. He also hurled five scoreless innings his last time on the mound.

Colavito's homer in the first inning gave the Indians a 2-0 lead. Scoring ahead of him was Minnie Minoso, who had bounced a single to center field.

The Indians scored two more runs on four singles and a sacrifice fly in the second frame, but Sanford blanked them after that.

The only hits off Ferrarese were a triple by Cepeda, who was thrown out trying to stretch it into a home run, and a single by Jackie Brandt.

Celts, Lakers Launch Finals

BOSTON (AP) — Boston pitted its high-powered offense against the deliberate style of the surprising Minneapolis Lakers today in the opener of the National Basketball Assn. championship playoff series.

The first of the best-of-seven competition was scheduled to start at 3 p.m. EST at Boston Garden with a national television audience (NBC) included.

Among the featured individuals were the stars of the semi-final series—Frank Ramsey, firebrand of the Celtics bench, and NBA Rookie-of-the-Year Elgin Baylor of the Lakers.

Ramsey led Boston scorers as the ace relief specialist who continually came in to lift the Celts in their seven-game triumph over Syracuse.

Baylor poured in 170 points—a 28.3 average—in the startling Minneapolis six-game triumph over defending world champion St. Louis.

During the season, Boston topped all NBA offenses with a 116.4 points per game average. Minneapolis averaged 106 but held the combined opposition to fewer points than did Boston.

The series continues Sunday afternoon here before the teams move to Minneapolis for Tuesday and Thursday dates.

Local Track Expands Facilities

Waterford Park Arranges Closed Circuit Television

Rapidly expanding facilities to match those of the finest tracks in the East, Waterford Park will initiate closed circuit television broadcasts of the daily racing program for this summer's meet.

Harry R. Bell, resident manager of the mile oval in Hancock County near Newell, said Friday that plans are now underway to incorporate closed circuit television for both grandstand and clubhouse patrons.

When Waterford will actually begin summer racing is in itself another question, however.

Reports from Charleston seem to indicate that Waterford — considered the only race track in the nation with an "airfield" in its infield — may be alloted racing dates from June 17 through Sept. 7 and another period in the fall from Oct. 14 through Nov. 14.

West Virginia State Racing Commission officials and representatives of the track met Friday afternoon at 3 in Charleston to iron out difficulties stemming over conflicting racing dates with Wheeling Downs. The commission indicated it would rule shortly on the Waterford application.

Waterford was allocated dates of April 11-May 30, July 29-Sept. 7, and Nov. 4-Nov. 28 but asked reconsideration of the late fall meeting because it is not equipped for cold weather operations.

Meanwhile the commission granted Wheeling Downs a license to conduct a night meeting April 25 through June 13. An additional license was granted for an Aug. 10-Oct. 10 night meeting.

Bell said that Waterford "will definitely not open before June 15," but added that "June 17 may possibly be granted for opening day."

Whatever the decision, park employes are continuing to add improvements for the anticipated summer racing program.

Besides the closed circuit television facilities, construction of a new stable restaurant is underway, along with a new maintenance department.

Bell said that the $6,000 TV plan includes scattering 12 specially placed monitors (sets) throughout the dining rooms, restaurants and clubhouse and grandstand areas so that fans may actually watch the race without leaving their dinner tables.

TV cameras would be placed on the roof of the huge grandstand.

Other major tracks with closed circuit television facilities — a real boon to fans in cold weather — are located at Bowie and Pimlico in the east and Tropical and Gulfstream parks in the south.

The new stable restaurant will house $22,000 in equipment, "similar to that of the Golden Star Dairyland restaurant in East Liverpool," Bell said. Cafeteria style service for the employes will be in effect, he said.

Ground has been broken for a new maintenance building, being constructed by the Boyd Lumber Co. of East Liverpool. When completed, the 50x144 cement block structure will house electrical, welding and carpentry shops, and provide storage space for maintenance equipment such as tractors and graders.

Waterford employes also will enter the track by a new road for the summer meet, relieving the necessity of gate employes to check every car for stickers issued to track personel, Bell explained. Mutuel window employes also will use the new road to be located north of the present entrance. It will swing through the barn area and eliminate traffic on the park's main thoroughfares, he said.

Other improvements contemplated include additional terrace seating for clubhouse fans under a covered roof in case of inclement weather, and additional parking space for some 300 cars on the grandstand side of the park.

Bell, well aware of the heavy toll of winter weather on the park's grassy areas, said 2,366 pounds of grass seed will be planted soon on the turf course, infield and all property adjoining the track's property along Route 66. The paddock area also is to be reseeded, he said.

Most of the grassy areas already have been applied with lime and fertilizer, the manager said.

Bell came to Waterford 13 months ago from Wheeling Downs. He served at Wheeling as racing secretary for four of the 11 years he was there.

Horace Wade, Waterford's managing director, is expected to visit the track in mid-May. He is presently at Gulfstream Park in Florida.

It was rumored during the winter months that Waterford was to open April 11, resulting in numerous phone calls daily from interested fans and horse owners.

One Arkansas horse owner called recently from Cincinnati where he had been three days and was on his way to Waterford, Bell said. The man angrily said he had heard a rumor that Waterford would not open April 11 and asked instructions. "I simply told him that we won't open then," Bell said.

Tiger Manager Moans Over Lack Of Long Ball

By ED CORRIGAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

If anything in this big, wide world can make Bill Norman livid, it is the sight of some fellow major league manager pointing toward his Detroit Tigers and expounding:

"There's the team that might beat the Yanks for the American League pennant."

Norman is quick to point out that in his six years' in the Tiger organization, the club has been in the first division only once.

He adds with Plato-like logic you've got to get in the first division before you can think of overtaking the Yanks.

Why, only last year, the managers' union decided that the Tigers would make a battle of it with the Yanks. They even had Jack Tighe believing it. Tighe was relieved in midstream and Norman installed as Bengal field leader, but they wound up fifth.

Now there are whispers going around the league again that the Tigers might do it and Norman would like them to stop, but quick.

He will admit that on paper he has a pretty good ball club but that he lacks one mighty important element — the long ball.

Friday, for instance, the Tigers crumbled the Cincinnati Reds, 10-5, in Tampa. The Tigers bashed out 17 hits, but only one of them was a home run. Rocky Bridges, acquired from Washington during the winter, connected. Cincinnati, on the other hand, had two homers. Gerry Lynch had one and Frank Thomas another.

In other games, the Pittsburgh Pirates downed the Kansas City A's, 6-1, in West Palm Beach; the New York Yankees shut out the Los Angeles Dodgers, 1-0, in Sarasota; the San Francisco Giants edged the Cleveland Indians, 6-4, St. Louis defeated the Chicago White Sox, 2-1, Milwaukee nipped Washington 4-3 in 13 innings in Orlando, and the Philadelphia Phillies vanquished the Baltimore Orioles, 7-2, under the Miami lights.

The brash, young Pirates got rid of George Brunet in two innings and rolled up a 13 hits in whipping the A's.

Rookie John Gabler and Zack Monroe combined to whitewash the Dodgers for the Yanks. Gil McDougald accounted for the only run of the game when he homered in the second.

Wes Covington ended the long deadlock in the Milwaukee-Washington game when he hit a homer in the 13th.

Jim Owens and Jack Meyer had an easy time in the Miami nightcer. The Phillies provided them with 12 hits, including homers by Harry Anderson and Carl Sawatski.

Wade's other ABC outings were slightly more respectable—566 in the team event and 538 in the doubles.

Defending Champion Leads In Masters Golf

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — Arnold Palmer is a young man who has no fear of black cats or the superstition that "Masters golf champions never repeat."

"Of course, I'm conscious of this tradition — they don't let me forget it," says the Ligonier, Pa., pro. "But I don't let it concern me. I'm just concentrating on winning the tournament."

The defending titleholder was halfway there today with a 36-hole score of 141, one of two cards under Augusta National's par.

The first day pace-setter, Stan Leonard of Canada, fell back to second place with 143 and the rest of the field looked like a New York subway rush. Fifteen players were bunched at 144 and 145. Par is 72.

Three players, including British Open champion Peter Thomson, were at 146.

The qualifying point for the final 36 holes was 149, and there were some distinguished misses. Ken Venturi, pretourney favorite, had 151. Three-time winner Jimmy Demarket had 162. Lloyd Mangrum (151) and ex-champion Claude Harmon (151) were other casualties.

Palmer who looks like a lightheavyweight fighter, shot to the front by adding a two-under-par 70 to a previous 71.

Palmer, son of a Latrobe, Pa., pro, was 1954 amateur champion. He has won a dozen tournaments. Last year his official earnings amounted to $42,607.

Behind Leonard at 144 were Thomas, the big Welshman, and Angel Miguel, the surprising spaniard.

Scott TKO's Logart In 3rd

WASHINGTON (AP) — Within less than three weeks Charley Scott has proved himself an audacious young fellow with a total lack of respect for his boxing elders.

If there was any question before, Scott erased it Friday night by punching Isaac Logart groggy and whipping the veteran from Cuba on a third-round technical knockout.

Scott, 22, a Philadelphian won a disputed split decision over Logart in New York on March 16.

But Friday night's TV fight audience saw Scott end the controversy at 1:14 in the third in what was scheduled to be a 10-rounder at Capitol Arena.

Charley caught Logart against the ropes with a jarring right and then a sweeping left hook to the jaw that floored Logart, 25. Isaac pulled himself up at the count of six, waited the mandatory toll of eight and then tried to recoup.

Scott rushed in, however, and reeled Isaac through the ropes with a two-fisted bombardment. Logart was practically helpless when Referee Marty Gallagher stopped the fight.

Thus Scott, known to few except friends and kinfolk a month ago, is now assured of more and better paydays. Manager Norman Henry hopes to match Charley soon with a welter in the class of Gaspar Ortega and to get him into title contention next year.

Logart, despite the previous decision, was an 8-5 favorite while absorbing his 12th defeat against 55 victories and 7 draws.

Scott has now won 21 — 12 by kayo—and lost nine.

Orioles' Pitching, Defense Strong But Hitting's Weak

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — The best thing the Baltimore Orioles have going is their spacious ball park, where the home run is more of a wish than a fact.

Cagey Paul Richards has built a team that is ideally suited for Memorial Stadium. The Orioles are rich in pitching, tight in defense but poor in punch.

The Orioles made the fewest hits and scored the fewest runs in the American League last year but their pitchers allowed the fewest home runs, 106.

Except for Gus Triandos, who tied a league record for catchers by hitting 30 home runs last year; and Bob Nieman and Gene Woodling, who hit 16 and 15 homers respectively, Baltimore is a team of singles hitters.

Willie Tasby, the Louisville graduate who has sewed up the center field job, may add some much needed punch. The American Assn.'s rookie of the year for 1958 smashed 22 home runs and drove in 95 runs on a .322 batting average.

Richards also hopes to get some hitting help from Chico Carrasquel and Billy Klaus, infielders who came via trades from other clubs.

"We think we're a little better," said Richards. "We're trying a little punch. There's no doubt Tasby can do the job defensively. He looks like he'll hit."

The Orioles finished sixth last year, 17½ games off the pace. Does Richards think they can finish higher?

"Possibly," he replied. "Generally we feel we're a little better. We're stronger in pitching and defense. We're desperate for hitting."

Pitching is what keeps Richards from talking to himself. Paul has a solid young Big Four comprised of right-handers Arnold Portocarrero (15-11) and Milt Pappas (10-10) and left-handers Billy O'Dell (14-11) and Jack Harshaman (12-15).

This quartet will be supported by Hector Brown (7-5) and Hoyt (no-hit) Wilhelm (3-10) as spot starters. George Zuverink (2-2) leads the bullpen staff.

The outfield, with Al Pilarcik (.243), Tasby, and Woodling (.276) and Nieman (.325) alternating in left, is set. The infield will be, too, when Brooks Robinson soon returns from the Army to take over at third base.

Bob Boyd (.309) and Whitey Lockman, the ex-Giant (.238), will handle first base; Billy Gardner (.225) is set at second and Carrasquel (.234) will open at shortstop.

NHL Finals Berths Eyed

By The Associated Press

The Montreal Canadiens and the Toronto Maple Leafs can wrap up the Stanley Cup hockey semifinal series tonight.

The Canadiens, easy winner of the NHL and shooting for an unprecedented fourth straight Stanley Cup, play on the road against the Chicago Black Hawks. The Leafs, the Cinderella team of the playoffs, entertain the Boston Bruins at home.

Since they lead 3-2 in the best-of-7 semifinals, all the Canadiens and the Leafs need to make it an all-Canada cup final is win tonight.

This is easier said than done.

The Boston team wasn't giving an inch after losing three in a row to the underdog Leafs who just made the playoffs on the last night of the regular season.

"Maybe the Leafs will find out they're not the only ones who can fight back," said Boston Coach Milt Schmidt.

"The Bruins aren't going to quit," said Toronto Coach Punch Imlach. "We'll have our troubles, but I think we'll win."

As for the Black Hawks, back on home ice where they beat the Canadiens twice, Chicago Coach Rudy Pilous vows "this time there won't be any traffic jams."

This was a reference to Thursday's defeat in Montreal where the Hawks' bus was late in arriving for the game.

"We never got out the kinks and they killed us in the first 10 minutes," Pilous said.

Reds In U.S. Told To Wear 'New Look'

WASHINGTON (AP)—House investigators report that U.S. Communists have been ordered "to wear a new look." The objective: to win friends and influence people.

In its latest report on Communist activities, the House Committee on Un-American Activities said Thursday:

"To a degree unmatched in party history, Communists are now promoting themselves as loyal to the United States, peace-loving and humanitarian in purpose, and anxious to work in harmony with Socialists, liberals, and even capitalists for the good of the nation."

Under the remodeled tactics, the committee said, the Communists' main emphasis now is on a program of direct action to infiltrate legitimate community affairs. By and large, the investigators said, the role of the indirect Communist front organization has been abandoned.

Other changes in tactics, the report said, involve an invigorated campaign to attract youth into the party and to re-establish a welcome for Communists within organized labor.

The committee's 120-page report was described by Chairman Francis E. Walter (D-Pa.) as the result of a two-year investigation of communism in Southern California.

This area, the committee said, is the special target of new Communist efforts and is second only to New York as the largest concentration of Communist strength in the United States.

Power Workers To Vote Sunday On Pact Accord

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Electrical workers vote Sunday on whether to ratify a contract agreement which would end the month-long strike against Columbus & Southern Ohio Electric Co.

The agreement was reached between union and management negotiators late Friday night after an all-day session.

Federal Mediator H. J. Montoney, who sat in on the talks, said terms of the agreement will not be announced until after the workers vote on it.

About 1,300 members of Locals 1466 and 832, International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, have been striking against the utility since midnight, Feb. 28, when their old contracts expired.

The company has been using supervisory personnel to keep power flowing to customers in 23 central and southern Ohio counties.

Mayor At Wellsville Lifts Ban On Dances

Mayor William J. Shoub of Wellsville announced today the ban has been lifted on record hop dances held at the Post Office building. The dances were ordered discontinued three weeks ago after police broke up a proposed gang fight outside the building.

A dance will be held tonight by Ralph Fusco of Wellsville and Sidney Grubbs of Weirton, a disc jockey known as Mr. D, will resume his weekly Wednesday night dances next week, Shoub said.

At the time of the "rumble" authorities said the trouble seemed to be on Wednesday nights.

Several youths taken into custody following the event appeared before Juvenile Judge Louis Tobin at Lisbon. They were given a lecture and some were ordered to obey a curfew. The driver licenses of others were suspended.

Wellsville Kiwanians To Hear Oil Engineer

Ted Mengel, industrial lubrication engineer for the Wallover Oil Co. of East Liverpool, will be guest speaker at a meeting of the Wellsville Kiwanis Club Tuesday at 6:30 p. m. at the Piatt Tea Room.

Mengel will discuss his aircraft carrier duty in England and Scotland and screen slides. Richard Rowe is program chairman.

Atty. and Mrs. Delmar T. O'Hara and Mr. and Mrs. Rowe will attend a dinner meeting at the Weirton club Friday when Kenneth Loheed, international president, will be guest speaker. The dinner will be at the Weirton Community Center.

Toledoan Given Highway Patrol's Highest Award

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—A 28-year-old Toledo native who has been a member of the State Highway Patrol less than three years was presented the patrol's highest award here Friday.

For his courage in the capture of an escaped federal prisoner last June, Patrolman LeRoy J. Verbon won the annual O. W. Merrell Award. Merrell, who was state director of highways when the Highway Patrol was formed 25 years ago, made the presentation of the inscribed .38 caliber target pistol.

Verbon, stationed at the Montpelier post, was cited for his capture of Darl E. Parker of Canton whom Verbon wounded in an exchange of gunfire at Hicksville. Parker had escaped from a Fort Wayne, Ind., jail.

Verbon is married and has two daughters. He previously served at the Defiance post.

Lady Rat Due For Tests On Breast Cancer

EXCELSIOR SPRINGS, Mo., (AP)—A lady rat is being recruited to help find new clues to human breast cancer.

The rat can be given in just 60 days a kind of breast cancer similar to the human variety. It can be speeded up or slowed down by hormones.

Doctors have had to learn most of what they know about breast cancer from the bedside, Dr. Charles Huggins of the University of Chicago told this week's American Cancer Society seminar.

Now they have a convenient laboratory animal, the Sprague-Dawley rat.

A quicker method has been developed to give the rat breast cancer in 30 or 60 days, whereas it used to take months to years.

A remarkable 40 per cent of the rat breast cancers can be influenced by hormones—a percentage which is about the same for human breast cancers.

Dr. Huggins said there are some 2,000 hormone compounds that might have an effect on breast cancer but have never been tried.

Three Teenagers Killed, 4th Hurt As Car Hits Truck

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Three teenagers were killed and a fourth injured Friday night when their car crashed into the side of an empty cattle truck about 17 miles northwest of here, the State Highway Patrol reported.

The car, carrying two boys and two girls, failed to halt at a stop sign on Ohio 161, the patrol said, and smashed into the semi-tractor trailer traveling north on U. S. 33.

Killed in the Union County collision, just over the Franklin County line, were John Murphy, 17, of Upper Arlington; Jane Malecki, 16, of Columbus, and Rita Olsen, 17, of Columbus.

The only survivor in the car was its driver, Michael Tweed, 17, also of suburban Upper Arlington. He suffered multiple lacerations, abrasions and a concussion and was admitted to University Hospital here where his condition was reported good.

The truck driver, William R. Coil, 31, of Jamestown, Ohio, was treated for a bumped head but wasn't hospitalized.

Spinoza said: "The virtue of a free man is seen to be as great in avoiding danger as in overcoming it."

3 Hearings Set On Road Building

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Highway Department has scheduled three public hearings on proposed road construction.

One will be held April 16 in Urbana to discuss plans for eliminating several hazardous curves on Ohio 290 in Champaign County. The project would cost $211,000.

Another will be held in Logan April 15 to explain proposals to eliminate three sections of hazardous curves on Ohio 664 in Hocking County. It would cost nearly $400,000.

The third hearing will be April 16 in Chardon, to discuss a 1½-mile relocation of U.S. 422 in Geauga County at a cost of 1½ million dollars.

Director Everett S. Preston has approved a new location for a half-mile stretch of the Cincinnati-Dayton Expressway northeast of West Carrollton in Montgomery County.

The route calls for extending the expressway northward from Alexanderville-Bellbrook road to existing U.S. 25 at South Moraine Boulevard. From this intersection it follows the existing route to Springboro Pike. It will cost about 2½ million dollars.

Preston also has approved elimination of two railroad grade crossings on U.S. 52 in Portsmouth. The tracks of the Norfolk and Western Railway cross Eleventh and Twelfth streets. The railroad waived a public hearing on the improvement.

The lectures, which were arranged through the efforts of the burgess, will include 10 sessions to be held at the Borough Building.

Sgt. John A. Krzton of the Rochester Barracks of the Pennsylvania State Police will be the instructor.

11 Whooping Cranes Fly To Nesting Area

CORPUS CHRISTI, Tex. (AP)—At least 11 giant whooping cranes flew north today toward their summer nesting grounds in Northwest Territory, Canada.

An aerial check Friday showed 11 of the 32 rare whoopers which wintered at Aransas National Wildlife Refuge north of here had departed.

The big birds, the last flock in existence, normally start north about April 4, refuge manager Claude Lard said.
